RUSSIA BOASTS GODLESS REIGN IN DEFYING POPE

Openly Denounces Catholic Church.

(Copyright, 1930, By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Feb. 18.—"We publicly outlaw all those sins of which Cardinal Faulhaber accuses us," declares the official Isvestia weekly survey of foreign affairs. "We entirely recognize our guilt. Workers of the U. S. S. R. see only attempt to build, but, in fact, have already really built their state without God, and a government without any of God's laws."

The Leningrad committee of the Militant Godless league has voted this resolution:

"Well, Meanderus churchmen, lords and bourgeois, we take note of your boasting, finding in your evil words confirmation of our work. We gladly oppose the pope's appeal and the resolution of the English priests, dictated to them by international capital as an expression of class solidarity with the kulaks and nepmen.

"Forward Godless Comrades!"

"You can damn us much as you like in black letters. The day is coming when the world's Godless workers will turn your Vatican into a museum where that scarecrow, the pope of Rome, will be stuffed and placed side by side with a Shaman [primitive medicine man] from Siberia as a monument to thousands of years of error and trickery of priests.

"Forward Godless comrades. Under the communist party and soviet régime we move forward in ordered ranks to further tasks."

Sergius Again Attacks Pope.

Metropolitan Sergius, acting patriarch of the Russian orthodox church, today reiterated his attack on Pope Pius' recent encyclical against "persecutions of Christians in Russia" to American and other foreign newspaper correspondents. He answered six general queries in six typed pages, which he left in the shabby wooden headquarters known as the "Holy Synod." The metropolitan refused to answer any verbal questions.

In antique fashion he denied priests and the pious laity were persecuted.

Protest Movement Grows.

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—The movement of protest against the religious persecutions in soviet Russia continued to gain momentum today with three important developments.

The American committee on religious rights and minorities, headed by Arthur J. Brown, president of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, released a letter to President Hoover, protesting against the denial of "the right of religious freedom" in soviet Russia and "persecutions that have shocked the moral sense of the civilized world." The letter petitioned him, the department of state, and the foreign affairs committee of the senate to refuse to recognize the soviet government until religious persecutions cease.

The continuation committee of the Lausanne world convention, through its convention president, Dr. John A. Mountford, addressed cablegrams to the heads of Lutheran churches in all parts of the world calling upon 81,000,000 Lutherans to make March 2 a day of prayer and protest against the soviet government's persecutions of religion.

Jewry Denounce Repressions.

The national Lutheran council, acting for more than 4,000,000 American Lutherans, also made public expressions of protest.

The American Jewish congress, headed by Bernard Deutch and of which Rabbi Stephen S. Wise is honorary president, issued a statement declaring "the unspeakable repression of religion and religious worship in soviet Russia and pledging cooperation of American Jewry with all other bodies in the efforts to put an end to the "grievous wrongs."

"TO ARMS!"—RUSSIA

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 18.—Converts of Russia abroad must convert their religious patriotism into patriotism for the soviet government, mother country of world proletariat, according to the official Isvestia, which reveals that Moscow is taking energetic steps to organize foreign fighting detachments which must defend Russia against future attacks.

The plans, according to the Isvestia, are finding the most critical period in the soviet's relations with capitalistic nations. The wave of indignation from leaders of Christian religious sects, and attacks by the foreign press, in-

THE PROUD BEGGAR AT OUR DOOR

Error Upsets Legion's Rites for 2 Veterans

In two country towns, 600 miles apart, the residents gathered yesterday to witness the solemn spectacle of a military funeral. In each case a native son, who had marched away to war in 1917 and had succumbed to battle wounds after eleven years, was coming home for burial.

In Murphysboro, Ill., members of the American Legion straightened to attention at the railway station as the flag draped casket of their comrade, William E. Wagner, 40 years old, was lifted off the train. In Ulrichsville, O., the same spectacle was enacted as the body of John W. Phillips arrived.

Die on Same Day.

Legionnaire Wagner had left Murphysboro thirteen months ago to seek treatment for old wounds at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital in Maywood. Legionaire Phillips had been at the hospital two months before Legionaire Wagner arrived. They died within a few hours of each other on Monday.

In Murphysboro, the Legionaires tramped to the beat of muffled drums as they bore their comrade to a funeral chapel. In Ulrichsville the cortége moved from the train to the Phillips home where neighbors had gathered to console the widow and her three small children.

In a Murphysboro chapel, Mrs. Wagner lifted her mourning veil to gaze for the last time at the face of her husband. In the Ohio home, Mrs. Phillips lifted her youngest son, Elmer, 3 years old, to view the face of his father, whom he scarcely remembered.

Both widows fainted on looking into the opened caskets. Each had gazed upon the face of a stranger.

Error is Disclosed.

The services were thrown into confusion. When quiet was restored each widow became hopeful that her mourning was unnecessary and telegrams were dispatched to the Hines hospital.

Hospital authorities verified the death notifications sent earlier. It was subsequently learned that the bodies had been sent from Maywood to C. Kampp & Son, undertakers at 318 North Central avenue, where an error had been made in shipment of the caskets.

Police Hunt Two Missing Girls, 8 and 4 Years Old

Two small girls, missing from their homes for many hours, were being sought by West Chicago avenue police last night. The girls are Jeanette Sikko, 4 years old, 939 Will street, and Virginia Mack, 8 years old, 1830 Chicago avenue.

JAIL 3 PASTORS WHEN BIG LIQUOR STILL IS SEIZED

El Dorado, Ark., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Four men, two whites and two Negroes, and three of them ministers, were arrested today in a raid in which officers said the most complete distilling plant ever seen in this county was confiscated.

The Rev. Ed Farley and the Rev. Albert Bogg, both of whom officers said were ministers of the Holiness faith, and the Rev. Roy Dennis, Negro Baptist, were charged with operating a still.

Dennis, officers said, after being put in a cell began to exhort the other prisoners to righteousness.

The still was in a ravine 12 miles north of El Dorado and was flanked on either side by vats containing approximately 1,000 gallons of mash, officers claim.

Owner Seized After Blast and Fire in Restaurant

Fire, following a muffled explosion, inflicted $500 damage in a restaurant on the ground floor at 4712 Diversey avenue early this morning and routed 15 persons from apartments on the second and third floors. Cragin police took in custody Jack Diamond, proprietor of the restaurant, at the suggestion of firemen, who reported they found two gasoline cans, one full and the other empty, in the restaurant kitchen. Diamond said he was asleep in his apartment upstairs when the fire started.

Trap Favorite Bootlegger of Senate Again

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Members of the United States senate and their secretarial aides who like their little drink now and then tonight were in a state of irritation, not to say dejection.

"The Man in the Green Hat" is again in the toils of the Washington police. On and around Capitol hill the appellation "Man in the Green Hat" needs no explanation. Neither is his arrest a surprising event. But, for the benefit of outsiders, it should be explained that the "Man in the Green Hat" is George L. Cassidy, 36, and alleged to be the favorite bootlegger to America's thirsty lawmakers. Several years ago he gained his title when a "man in a green hat" dropped a brief case full of liquor in the capitol lobby.

Now Under Indictment.

Just now Cassidy is under indictment in the district Supreme court, which was returned Dec. 17, when the police said they caught him peddling liquor into the senate office building.

Unfortunately for George, he is a marked man and the police keep an eye on him and on the senate office building. So it happened that today, when he was noticed maneuvering around his favorite field of operations, they nabbed him again. He was picked up with a friend, Thomas Gately of Baltimore, just outside the building. He was charged with possession of six pints of gin.

Charges It Frame Up.

"I am a victim of a frameup," George announced when they booked him at the First District police station. But, nevertheless, he and Gately were formally arraigned. Their bond was set at $2,000.

Hence, it came about that the thirsty senators, who see no harm in a bottle kept on hand for themselves and liberal minded callers, once more are downhearted. Some of them, in fact, were reported to have made cloakroom observations that if the Washington police are going to continue to be so efficient it will be necessary to cast about for a new purveyor of stimulants.

Hub of New York Social World Moves Slightly

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—The social center of New York City, according to statistics issued today by the Social Register association, has moved only one-quarter of a block during the last two years. The focal point in the zone largely occupied by families of social prominence still remains in East 70th street.

CITIZENS URGED TO PAY MILLIONS IN REVENUE NOW

Try Relief Plan in Revenue Crisis.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Fifty of Chicago's largest taxpayers will be asked this afternoon to help the city, county, school board and sanitary district in their financial distress. They have been invited to a meeting at four o'clock in the Mid-Day club by Silas H. Strawn, Robert F. Carr, Lewis E. Myers and Ernest R. Graham.

These four arrived at a tentative scheme for raising a large amount of cash to permit the local governments to operate until July 1. These local bodies have asked for $74,000,000. It will be decided this afternoon whether an effort will be made to collect that entire sum, or if not, what part of it.

The guests at the meeting will represent, it is said, 50 per cent of the taxes paid in Chicago. If they agree to put up half of the $74,000,000, then others will be urged to contribute the other $37,000,000. But if the taxpayers meeting this afternoon agree to advance only four-fifths of $37,000,000, then the total emergency fund to be raised will be whittled to $59,200,000. The ultimate goal reached may be even smaller.

Disregard Caldwell Report.

The announcement of H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the board of education, that he can sell $48,000,000 of school tax anticipation warrants in New York, if certain local bankers will approve the transaction, did not cause the Strawn committee and Mr. Myers, who is a school trustee, to curtail their efforts for local relief. Mr. Caldwell is to be back in Chicago today. He declined in New York to name his prospective buyers or the Chicago bankers whose approval is needed for the school tax loan.

It was pointed out that Caldwell's statement leaves the school loan situation apparently unchanged, because the approval of Chicago bankers has been regarded as the chief prerequisite to the sale of tax warrants ever since the local revenue crisis became acute.

The teachers and other employés of the school board have not been paid since the day before Christmas.

Organizations to Help.

If the plan submitted at the meeting this afternoon is approved by the large taxpayers, then financial relief efforts will be directed through the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the Chicago and Cook County real estate boards, the railroads, public utilities, banks, retailers, building managers' association, and similar business organizations. The proponents of the plan are hopeful of its acceptance. It calls for the purchase of tax anticipation warrants with the money set aside by property owners for the payment of taxes in the last two years.

The manufacturers' association directors sent a letter to the Strawn committee last night announcing their willingness to help in the financial emergency. They stated it was their "conclusion that the prompt reëstablishment of the credit of our local governments, and particularly the securing of such funds as are necessary to finance the legitimate and immediate needs of such bodies is of vital importance not only to the 2,000 members of the state manufacturers' association in this district, but to the entire state of Illinois."

Committee Is Named.

The directors appointed a committee composed of Samuel M. Hastings of the Dayton Scale company, William Nelson Pelouze of the Pelouze Manufacturing company, James D. Cunningham of the Republic Flow Meters company and Paul Schulze of the Schulze Biscuit company. This committee in a letter to the Strawn group said they have been impressed with the diligent and constructive efforts of your joint committee, and we pledge our support and coöperation in the prompt adjustment of the important problems with which you are concerned."

Acting President Emmett Wheelan of the county board said yesterday that county employés will not be forced today to accept tax warrrants in lieu of cash salaries. The order of the board to use tax warrants as pay will be suspended until the outcome of the Strawn committee effort is known definitely.

The city completed the payment of

A sallow, unshaven man with a fresh wound on his left cheek was being sought last night as a suspect in the murder of Mrs. Agnes Lavander, 35 years old, whose body was found yesterday morning in a ditch about 800 feet north of the Forest Glen station of the Milwaukee railroad. Mrs. Lavander had been shot in the head some time after 7 p. m. Monday, when she missed a train at the Forest Glen station.

The sallow man, who was about 5 feet 10 inches tall, appeared at the Jefferson Park station of the North Western railroad, about a mile from the scene of the murder, at 7:45 o'clock last night, and asked the agent, Harry N. Abitz, 4925 Cuyler street, if he could get an outgoing train immediately.

"I've got to get out of here right now," he said, pulling up the collar of a torn blue overcoat in an obvious effort to hide the scratch on his face. "If you haven't any passenger trains, is there a freight?"

When told there would be no train for more than an hour and advised to try to get a Milwaukee road train, the man said: "No, I can't go over there—I can't wait."

One Suspect Held.

Abitz called the police immediately after the man left, and Acting Chief of Detectives Egan notified police throughout Chicago and nearby suburbs to be on the lookout. Egan said he believed it was likely the man sought was the murderer of Mrs. Lavander, and at the same time announced that the only suspect captured virtually had convinced the police that he is not the slayer, although he is still held.

The suspect held is John Seibel, 838 Wrightwood avenue. He was tramping through the mud of the forest preserve, wandering in circles, when noticed by two forest preserve policemen. Seibel declared he was "talking a walk." He was unarmed.

Taken to the Irving Park station, Seibel said he knew nothing of the murder of Mrs. Lavander. He said he was a cab driver out of work. He asserted he was at a movie Monday night and the police believe his story is true. However, they found in Seibel's cab in a private garage a woman's mirror backed with tan silk, which almost matched that inside of Mrs. Lavander's handbag.

Seibel was arrested a year ago as a suspected "cat bandit" after a moron known by that description had molested a number of women.

Leaves to Meet Husband.

Mrs. Lavander left her small daughter in charge of her mother, Mrs. Mary Paske, at the Lavander home, 5451 Ludlam avenue, shortly before 7 o'clock Monday evening and started walking to the station about three blocks away in order to catch a train to the city, where she intended to meet her husband, Stanley Lavander, and attend a show.

Four boys are believed to have been the last ones to see Mrs. Lavander alive. Chief Egan obtained their story late last night. The boys said they were singing and playing a ukelele on the northbound platform of the Forest Glen station at five minutes after 7 on Monday night when Mrs. Lavander walked on to the southbound platform.

Train Time Changed.

She called across to them and asked what time the train for the city would arrive. They told her they believed it was due at 7:11. But they were mistaken. Though neither Mrs. Lavander nor the boys knew it, the train's schedule had been rearranged and it passed the Forest Glen station at 7:02, three minutes before the woman arrived.

Apparently worried by the failure of the train to appear, Mrs. Lavander was pacing the platform at 7:20, when they departed, the boys said. No one has

COURT CLEARS WAY FOR CANAL FUND INQUIRY

Subpoena Issued for U. S. A. Co. Books.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court last evening swept away the last obstacle to a state grand jury investigation into the charges of First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup that a $1,000,000 fund for the bribery of public officials was maintained by the U. S. A. company, electrical contractors employed by the old sanitary district régime and other public agencies.

Over the protests of Attorney Thomas D. Nash and other lawyers acting for the company, Judge McGoorty issued a subpoena duces tecum calling for the production before the grand jury of the records and canceled checks of the company. The checks, or photostatic copies of them, are now in possession of the United States District court, where they were impounded when indictments charging income tax evasion were voted against G. L. Chamberlain, president, and F. W. Rhoades, secretary, of the U. S. A. company.

Judge Lindsay Mentioned.

The list of checks impounded was made public through the duces tecum petition filed by the government at the time of the income tax investigation. Among the checks listed was one for $5,000 received by John J. Dowdle, a contractor, on Sept. 30, 1928. Dowdle, who was a campaign fund collector, said the sum was a campaign contribution by Chamberlain to Judge William J. Lindsay, when the judge was candidate for state's attorney against John A. Swanson.

Another check, for $500, was issued to Mitchell Robin, clerk of the Probate court, and a cousin of the late Michael Rosenberg, sanitary district trustee, on Oct. 16, 1926. Robin said that the money might have been a campaign contribution. He said he did not know Chamberlain or Rhoades.

Payments to Florida Hotel.

The check list also shows three payments totaling $1,519.64, to the Roney Plaza hotel in Florida, reported to be for whoopee parties, and payments to jewelry companies. It is understood, however, that the checks made public do not constitute the entire list. Others are said to be in the files bearing notations indicating which sanitary district or other job brought about their issuance.

The U. S. A. company did most of its work for the sanitary district—the big job being the installation of a $1,000,000 lighting system along the north shore channel boulevard. In view of the fact, however, that the company performed work for other municipal agencies it was regarded as possible that the investigation will spread beyond the district. Work amounting to $23,350 was done by the company for the school board during 1929.

Report Originals Vanished.

The hint that the checks in the possession of the government are not the originals but photostatic copies came from Prosecutor Northup during the hearing before Judge McGoorty. Northup stated "on information and belief" that the originals have disappeared.

It is understood that the government first obtained the checks for purposes of investigation, took photostatic copies, and returned the checks to the company. When the charges were made that the income tax laws had been evaded a subpoena duces tecum was issued and the checks were called for again. Then it was learned that they had disappeared, according to reports. But the government officials had been cautious enough to make copies and therefore the evidence was still available.

Company Fights Subpoena.

Attorney Nash and his associates spent the entire day appearing before Judge McGoorty, filing motions and counter motions to the state's petition for the subpoena. First a demurrer was filed and when this was overruled an answer denying Northup's charges was filed. A hearing was then forced and the prosecutor doubled in the rôle of witness to show that the evidence sought was material to his investigation.

"This is an unknown procedure," Northup said when he was instructed to become a witness. "I never heard of such a thing. I am not required to divulge the source of my information."

Judge McGoorty, however, ruled that the prosecutor must testify to support his petition and an oath was administered.

"I saw the $1,000,000 in checks and I know of the dates, amounts, and everything about them," Northup testified. "I know the purpose of these gentlemen in wanting to ask me questions. I have answered, now make the most of it. I defy you.

"I will say further that I saw the bills of Spalding & Co. and for the golf nets and lots of bills."

Refuses to Answer Question.

"What time and place did you see these checks?" asked Attorney Nash.

"I decline to state the place and time, knowing the purpose of that question," Northup retorted. "I did not see them while they were under an impounding order. You think you are going to involve revenue agents with the government. You are on the wrong track because you are not going to do anything of the kind. You are thinking about the law making it an offense to divulge information about income tax cases."

The subject under discussion was apparently the law making it illegal for any government official to give out income tax information. The defense attorneys were apparently trying to tie Northup up to the admission that George E. Q. Johnson, the district attorney, or one of his assistants, had given him the opportunity to look at the records. Northup persistently refused to answer questions along this line.

Asks About $1,200 Light Posts.

Nash asked about Northup's charge that the light posts erected by the company on the north shore road for $1,200 apiece were worth only from $60 to $90. He asked the prosecutor's knowledge of concrete.

"I know many things about concrete," replied Northup. "I have had some experience along that line in my duties as a prosecutor."

At another time Northup blurted out that some one had gone to Washington in an effort to stop the inquiry, but had no success then and would have none now.

"Did any officer of the U. S. A. company show you the books or tell you about them?" was another question.

"I object to that question," replied Northup. "Now you are trying to find out if your people are loyal or not."

"One thing I will tell you is that many costly satchels were purchased from the Taylor Trunk works," he continued. "Every bill contains a notation which can be traced through the books. Some of the men receiving these gifts are dead and some still living are prominent also. You will get names later."

Defense Is Refused a Stay.

The defense attorneys asked for a stay of execution on the subpoena so that an appeal might be made to the Supreme court. This was refused, but an appeal will be made anyhow, it was stated. The state, however, will have possession of the documents as soon as the proper order can be entered in the federal court.

Besides those previously mentioned and those issues to employés of the company, the checks made public, with the names of the recipients, the amounts and the dates where known are as follows:

Simon O'Donnell, late labor leader, $20,000, April 10, 1926.

Rawleigh Warner, treasurer of the Pure Oil company, $500, July 24, 1926. He said he had no recollection of the transaction and did not know Chamberlain or Rhoades.

Spalding & Co., jewelers, three checks for $16,324.50 in 1927 and 1928. H. C. Tilden, the manager, refused any information concerning the checks.

Lyon & Healy, $1,100, Aug. 4, 1927.

I. C. Newman Co., jewelers, four checks totaling $6,300 in 1927 and 1928.

Illinois Electric company, $30,000, Nov. 2, 1927.

H. E. Shavey, three checks totaling $7,500 in 1926.

R. W. Howard, an electrical engineer, $8,000 in five checks.

E. A. Heaney, clerk for the U. S. A. company, seven checks totaling $27,276.

F. W. Rhoades, treasurer of the company, $26,541 in 12 checks.

Checks drawn in the name of Chamberlain, the president, total $572,675, while the currency checks total $416,197.

PHYSICIANS REGRET WIDE PUBLICITY ON CANCER SERUM TESTS

An article expressing regret at the widespread publicity given the Coffey-Humber experiments in cancer treatment in California will appear in the next issue of the journal of the American Medical association, it was announced yesterday. False hopes have been aroused in cancer sufferers by the representations made, it was explained.

"Regardless of the fact that Dr. Coffey and Dr. Humber stated that their work is purely experimental, that they do not claim to have developed a cancer cure in the popular sense of the word, that they have no evidence their preparation is anything more than a substance which produces lytic changes in cancer cells following injection," the article will say, "the great trek of cancer sufferers across the continent has begun, and physicians everywhere are being besought by their patients to procure this remedy."

SCHWAB, AT 68, PUTS FRIENDS ABOVE BUSINESS

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Charles M. Schwab said tonight, at the celebration of his 68th birthday, that after 50 years of active business life he is retiring from all business activities except the Bethlehem Steel company.

Mr. Schwab was seen at his residence where the only celebration of his birthday was held—a "quiet dinner party," as he described it. He added:

"To me now friends are more important than this so-called business success and it is very gratifying for me to finish my long business life with the multitude of friends that I have all over the country."

Chicagoan Falls Dead at Florida Ringside

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—S. B. Hillyer of Chicago, fell dead at the ringside during a fight card here tonight. Heart trouble apparently was the cause of his death. Hillyer was said to be connected with an advertising campaign for Foley & Co., Chicago manufacturers. He was about 70 years old.

dicate that the western land is beginning to realise the enemy they have in Moscow, and a new war between Russia and the civilized world is inevitably approaching, it says.

In order to defend itself against outraged public opinion abroad, the soviet government has decided to increase its propaganda among discontented classes in foreign countries and through sabotage, strikes, and terrorism, any attacks against the red homeland will be made ineffective, according to the paper. It also predicts that capitalism will be painfully astonished by events in their countries should they attempt to attack Russia.

Execute Internal Foes Daily.

Dictator Joseph V. Stalin has been cultivating the war scare in Russia for two years and inhabitants, reading the highly colored news published by the soviet press, are convinced that the capitalistic world is uniting for war against communism. Travelers arriving from Moscow report that the people are eagerly awaiting the opening of hostilities, since there is a general belief that bolshevism could not survive over a month's attack.

Stressing the urgency of putting Russia into shape to beat off foreign attacks, the soviets are continuing to execute persons charged with sabotage against the régime each day.

At Tver a cheka court ordered the execution of two Russian priests and five peasants, caught plotting the death of a cheka agent, who had discovered the existence of a secret Sunday school, while five Minsk rabbis and a number of members of their congregation were locked up for practicing the rite of circumcision.

Raid German Communists.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—Three hundred mounted and foot police made a swift descent on Buelow Platz, today blocked off the streets and rushed the red flagged headquarters of the communist party of Germany. After a three hour search they carried off two wagon loads of printed evidence of a projected revolution.

Bolshevik mobs and the police continued to clash during the afternoon and evening. Numerous reds were slightly injured. Several policemen were bruised by flying bricks.

A warrant issued by a Berlin court gave the police their chance to carry the fight to the Reds. The court charges say the communists printed two sets of inflammatory circulars, one of which was entitled "Policemen Victims of the Young Plan." It calls on the officers to join a "proletarian revolution."

FIRE OFFICIALS TELL SECRETS OF LEAPING SAFELY INTO LIFE NET

"Relax and aim for the center of the net." That advice was given yesterday by Fire Marshal Corrigan and Deputy Fire Marshal Carmody as a precaution to be observed by persons who find a jump into a life net the only means of escape from a burning building.

"The body from the thighs up should be held erect with the legs stretched out perpendicular to the body and parallel with the ground," said Carmody. "The arms should be held up above the head to avoid striking them on the sides of the net. Persons who jump seldom have time to loose ntheir belts and neckties but that is a good thing to do. Acrobats can land on the back of the shoulders but that is dangerous for an inexperienced person."

The hardest part of the job, according to Carmody, is borne by the firemen holding the net. They must maneuver so that the falling person will strike the middle of the net.

THINK BRUNDAGE WILL PULL OUT OF SENATE RACE

Close associates of former Attorney General Brundage who talked with him yesterday about his being a candidate for United States senator left him with a distinct impression that he will withdraw his name from the Republican primary before the time for that step expires at midnight Saturday.

Mrs. McCormick has leased most of an historic building at 12 East Monroe street as her campaign headquarters. More than four decades ago it was the home of the Chicago club. During the World's Fair it was the home of the Columbus club. For several years it was a hotel and more recently it was used as the temporary quarters of the Union League club while its new building on Jackson boulevard was being erected.

Two shifts in the Deneen local lineup were announced. One was the substitution of Harry A. Riley, a master in chancery, as the group's candidate for committeeman of the 49th ward instead of I. J. Bryan, who, because of his health, declined to run. The other was the substitution of Robert E. Barbee for Edwin J. Nelson as one of the faction's two candidates for the board of assessors.

Mildred Harris, Ex-Wife of Chaplin, Divorced Again

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Two film actresses, Mildred Harris, the ex-wife of Charles Chaplin, and Maria Corda, won divorces today. Miss Harris won a decree from Everet Terrence McGovern, golf follower. She charged he deserted her in 1926, after they had been wed two years. She retains custody of the 4 year old son. Miss Corda won a decree from Alexander Corda, Hungarian film director. She charged Corda with jealousy and sullenness. The couple's 8 year old son will stay in a private school.

Reconstructing the crime from footprints found in the mud, police reasoned that she was held up on the lonely station by a man with a gun and forced to march northward along the railroad tracks.

The footmarks stopped about 800 feet from the station and the woman and her assailant engaged in a scuffle that led to the murder, the marks in the mud indicated. The slayer then apparently dragged the body of his victim to the edge of the railroad embankment and hurled it down to the spot where it was found.

The bullet which killed the woman entered her temple. She had apparently thrown up her right hand to hide her face, as the bullet had clipped off her index and second fingers. Several of her teeth were broken, the assailant apparently having struck her in the mouth. She was not assaulted, an examination showed.

The Forest Glen Progressive Men's club, at a meeting last night, appointed a vigilance committee which will patrol the lonely neighborhood nightly in the future. A reward of $100 was offered by the club for the arrest and conviction of Mrs. Lavander's slayer.

Morons Attack Two Women.

Two other women were reported to the police yesterday as the victims of moron attacks. Miss Sophia Niemic, 19 years old, 2638 West 23d street, was treated at the Hinsdale sanitarium after she had been found at the roadside at Laramie and Ogden avenues. She said she had been attacked by two young men with whom she had gone for an automobile ride.

Mrs. Elizabeth Klecka, 25 years old, 5232 South Turner avenue, was attacked and robbed of $4 by a prowler who dragged her into an alley near 58th street and Sawyer avenue.

DIARY OF LOVE AND PRAYER READ TO BRANDON JURY

Gillespie's Caresses Put Down in Red Ink.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Frances Marion Brandon, a lawyer who loved a lawyer and lost, turned what she described as a "scarlet triangle" into a halo today, much to the apparent discomfort of an elderly counselor she is suing for fraud and breach of promise. The gentleman in the case, or in this instance in the triangle, is George J. Gillespie Jr., officially president of the board of water supply, and unofficially Mrs. Brandon's "holy man."

The alchemy took place on the second day of the combination church, bedroom, and business suit for $474,-345.50 which is occupying the attention of Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Valente, a jury and as many spectators as can crowd into the courtroom. The damages sought are to cover lost love and lost law practice.

"And I said to him," testified the widow Brandon between sobs, smelling salts and drinking water, "are those moments that were a sacrament to me only sacrilege to you?"

"And he said," sobbed the triangle lady, "'You know I was only having a good time and so were you.'"

So She Kept a Diary.

All of which explains why Mrs. Brandon kept a diary. Whenever she left Mr. Gillespie, or "Robin" as she calls him, she made an entry in her diary. It appears that most of the joint law practice was conducted either in Mr. Gillespie's private quarters or in Mrs. Brandon's apartment. The diary was a three volume affair, recording in red ink three romantic years. Weddings, funerals, 6 o'clock dinners were recorded in these diaries, but the romantic trysts were not set down in burning words. They were entered as a symbol.

"When you had relations with Gillespie did you record them in your diary?" asked Mortimer Hays, attorney for Mrs. Brandon.

"Yes, I did," whispered the woman, "but I didn't write anything. I drew the eternal triangle, a scarlet triangle around the scarlet letter."

Just how many scarlet triangles decorated the diaries was not revealed, nor were the other contents, except as the witness related them.

Prayers and Kisses.

Mrs. Brandon's testimony concerning her dual love and business life with the man who boasted he was "a pillar of the church" began and ended at the doors of St. Patrick's cathedral, but there was no wedding in which she appeared. There was, instead, a priest, who gave her what she now confesses was "good advice," a meeting, a lot of meetings with a man who talked to her of her soul and then "wrecked it," and finally a conversion on the part of Mrs. Brandon and the announcement of her engagement to Gillespie; and in the end the discovery that the man she loved loved his dog Cleopatra more than he did her.

Mrs. Brandon's story, like other great events, might best be divided into three parts. The meeting, the separation and reconciliation, and then disillusion. The meeting took place at St. Patrick's in the summer of 1922 and yesterday Mrs. Brandon told of several subsequent occasions necessitating the entry of a crimson triangle in the diary.

Two years had passed, Mr. Gillespie's wife had died, and the churchman-lawyer had gone to Europe "to get away from everything." Mrs. Brandon told of his return.

"He communicated with me only once while he was abroad. He told me by cable that he felt called upon to retire from the world for a spell. He came back on April 30, 1924, and I saw him the following day at a funeral—it was the funeral of one of our bosom friends. It was not until July 15 that he asked me to come to his house."

Q.—Did you go? A.—Yes, I went upstairs.

Q.—Tell us what happened. A.—Well, it was very late—after midnight. I came at the hour he told me to. He kept looking around, going out and coming back. He finally came in the room and sat down. Not in the usual place, but nearer the door. Finally he said:

"'Madame, what do you want?'

"I said, 'Why, nothing, Robin. But why do you call me madame?' He said:

"'Madame, will you be so kind as to call me Mr. Gillespie, and tell me what I can do for you?'

"'I sure will,' I told him. I said: 'You have been running around town with a very young lady. It is giving me great distress, and I want to know when we are going to be married.'

"'Married! Married! Married! Oh! So that's the idea,' he laughed. 'You must be crazy. I know a lot of men are trapped by scheming women, but you never will trap me.'

"Then the strangest thing happened. I never saw anything like it. He leaned back in his chair and put his feet on the table and held his hands out like he was pushing something away.

"'Don't you come near me,' he shouted.

"There was a wild look in his eyes. I was frightened and screamed at him: 'You are not the person I know. You are not Robin. You are a devil, devil, devil.' I never saw such an expression on his face. He snapped his fingers just like that—snap, one snap, two snaps. Then he shouted at me:

"'You don't mean that much to me. Get out. Go home.'

"I told Mr. G. that he was a vicious man, a religious failure, and a hypocrite. I told him my life was gone, gone, gone, and that I would expose him. He said:

"'Take a tip from me and shut your head. I don't know you.'

"He finally took me home, though, and tried to get me not to talk."

Their Next Meeting.

Mrs. Brandon testified she did not see him any more until one Saturday afternoon in November, 1924.

"I went to his office at his call," she testified, "and he appeared to have no recollection of anything unusual having happened. He told me he had been awfully wrought up. He didn't have his teeth and had his glasses off. I said, 'You look awful. Get up and put your teeth in your mouth and put your glasses on. Even your eyes are crooked without your spectacles.'

"I asked him when we were going to be married and he seemed surprised, and said there never had been any promise of marriage. I told him there had been a lot more than a promise of marriage. We were there for four hours."

Mr. Gillespie sat tapping his feet and scribbling on a note pad. Once during Mrs. Brandon's recital he felt gingerly of his mouth, apparently to reassure himself he had not again forgotten his teeth. The woman glared at him as she told her story. Mr. Gillespie did not return the glare, but turned his overcoat collar up around his face. He was noticeably nervous.

The next meeing was in the woman's apartment. It was a cold night just before Christmas, 1924, and a log fire was burning. Mrs. Brandon was seated at the piano and Mr. Gillespie stood behind her with his arms under her arms and around her body.

"'Is it hot enough for you?'" Mrs. Brandon testified the churchman asked.

"I just kept throwing logs on the fire," she continued, "and made some tea. He would not drink out of any cup except mine. Finally it got dark and I suggested he go home to supper. He wouldn't leave and kept asking me what I was going to do about him. I finally told him: 'Robin, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth and a limb for a limb. You have deliberately destroyed a woman and I don't like it.'

"He tried to tell me that what nobody knows doesn't make any difference. 'I'm the pillar of the church,' he said. 'It is not what I am or what I do, but what the people think I am. What do you want me to do—marry you? All right, let's get married.'

But in Five Years.

"I said that would be fit punishment for us and told him I supposed I might just as well. Then I moved over and sat by him.

"'I can't marry you for five years,' he said.

"I said, 'Look here, Charles M. Schwab wrote a piece advising every one to put a time limit to everything.'

"'I can't marry you,' he said, 'for I would have two wives when I got to heaven.'

"I said, 'Don't worry, you never will get to heaven.'

"Then he began to cry and pray. He left about 1:30 that morning, but said he would come back the next day and take me to a movie."

Mrs. Brandon had to take time out for a drink of water and a spell of crying. Resuming her narrative, she testified Gillespie had sought to take her to mass instead of the promised movie and that a few days later he had called at her apartment.

No Kisses, Just Tears.

"He didn't kiss me," testified the woman, "and I asked him why. He had forgotten all about being engaged. I wept and wept and wept. Then I asked him, 'Why hast thou forsaken me?' He said, 'Where have I heard those words?' I told him they were Christ's last words. Then I knelt on a hassock by his side in front of the fire. He told me again he would marry and I asked him to try to love me as much as he loved Cleopatra, his dog. He said he would have a gift for me by Christmas. It was 3 a. m. when he left and he said he would have a Christmas gift for me—we could announce our engagement then.

"Two days later he had again forgotten all about being engaged. He insisted he never had proposed to me and asked if I wanted him to call a doctor to stop my crying. I told him to get an undertaker. He got me some veronal and I fell asleep.

This Goes On and On.

"It was like that for weeks. One day he would remember and the next day he would deny proposing. On March 15 I put an announcement of my egagement to Mr. G. in the papers. The wedding was for early spring, but it never took place."

It was at the morning session that Mrs. Brandon revealed another side of Gillespie.

"He came to see me on Jan. 30, 1923," she testified, "and I put on a black dress he liked. He was hardly in the room before he asked me, 'Are you prepared to die tonight?'

"I said, 'Why should I die tonight, Robin?'

"'Why, if we die tonight,' he said, 'our souls will spend all eternity in torment for our mortal sins.'

"Then he made me get down on my knees at his feet and pray. He said I was such a terrible temptation."

Says His Wife Knew.

Mr. Gillespie's wife, who died in 1923, knew of the love trysts, according to Mrs. Brandon, who testified she "often sent Mrs. Gillespie a warm loaf of bread and once a duck she had received from the estate of Bernard Baruch."

A part of the testimony concerned a series of real estate deals in Florida and Long Island in which Mrs. Brandon represented her friend, Miss Alice de Lamar.

CROWDS WATCH FLAMES WRECK N. SIDE FACTORY

Fire of undetermined origin accompanied by a number of explosions early this morning wrecked the two story brick building housing the Samoline corporation, manufacturers of a cleaning compound, and the Eagle Sheet Metal Manufacturing Co., at 1300-1326 Fletcher street. Traffic was tied up for blocks in Belmont and Southport avenues as firemen, responding to a 4-11 alarm, battled to prevent the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

Extra details of policemen were summoned from the Sheffield avenue station to keep back the throngs of spectators after the flames had brought down power lines, plunging a number of nearby dwellings in darkness. Half a dozen freight cars standing on a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad track east of the burning building were slightly damaged. The total loss was estimated at $100,000.

The fire started shortly before midnight, and in a few minutes the whole factory was in flames, fed by the inflammable material used in manufacturing the cleaning compound, part of which exploded in the heat.

WHAT IS WRONG WITH CHICAGO—WEST SIDE VIEW

Selfish Politics Blamed for City's Troubles.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

This scene is in a bright little lunchroom on West Madison street in the Garfield park district. The street here is widened into a boulevard and is lined with smart shops, big stores, and all the attractions of a main street in a typical American city. Still, it is in Chicago and has to partake of the city's welfare and reputation.

The reporter, inquiring around here as to what people think of this dubious stage of Chicago's progress, its causes, and what might be done, found two men at luncheon and engaged them in conversation. They were George Madigan of Madigan Brothers department store nearby, and Delbert A. Clithero, attorney and president of the Garfield State bank. Madigan is a young merchant of progressive type, yet tolerant, and Clithero is an older man of strong civic spirit, but one who has never held elective office.

What They Think of Situation.

REPORTER—What do you gentlemen think of Chicago's present situation?

MADIGAN—It is too deep for the average fellow. I feel that something is fundamentally wrong, that there is much under the surface that we do not understand.

REPORTER—Do you feel that the reassessment is at the bottom of it?

MADIGAN—I think there are two groups fighting for control, that they could get together and solve it if they had the will. It looks selfish. I do not think we have been fairly informed about the loop assessment, but that is only the beginning of the trouble.

CLITHERO—Well, it is foolish for a politician or any one else to try to set one part of the town against another. We are like the Siamese twins. We stand or fall together.

REPORTER—What is your idea of it?

Banker's View of What's Wrong.

CLITHERO—I have been wondering what is the matter with our government. We certainly need a drastic readjustment from the ground up. It might be a good thing to let things get as bad as possible. Mr. Caldwell (president of the school board) told a group of bankers the other day that the assessment on a group of loop buildings had been reduced $100,000,000. He asked me what I would do under the circumstances, and I told him I would spend what I had and then close the schools. If I had $25,000,000 I would give $25,000,000 worth of education and then quit.

REPORTER—Where does the trouble lie?

CLITHERO—In partisan politics. We do not get a dollar's worth out of the political dollar, only about 70 cents. The people who are complaining must get into politics. I heard some men at the Union League club complaining the other day and after they got through raking over conditions I asked how many of them had voted at the last election. Only three out of eleven responded. They do their reforming at lunch time only.

An Interest in Civic Affairs.

MADIGAN—Well, I do not feel so pessimistic about things. We cannot expect 100 per cent efficiency. We glorify the past but things were just as bad then. The scene shifts, that is all.

CLITHERO—We have become a nation of money grubbers.

MADIGAN—Perhaps it is all because we do not take a deep enough interest in civic affairs.

CLITHERO—The taxing and spending bodies must coöperate and the spenders must be forced to live within a budget. We have gone crazy in this country in bond issues, spending far ahead of income in this way and in tax anticipation warrants. We must introduce an era of rigid economy. The school board has been spending ahead for 14 years.

MADIGAN—The taxes should be equitable and fair.

CLITHERO—Real estate cannot stand the burden of all this taxation. The only relief I see is through legislative action.

MADIGAN—So you think this country is going to the dogs?

CLITHERO—We are a long ways from that. Things have deteriorated, but we can lift ourselves out. I believe the direct primary is responsible for the situation in part. Look at some of the judges we have. They are a joke. Look at prohibition and crime. The association of commerce makes an outcry and the police arrest a lot of little fellows but do not touch the gand leaders. There are a lot of lawyers who work right in with the criminals and it is hard to get them disbarred.

MADIGAN—Well, I guess it is our growing pains as a country. I do not take it too seriously. Perhaps that attitude in general is one of the things that is responsible for our troubles.

GIRL, 9, AWARDED $10,000 DAMAGES FOR AUTO INJURY

Nine year old Lena De Paul, 1011 Larrabee street, yesterday won a default verdict of $10,000 for injuries she received when she was struck by an automobile while playing near her home July 29, 1926. The girl was struck by an automobile driven by George Sandrock, 2223 Ainslie street, who swerved from behind a street car into a group of children. Lena was the only child injured.

She brought suit through her father, Anthony, who testified that his daughter's nervous system has been impaired and as a result she has been retarded in school work. The verdict was returned by a jury befort Circuit Judge George Fred Rush.

Four deaths yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 105. The victims:

Martin Rud, 66 years old, 3627 Palmer square, died in the county hospital of injuries received Monday when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home. The driver, Charles Krueger, 3741 Castello avenue, was not held.

Aloysius Peters, 40 years old, 7420 Cottage Grove avenue. Died in the Illinois Central hospital of injuries received Friday in a collision in Jackson park. The driver of the other car, Frank Griffin, 7824 Euclid avenue, was not held.

John B. Lyle, 54 years old, 2105 Eastwood avenue, a mechanic, died at the Ravenswood hospital last night, two hours after he had been struck by an automobile at Wilson and North Damen avenues. O. B. Garrett, 4609 North Lincoln street, the driver, was held.

Alvin Younghanel, 71 years old, 2119 South Homan avenue, died yesterday of injuries suffered a week ago when struck by a car at 22d street and Trumbull avenue. Joseph McNabb, 1518 Winona avenue, Berwyn, was the driver.

FRANCE DESERTS NAVY PARLEY FOR QUARREL AT HOME

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 18.—France tonight withdrew from the negotiations at the five power naval conference pending a settlement of the government crisis in Paris. There are no official French delegates here. Georges Leygues, minister of marine, left for Paris this evening.

Rene Massigli, a foreign office official, is technically in charge of French interests. He said he will not take part in the discussions until a new cabinet is formed and the next premier issues instructions.

Among the French officials still here the opinion was expressed that after the French viewpoint and revise the naval program, especially if the Socialists and radicals decide to participate in the new cabinet. Controlling nearly 200 seats in the chamber of deputies—one-third of the body—these parties would obtain a number of portfolios in a government they elected to collaborate with.

Radicals Favor Disarmament.

Thus far these left wing parties are solidly on record for disarmament and the reduction of all forms of armament. One of their leaders, M. Jouvenel, resigned as France's delegate to the league of nations preparatory disarmament commission because he declared the Paris government did not properly back up his policy for reducing armaments.

ITALY PLANS BLAST

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister and chief of his delegation to the London naval conference, was picked today to lead the first assault against the French aspirations to a fleet of 724,000 tons. He will publish a memorandum which implies that some of the ships France includes in its figures of existing strength long ago have ceased to have any existing value and are only a mask to hide increased tonnage under the form of replacements. The Italians produced the note in reply to pressure that they put teeth into their claims for a French parity.

At a conference with Secretary Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald, Sig. Grandi communicated his plan of attack. If his arguments succeed in shaking the French position the conference may find some way to pare down the French naval claims to a point where, combined with what Italy wants, they will not upset the British pretensions to have a fleet as big as any two European powers. That is the obstacle before the conference which the Americans have been trying to help the British remove in the Hoover-MacDonald bargain of last fall would not be repudiated by the British.

Will Plead for Reductions.

The Italian note is shrewdly drawn to back Italy's contention that this should be a reduction conference, not a limitation parley. It is aimed especially at the French naval building program, providing for the building of 60,000 tons yearly until 1942.

Sig. Grandi will introduce a suggestion that submarines should be abolished on condition that capital ships are abolished. If this were done Italy would have a complete parity in effective auxiliary ships with France at this time, experts say.

MAY MEAN BIGGER NAVY

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 18.—While Secretary of State Stimson and his colleagues today declined to comment on the fall of the French government, they did not conceal the feeling that the interruption of the naval conference has been most unfortunate. If Andre Tardieu should succeed himself there will be no change in French policy but there will have been a waste of time. If M. Tardieu gives way to another premier there will be, in addition to the waste of time, the question as to whether the French policy is to be altered.

If the attitude of the French should be stiffened in reference to tonnage demands, any hopes of limiting Great Britain to 15 big and 35 small cruisers would go glimmering, in which event America would require considerably more than 18 big and 21 small cruisers to satisfy the Anglo-American parity, as laid down by the Stimson delegation. Only in the possibility that a new French ministry would be disposed to recede materially from M. Tardieu's tonnage demands is there any ray of hope for actual armament reduction for which the Americans came to London.

Review Security Pact Talk.

With the French occupying this strategic position speculation is turning more and more to the possibility of the conference acceding to the French demands for a security pact in exchange for a material reduction of tonnage demands.

The British have been cold to the proposition of a Mediteranean security pact, and have not disclosed their attitude toward an Atlantic pact modeled after the Pacific four power pact. It is not without significance, however, that the London Times, which has unerringly reflected the views of the British government during the conference, devotes considerable space today to a discussion of a "consultative pact" as a solution of the navy reduction problem.

Would Hoover Accept It?

Because America entered the Pacific pact many European statesmen assume that the senate would not balk at accepting a similar agreement applying to the Atlantic. The Americans, however, point out that America has possessions on the other side of the Pacific, the safeguarding of which was the ostensible reason for American participation in the Pacific pact, whereas America has no possessions on this side of the Atlantic. Under such circumstances opponents of an Atlantic pact would argue that it involved American entanglement in European affairs, in contravention to the traditional policy.

Others hazard the prediction that if acceptance of an Atlantic pact should become the price of the successful issue of the London conference in a five power naval limitation agreement the Hoover administration would not hestiate to pay the price if it was confident of justifying its course to the American people.

Tunes from Bagpipe to Greet Naval Delegates at Big Fete

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 18.—When the naval conference delegates and their wives arrive at the front door of Londonderry house in Park Lane tomorrow night for the reception that is to be given by the marquess and marchioness of Londonderry they will be met by the marquess' piper, who will be dressed as a royal Stewart Highlander.

This piper accompanies Lord Londonderry on all of his journeys, and plays highland tunes during breakfast and inner, marching around the table, when the family is at home.

Footmen to Wear Kilts.

Two footmen in kilts will also be in attendance to usher the guests up the marble staircase. Lady Londonderry, wearing the famous Londonderry diamond tiara and parure, will receive at the top of the stairs, with the duke of York and Princess Helena Victoria, King George's aunt.

Among the guests will be the Stanley Baldwins, Miss Megan Lloyd George, M. P.; Prime Minister and Ishbel MacDonald, Lord Beaverbrook, Earl and Countess Beauchamp, Marquess and Marchioness Anglesey, Lord and Lady Desborough, duchess of Buccleuch, duke and duchess of Devonshire, the latter mistress of robes to Queen Mary, Sir Austen and Lady Chamberlain, Marquess and Marchioness of Crewe, and the earl of Cromer.

British Admiral Is Host.

Mrs. David A. Reed and Mrs. Lamont Belin, wife of the first secretary of the American embassy, were among the guests of Admiral Sir William and Lady Fisher at lunch today.

Mrs. William Galbraith, wife of the naval attaché at the American embassy, also had a dinner party today for some of the American delegates and their wives at Eaton place. Among the guests were cabinet ministers, including First Lord of the Admiralty and Mrs. A. V. Alexander.

Mrs. Lamont Belin will give a dinner party on Feb. 24, before the foreign reception, to Capt. and Mrs. A. H. Van Keuren, Commander and Mrs. Harold C. Train, and Mr. and Mrs. George Rublee, at her house in Brook street.

CHINA TO GOVERN ALIEN LAWYERS UNDER NEW PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18.—A provisional court agreement was signed at Nanking yesterday by Joseph F. Jacobs in behalf of the American government, as well as by the British, Norwegian, Netherlands and Brazilian governments. While, permitting foreign lawyers to appear in all cases affecting foreign interests, the agreement definitely brings all foreign lawyers under the jurisdiction and control of the Chinese government.

One clause in the agreement requires foreign attorneys to apply to the ministry of justice for certificates in order to appear in the provisional court. This includes the submission of credentials showing qualifications for practicing law.

A foreign lawyer, thereby, is placed on the same basis as Chinese lawyers. This agreement makes the provisional court a definite part of the Chinese legal machinery, with appeal to the Chinese Supreme court.

It also eliminates the appearance of foreign consular deputies and brings the local detention house, women's prison and the international settlement under the control of the court.

Dismisses Bankruptcy Case Against Printing Co.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley yesterday dismissed involuntary bankruptcy proceedings against the Severinghaus-Kuehl Printing company, 2141 Ogden avenue, on motion of the Laramie State bank. The bank denied that it had authorized the filing of the petition. The action had been taken by an attorney without the bank's knowledge or consent, it was stated.

WORLD-WIDE
SHOE ORGANIZATION COMES TO CHICAGO

When Bata Shoe Company decided to enter the world's markets they found that there was much more in women's shoemaking than simply just making up the varied styles in the several sizes. They found that the feet of women of one nation differed in shape from the feet of women of another nation and that shoes in order to be comfortable not only had to be made in accordance with this situation but also, that shoes had to be adapted and constructed to meet the conditions under which they were to be worn. There was a third factor, and an important one—Style!

It was a realization on the part of the Bata Shoe Company of these three factors in women's shoe-making that brought them world leadership in their field.

Use Science, No Guesswork.

In order to bring comfort as well as style to their product and thus please the women of the world, Bata went at their problem in a scientific manner. Before they ever attempted to market their shoes in any country experts put in years of study of their new market. They studied the foot models of hundreds of women to find out the pedal peculiarities of that nation. They studied the conditions under which the shoes were to be used and they found out what styles were popular.

After exhausting every possible factor leading to the solution of the problem shoe models were made by expert craftsmen and as the models were found to be satisfactory under actual tests, they were placed in production. It was then that Bata Shoe was prepared to offer their shoes to the new market and because Bata Shoe Company knew their market thoroughly, knew what the women wanted, they met with such success that it may be said Bata Shoes "are worn the world over."

Before coming to America Bata Shoe Company conducted just such a study of the feet of American women.

Over 500 plaster casts were made of the feet of women in the United States in order to find out exactly just what peculiarities characterized the shape and structure of American feet.

These studies showed that American women are as a whole athletic—that their feet are strong and supple due to activity and that American women must have shoes that will give freedom of action at all times but shoes that will still hold their shape. Above all, they must be shoes that breathe smartness; shoes that tell of their Paris style influence!

Adopt Paris Styles.

Bata Shoe Company style experts took these scientific findings and adapted the very latest Parisian styles to them. They adapted these exclusive styles in a way that combined the chic, molded lines that will be so popular this spring with a comfortable last that will hold its shape throughout the life of the shoe.

Directing this big factory are fashion experts who are in constant touch with the style sources of Paris, Berlin and Vienna. They see the new designs sponsored by stylists and, taking only the best of them, they adapt the new colors and new lines to Bata Shoes so that Bata customers always are able to buy imported shoes of the latest style—shoes that are made expressly to combine style and comfort scientifically. In 700 stores in 600 cities throughout the world women are buying Bata Shoes today. There are stores in France, England, Germany, Egypt, Persia, India, China, Argentina and America—every store selling shoes that are absolutely the greatest values ever offered at any time, any place, in women's shoes.

Now Bata is coming to Chicago. After years of study we know exactly what you American women want in shoes. Bata Shoe brings you style—the latest Parisian styles; Bata Shoe brings you footwear that will give your feet freedom of action; and Bata Shoe promises to give the women of Chicago the very finest quality shoes at such prices that will enable every one to have two or three pairs of stylish shoes at the usual cost of one pair. This week Bata Shoe will open four stores in Chicago—watch this paper for our opening announcement on Friday. You will be both surprised and delighted with what Bata Shoe Company has to offer.

HOOVER MAKES CONGRESS FUME BY URGING SPEED

Plea for Action on Tariff Brings Debates.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—President Hoover today was the center of stormy debates in both houses of congress.

The President's efforts to speed up action on the tariff bill started the senate off on an oratorical rampage. Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] led the attack upon the President, while Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], one of the participants in a breakfast conference at the White House this morning, was the executive's chief defender.

After using up two hours in talking about expediting passage of the bill, the senate finally settled down to business and wound up by increasing duties on live cattle by the one sided vote of 72 to 4.

This somewhat unexpected action on an amendment which the finance committee had rejected seemed to lend some support to a theory that the senators were disposed to cut short the debate hereafter by approving controversial amendments.

Effect on Business Stressed.

A warning that continued delay in disposing of the tariff might seriously check the movement to put business back on a prosperous plane was the club used by President Hoover in commencing to apply pressure on the senate. In the breakfast conference, which was attended by leaders of both houses, the President pointed out that the business situation is more sensitive now than it normally would be to legislative reactions and that the delay and uncertainty on the tariff has a tendency to slow down business recovery.

Another point stressed by the President affecting the business situation was that the government, which has speeded up public works construction, may be forced to lay off from 10,000 to 20,000 men the latter part of March unless pending appropriation bills, which are held up in the senate by the tariff, are passed.

Democrats Say He's to Blame.

Political phases of the business situation were involved in the attacks upon the President in the house. Representative Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, asserted that the President, having claimed responsibility for prosperity for the Republican party, must bear the blame for unsatisfactory conditions. He denied the announcements of administration spokesmen, including Secretary of Labor Davis, that business is on the up grade.

Representative Frank Murphy [Rep., O.] took the administration side of the argument in the house debate.

Representative John Garner [Dem., Tex.], minority leader of the house, in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee, assailed Republican leadership in the administration and in congress.

"The titular party leader in the White House is either lacking in courage or capacity to lead," said Mr. Garner, "and the consequent bewilderment of congressional leadership is a reflection of the deepening disappointment of the American people in the promised and expected major part the President was to play in shaping national affairs to the better ends of national needs."

At Breakfast Conference.

In attendance at the breakfast conference at the White House were Senator Watson, Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], assistant majority leader of the senate; Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah], chairman of the finance committee; Speaker Longworth; Representative John Q. Tilson [Rep., Conn.], majority leader of the house; Representative B. H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], chairman of the house rules committee, and Representative W. C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.], chairman of the house ways and means committee.

The senate leaders were unable to assure the President just when the tariff bill would be passed, although they promised to use their best efforts to get it into conference. It was Senator Watson's opinion that the bill should be passed by March 10, but he admitted that there was no certainty about it.

Dry Bills Not Mentioned.

Discussions at the conference related to methods which might be used to expedite action in the senate. It was stated that there was no suggestion of an appeal to the country. It was made evident, however, that the President is concerned over the situation with special reference to the effect on business conditions. Incidentally, the legislative program of the Wickersham law enforcement commission was not mentioned, indicating that this is not of such pressing concern to the President as the tariff bill and appropriation bills affecting public works.

Senator Harrison started off the senate debate on the President's activities with humorous remarks on Mr. Hoover's Florida trip and then sought to fasten responsibility for failure to dispose of the tariff bill upon the Republicans and particularly upon the house leaders who refused to permit amendments to be offered when it was under consideration in the lower branch of congress.

He demanded that Senator Watson tell what happened at the White House breakfast conference and whether the President had promised to sign the bill if it reaches him in its present form as amended by the coalition of Democrats and radicals.

Claims Rates Not Discussed

Senator Watson insisted that the question of tariff rates had not been discussed.

"The President called us down to the White House this morning to get us to make any suggestions to him if we could that would enable him to be helpful in finally passing this bill," said Senator Watson.

He added, "How can the President know whether or not he is going to sign a bill before it reaches him? This bill will be nobody knows how many weeks yet in the senate. Nobody knows how many alterations will be made in it. Nobody knows what the conference will do when it goes to conference. Nobody knows what measure will come back. Therefore, we all came away imbued with the spirit of helping to pass this bill as speedily as we may. I do not know what bill."

Speaker Longworth, in discussing the legislative situation during the day, said that the delays in the senate would probably preclude the egactment of much general legislation at this session of congress.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—House judiciary subcommittee failed to reach an agreement on the Christopherson bills to carry out recommendations of the national law enforcement commission and referred to the full committee proposals to change the Volstead and Jones laws to define misdemeanor liquor law violations.

Modification of the Monroe Harbor, Mich., project to a channel 21 feet deep from deep water in Lake Erie to a point in the Raisin river was recommended by Maj. Gen. Brown, chief of army engineers, to the house rivers and harbors committee.

Brand bill, making a misdemeanor of statements injuring or tending to injure any bank, was favorably reported today by the house banking and currency committee. The bill prescribes a maximum fine of $5,000 or imprisonment for five years or both.

House rules committee unanimously decided to give privileged status to the senate resolution to appropriate $7,000,000 for seed and fertilizer loans to farmers in storm stricken areas in the southwestern and several western states.

Bill to give $5,000 to the heirs of Fermin Tobera, the 22 year old Filipino killed in the anti-Filipino race riots in California, was introduced today by Representative Sabath, Democrat, Ill.

Everett E. Neal of Noblesville, Ind., was named today by President Hoover as collector of internal revenue for the district of Indiana.

Two Minute Relief!

Have you ever tried Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets? If not you should do so and perhaps find the relief you have long sought.

These tablets were first placed on sale in drug stores in December, 1894, thirty-six years ago, and have steadily increased in popularity ever since as attested by millions of users.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain no soda nor any harmful ingredient, but the desired alkaline effect is secured by a pleasant combination of Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate with other ingredients for the prompt relief of that acidity, discomfort after eating, nausea, fullness after meals, etc. They are a modern anti-acid. One of them will neutralize 2½ times its weight of acid material in the stomach.

Make This Test!

Purchase a 25c, handy pocket tin of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from your druggist, use after meals and note the quick relief from gas and discomfort of over-eating.

FORMER HOUSE MEMBER BARES BIG LOBBY FEES

Contends High Court Backs His Job.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Marion Devries, former member of the house and former member of the court of customs appeals, admitted today to the senate lobby committee he is a contingent fee lobbyist, and confronted the committee with excerpts from an opinion from the United States Supreme court upholding the right of an attorney to represent clients for or against legislation on such a basis.

Devries declared he already has received a total of approximately $50,000 from clients interested in tariff legislation and expects an additional $25,000 if certain provisions or rates sought by his clients are included in the pending tariff bill when it becomes law.

"That sort of practice would be cause for disbarment in many states as champerty, would it not?" asked Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.].

"Yes, it would," agreed Devries.

Devries revealed he is employed by the Dupont Rayon corporation at an annual retainer of $10,000 and by the California Vineyardists' association at a fee of $1,000 a month, in addition to smaller retainers from a wide variety of industries, some of whom sought tariff rate increases, while others sought reductions.

Mr. Lagger Lagged Too Much, His Wife Charges

Mrs. Ann G. Lagger, 652 West 117th place, yesterday filed a suit for divorce in the Superior court against her husband, William J. Lagger, alleging that he is the victim of a disease which she calls "lazitis." She charges that in the last five years he has quit a dozen jobs on the complaint that he was losing his memory. However, according to his wife, he had forgotten only how to work. The Laggers were married on Dec. 10, 1921, and separated on Feb. 25, 1929. The wife's bill, drawn by Attorney Harry X. Cole, also charges habitual drunkenness and cruelty. The couple have two children, Norma Jean, 7 years old, and William T., 2.

ILEANA'S PRINCE UNDER INQUIRY, RUMANIA SAYS

BUCHAREST, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Postponement of the wedding of Princess Ileana of Rumania and Count Alexander von Hochberg is the only official answer in Rumania to reports that their engagement had been broken off. Premier Maniu today conferred at length with Queen Marie, mother of the princess, and afterward summoned newspaper correspondents to his office. He told them the government desired that the incident should not be discussed.

He said the government was investigating the antecedents of Count von Hochberg in Germany, and was seeking further information about him. He added that if the Rumanian government found anything reflecting dishonor upon the count, it would intervene and advise against the maintenance of the engagement.

It generaly is expected here that an announcement annulling the engagment will be made when Queen Marie and the princess have returned from a trip to Egypt. Princess Ileana was the only member of the royal family to accompany Count von Hochberg to the station when he departed for London. The newspapers today commented on the coldness between the young couple.

FIVE KILLED, 64 INJURED IN N. J. GAS EXPLOSION

3 Blasts Rock City and Spread Terror.

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—A rapid series of three terrific explosions in the alcohol plant here of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon killed five workmen and injured 64 others. The blasts demolished the two-story concrete plant and spread terror for miles around the countryside.

Dead Are Mutilated.

Many of the injured were in such critical condition they were not expected to live. Others will recover, but they may be blind for the rest of their lives.

The five dead men were so mutilated the authorities at first were unable to identify them. Four were identified later.

They are William Duffy of Bayonne; William Casey, John Lubas, and Dominick Bonanini of Elizabeth. On the finger of another victim was a ring with the initials D. B.

Blamed on Fumes.

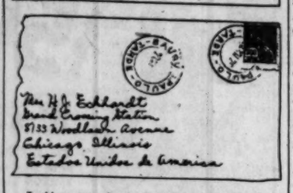
The cause of the explosion, which rocked part of Elizabeth and part of Linden, a suburb, was given in an unofficial report as being the accidental ignition of fumes that had leaked from a gas pipe line connected to the plant. The gas line extended from the high pressure stills to the alcohol plant in which there is a redistilling laboratory.

The three blasts were only seconds apart. They trapped some men inside the building, in which alcohol drums were stored. Small fires started almost at once in the building and in another plant about 500 feet away.

THE TRIBUNE CONTEST OF INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed. The sender of every envelope which is reproduced will be paid one dollar.

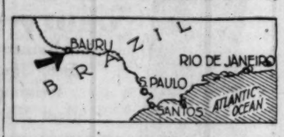
From Bauru, Brazil



Letter received by Mrs. H. J. Eckhardt, 8133 Woodlawn avenue, Chicago:

Bauru, the source of the above letter, is a small interior Brazilian town about 175 miles northwest of Sao Paulo, the coffee center of the largest of the South American countries, occupying nearly one-half of the continent. The coffee planters are suffering at present from overproduction, much as our own agriculturists.

Brazil was discovered in 1499 by



Vicente Yanez Pincan, a companion of Columbus.

The country was colonized by the Portuguese and in 1567 a settlement was established as Rio de Janeiro. The last emperor on the American continent, Dom Pedro II. of Brazil, reigned until 1889.

INITIALS ON DOOR NAME LEW CODY IN DIVORCE ACTION

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—The habit among Hollywood stars of carving their names and endearing legends in each other's dressing room doors resulted today in the naming of Lew Cody, handsome "butterfly man" of the screen, as the cause of a divorce between Capt. Wallace C. Ayer and his pretty wife, Olive May, of this city.

This disclosure was made in the Supreme court when Isaac N. Jacobson, counsel for Ayer, opposed Mrs. Ayer's motion for alimony and declared the couple had been legally divorced in Newport, Ky., last year. Cody is the husband of Mabel Normand, whom he married in 1926.

In affidavits filed with the court Capt. Ayer alleged that on a sudden trip to Hollywood he discovered his wife gowned in expensive clothes and wearing jewelry valued at $25,000 which he had not given her. A few days later he heard rumors his wife and the actor were friendly and it was well known in Hollywood the two were on affectionate terms.

"It was not long after this," Ayer told the court, "that I picked up a motion picture magazine and discovered a photograph of Lew Cody standing near the door of his dressing room on which were carved all sorts of wise cracks and endearing legends. All had been carved by Cody's fellow stars and some of them were cute little symbols.

"In the center of this unusual autograph album I was amazed to find the name of my wife and this little contribution:

"'A. W. O. L. X. Lew.'

"This legend was obviously significant and hardly needs explanation. It indicated the handsome Lew Cody was my wife's star and that she was A. W. O. L., that is, absent without leave from home, my home. I accused her of intimacies with Cody and she smiled. 'It's none of your business,' she said."

Mrs. Ayer was persuaded to return to New York, Capt. Ayer informed the court, and in October, 1926, he broke the news to her Cody had married Miss Normand.

"She was greatly disturbed," Ayer alleges, "and remarked that Mabel Normand had no right to marry him."

EHRHORN, 'TOO ILL TO WORK,' FOUND ON CITY PAY ROLL

Records Dispute Claim in Reinstatement Suit.

Edward H. Ehrhorn, who is suing for reinstatement as a city employé twenty-five years after his resignation under charges, is confronted with city hall records which dispute one of the claims in his Circuit court petition. His pleading states that he is in ill health and unable to carry on the duties of chief clerk in the city clerk's office, in which he asks reinstatement. He asks to be restored to the position for the purpose of obtaining a pension, and he says he will resign after holding it for one day.

Ehrhorn states that his physician told him last August that he would never be physically well enough to carry on the city hall job. But Corporation Counsel Ettelson's pay rolls show that Ehrhorn has been working for the city intermittently since March 1, 1929.

On Aug. 5, 1929, and Feb. 4, 1930, the dates Ehrhorn filed petitions for reinstatement, Ehrhorn was carried on the corporation counsel's roll.

Jobs Are Listed.

The positions held by Ehrhorn on the corporation counsel's pay roll, the term of each, and the amount of salary were given by Ettelson as follows:

Special investigator; appointed March 1, 1929; salary, $4,200 a year; dropped July 1, 1929.

Real estate valuator; appointed July 23, 1929; salary, $3,600 a year; dropped Aug. 15, 1929 [on the same day Ehrhorn was given an order for reinstatement by Judge Harry M. Fisher on his original petition].

Real estate valuator; reappointed Aug. 16, 1929; salary, $5,000 a year; dropped Nov. 8, 1929.

Real estate valuator; appointed Feb. 1, 1930; salary, $4,800 a year.

Ettelson was urged yesterday by the Citizens' Association of Chicago to contest the case which is now before Judge Stanley Klarkowski on an amended petition. Judge Fisher's order was vacated Dec. 28, 1929 by stipulation of Ettelson and Ehrhorn's attorney, John F. Tyrrell.

Resigns Under Fire.

Ehrhorn resigned as chief clerk in the city clerk's office in 1905 on the same day that he was to go on trial before the civil service commission on charges of fraudulently altering city records.

The change in the city records favored the Illinois Tunnel company, according to charges, by apparently giving council approval to the size of tubes being dug under the city streets. Ehrhorn was indicted with several other city officials and freed when the judge instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

GUNMAN ROBS SHOP MANAGER.

Charles P. Mowen, manager of a Becker cleaning and dyeing shop at 1402 East Marquette road, was robbed of $10 by a lone gunman last night.

SEEK EMERGENCY MILLIONS TODAY FROM TAXPAYERS

Citizens Submit Plan in Revenue Crisis.

its 18,960 corporate and sanitarium employés yesterday afternoon, except those who get their pay through vouchers.

The aggregate paid out was $1,851,138, of which the police obtained $682,549, the firemen, $307,591; the street cleaning force, $248,116; the health employés, $73,392; the corporation counsel's office, $21,824, and others, $517,666. The compensation paid is for the first half of January. The city owes its employés $4,000,000 more.

This money was dug up by City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson and City Controller George K. Schmidt. They used $990,000 of license fees, and borrowed the remainder from the vehicle tax fund.

These two officials took a chance last autumn in order to provide cash with which to pay city corporate employés. At the suggestion of the city council, they dipped into the trust and other surplus funds of the city for an aggregate of $11,665,106.09. In place of cash they have deposited in the city treasury the canceled pay checks, "as security."

As the fees for licenses and permits came in last month and this the treasurer and controller deposited $1,753,028.88 to the credit of the trust and surplus funds. Therefore the amount still owing the trust and surplus funds is $9,912,077.21.

The legality of the $11,665,000 loan of last fall has been questioned by private citizens, who hold that canceled pay checks are not security for any sort of a loan.

City and School Needs.

The greater part of the $74,000,000 estimated as the needs of the local government bodies until July 1 is required by the city and the school board, with smaller amounts needed by the county and the sanitary district. The school board has told the Strawn committee that the necessities of the system require $28,360,000 to keep going until the summer vacation arrives. They would spend $3,020,000 in January, $2,960,000 in February, $4,815,000 in March, $8,355,000 in April, $1,010,000 in May, and $8,200,000 in June.

Of the total of $28,360,000, teachers' salaries will require $21,975,000, civil service employés will take $4,350,000, coal will cost $850,000, and other expenses will add on $1,185,000.

Of the $26,531,189 which the city estimates it will need to pay its most urgent obligations against its corporate fund pay rolls it is estimated will require $19,309,235. Interest on bonds and tax warrants will eat up $4,532,189, which brings the two items to $23,841,424. That would leave $2,689,765 for other corporate expense during the half year.

Mayor Thompson was reported yesterday to be devoting his energy to preparing a plan for the prospective session of the state legislature. The mayor thinks that real estate pays too large a part of the total tax bill, but he has not disclosed his remedy.

Gifts Received for Family of Unpaid County Employe

Two checks have been received by THE TRIBUNE to be forwarded to Mrs. Mary Mankowski, Cook County hospital scrubwoman whose family was found in destitute circumstances because the county has not paid her her salary for eight weeks. M. E. Henry sent $5 and Mary Estella Smith $10 for the family, which will be forwarded. Miss Katherine Radcliffe of Highland Park wrote that she and her office associates purchased $13 worth of groceries for the Mankowskis with a fund they made up.

Swiss Boys Send Donation to Keep Our Schools Open

The board of education yesterday received financial aid from Europe. Reading in the newspapers of the threatened shut down of Chicago's schools because of the board's inability to pay a $470,000 coal bill, three young students in Davos-Platz, Switzerland, mailed five new Swiss postage stamps to the board with the request that they be used to help keep the schools open.

And such apple pies! Incomparable in goodness! Crusts so flakily light they fairly melt in your mouth. You can't really call them crusts—Filled to overflowing with tart, flavorful apples, ripened in the sunshine of Eastern valleys. Baked as only our bakers know how—to a juicy tenderness in the rich, golden-brown shell. Superlative goodness. Apple pie week at Messinger's.

SWANSON GETS REBUKE IN WAR ON GUN TOTERS

One Youth Fined $50, One Is Put on Probation.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Julius Kopiet, assault to rob, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Alex Kucharski, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Otha Brower, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge William N. Gemmill.

State's Attorney Swanson's campaign to punish gun toters received a setback yesterday when his first two cases were heard in court. The defendants were two youthful gun carriers. Judge Harry Fisher in the Criminal court dismissed one young man with a minimum fine of $50 and a rebuke for the state's attorney's office, and Municipal Judge Francis Allegretti placed the other defendant under probation.

Judge Fisher criticized the prosecutor's office for indicting Thomas Vinceri, 21 years old, 642 North Homan avenue. The evidence showed that Vinceri was arrested on Feb. 11 while departing from a garage at 739 North Homan avenue where he had just left his automobile. He was carrying a revolver, he admitted, but pleaded that he needed the weapon to protect himself.

Testimony Justifies Police.

The police were searching for bandits who had just committed a robbery in the neighborhood and were justified in seizing Vinceri, the testimony indicated. But investigation by the state's attorney's office showed that Vinceri was a steady workman at his trade of cabinet making and did not make a living as a gunman, the judge pointed out.

"This boy is technically guilty," Judge Fisher said. "But it is clear that he is not a gangster or hoodlum. He should never have been indicted and he is not the type of man whom the police are after in their present campaign."

Oliver Locke, 20 years old, 710 Lake street, Maywood, told Judge Allegretti that he had just stepped out of his home with his father's revolver when he fell into the police net spread to catch gunmen. Assistant State's Attorney E. O. Hutchins recommended leniency in view of the boy's past good record and the judge put Locke on probation.

Two Caught in Gun Net.

William Diggs, 19 years old, 6800 Sheridan road, and Ralph Dickson, 27 years old, 2401 Lunt avenue, were arrested yesterday. Both were armed with pistols and said they were going to the city limits for target practice. Diggs boasted that the .45 automatic pistol in his possession was the weapon used by his uncle, the late Tim Murphy, slain labor leader.

Policeman Frank J. Reynolds, who shot and killed his eighth bandit two days ago, was promoted to a sergeancy by Police Commissioner Russell and highly praised for his bravery. Reynolds earned THE TRIBUNE $100 hero award when he fought a duel with a maniac Negro cultist last fall.

PARENTS AND 2 GIRLS, CAUGHT SHOPLIFTING, WIN MERCY IN COURT

Carmen Cicarelli, 52 years old, a laborer in the steel mills at Gary, Ind.; his wife, Helen, 46 years old; and their daughters, Regina, 20 years old, and Marie, 18, were arraigned before Judge Immenhausen yesterday on a charge of shoplifting. They had been arrested in a loop department store Monday morning. The girls had stolen a dress apiece, the mother had taken a princess slip, and the father was caught stuffing a night shirt under his coat, according to police testimony.

"I don't know why we started out to steal, judge," Cicarelli pleaded. "We've never done it before. I've worked fifteen years in the mills and have always supported my family. It must have been the sight of all those pretty things that tempted us."

The judge granted them a year's probation.

BURGLARS BEAT AGED MAN; LOOT N. CHICAGO HOME

Two robbers broke into the home of Max Przyborski, chairman of the Republican central committee of Lake county, at 1415 Lincoln street, North Chicago, last night, and, after slugging and chloroforming Przyborski's father, Martin, 71 years old, ransacked the fifteen room home, taking money, jewelry, and clothing. Although the amount of the loot could not be determined exactly, it was believed the total would be several thousand dollars.

Przyborski, who is an assistant attorney general of the state, conducting the business of Attorney General Carlstrom's office in Lake county, is at present in Florida on a vacation with his wife. He is expected to return at the end of this week. A trunk and a suitcase which he had sent from Miami Beach and which had arrived at his home yesterday were among the loot taken by the robbers.

The elder Przyborski was in bed when the marauders entered the residence through a dining room window.

SECRETS OF GERMAN "BIG BERTHA" TO BE TOLD TO ARMY MEN

Secrets of construction in the Krupp gun, Big Bertha, with which the German shelled Paris from a range of 75 miles during the world war, will be revealed at a meeting of the artillery reserve officers of Chicago at a dinner this evening in the Hotel La Salle. Prof. H. W. Miller of the school of engineering, University of Michigan, will deliver an illustrated lecture on the subject of Big Bertha. Prof. Miller, who is a ballistics expert, spent ten years collecting data on long range guns and has studied archives and arsenals of France, Germany, and Austria.

PREMIER HUNTING FRENCH MAY TURN AGAIN TO TARDIEU

Radicals Want Spoils, but Fear to Rule.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 18.—The French appear to intend to take their own sweet time in getting a government together that will pick up the thread of the naval reduction negotiations in London where Andre Tardieu, former premier, was forced to drop it.

After a day of conversations with the political nabobs, President Gaston Doumergue has found out tonight only what he already knew, that the situation is a mess and that the fact that there is a conference being held up in London means very little to most French politicians.

Nobody was called to Elysée palace today to be charged with forming a government and there is no indication tonight that President Doumergue has the slightest idea on whom to call.

Country Wants Tardieu Back.

Logically M. Tardieu should succeed M. Tardieu. The cabinet's policy as a whole was in no way condemned by last night's surprise vote which brought down the ministry. To the victors belong the spoils in French politics. But the victors in this case, the Radical Socialists, appear to want a batch of cabinet jobs, but not the responsibility of ruling. They will meet tomorrow to decide on their policy.

And the country wants M. Tardieu. There is no doubt about that. There is a Tardieu legend already abroad in France and a story of mystic belief that he alone can protect the French interests against the Anglo-Saxon machinations in London. Every paper in France that is at all independent is savage in condemnation of the radical conspirators for ambushing the ministry at such a time.

May Try It Again.

But M. Tardieu is still ill and his doctors fear his laryngitis may develop into something more serious.

"Louis Jean Malvy, Camille Chautemps and that radical crowd did it. Now let them take the responsibility and form a government of their own," he said in disgusted tones this morning.

Later in the day he began to feel better and decided he would have to try if President Doumergue asks him.

M. Poincare saw President Doumergue today, but he seemed none too strong as he left Elysee palace and it is feared that he would be unable to stand the strain of taking over the government. Aristide Briand's followers are doing their utmost to maneuver the old war horse into his thirteenth prime ministry, but in many quarters it is feared that he would prove too agreeable to the Anglo-Saxon combine in London if he went back there all alone.

I. C. TO REMOVE MORE STEAM ENGINES FROM ITS SERVICE IN CITY

As an additional act of compliance with the provisions of the lake front ordinance the Illinois Central railroad announced yesterday that beginning tomorrow it will discontinue the operation of steam trains on its western line farther north than Roosevelt road.

The western line serves commuters at 25 stations on the Freeport division, terminating at Addison, and four trains each way are operated every week-day. Passengers using these trains will hereafter transfer to electric trains at Roosevelt road and nothing but electric trains will use the Van Buren and Randolph street stations.

The removal of steam locomotives from freight service north of Randolph street also is scheduled for tomorrow. This marks the virtual completion of the railroad's electrification so far as Grant Park is concerned, officials of the road said.

Burns Received at Play Are Fatal to Girl of 5

Five year old Margie Reed died yesterday in the county hospital of burns suffered Monday in her home, 1741 Maypole avenue. The child was playing around the kitchen stove when her dress caught fire. Her mother, Mrs. Gladys Iglehart, heard Margie's screams and wrapped her in blankets to smother the flames, but not before the child had been severely burned about the face, hands and chest.

Slayer of Wife Is Found Guilty of Manslaughter

Max Braun, 37 years old, 5337 Montrose avenue, was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday by a jury in Judge Daniel P. Trude's court for killing his wife, Josephine, on Nov. 24, 1929. Mrs. Braun died of knife wounds inflicted by Braun during a quarrel over a divorce action filed by the wife. Braun will be sentenced to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary.

Youth Is Hunted for Shooting in Poolroom

Maxwell street police last night were seeking Jerry Petruzzelli, 18 years old, 733 De Koven street, in connection with the possibly fatal shooting of Joseph Spizzio, 1004 South Peoria street, in the poolroom of Corrados Infantino at 765 Taylor street. Circumstances pointed to Petruzzelli as the assailant of Spizzio, despite the latter's assertion that "it was all an accident," police said.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to normal action, clearing the blood and purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effects. 15c, 30c, 60c.

LONG ISLAND RUM SMUGGLERS HAVE GUARDS BEATEN

Their Officers Admit It Can't Be Stopped.

Easthampton, L. I., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Under present conditions it is impossible to prevent the landing of liquor on the north and south shores of Long Island, according to testimony of coast guard officials at the John Doe inquiry today into charges of indiscriminate firing upon local citizens by coast guardsmen in search of rum runners.

Twenty-two witnesses testified before Justice Harry Leek. They were questioned at length by District Attorney Alexander G. Blue of Suffolk county, who acted on complaints of several citizens that they had been fired on by coast guardsmen while at Oyster Pond beach and while returning from a Masonic club dance given by the Montauk Square club last week.

Warns Against Shooting.

At the close of the hearing Justice Leek announced there was not sufficient evidence on which he could issue warrants, but warned the coast guardsmen against the use of firearms and the indiscriminate stopping of automobiles on the highways.

Coast Guard Commander C. J. Sullivan, in charge of the district; Capt. Franklin D. Warner, in charge of the station at Ditch Plains, and Capt. Julian L. Gray, commander of the Navajoe coast guard station, all testified that under present conditions the coast guard could not prevent liquor from reaching the shores of Long Island because of lack of men and equipment.

Commander Sullivan declared orders had been issued to the personnel under his command not to fire at automobiles and to use great caution in the stopping of automobiles on the highways. He declared that because of persistent complaints that trucks and commercial vehicles were being used to transport liquor along the Long Island highways the coast guardsmen were ordered to stop and search such vehicles.

Raid Brooklyn Speakeasy.

New York, Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Coercion which Prohibition Administrator Maurice Campbell is receiving from Howard W. Ameli, Brooklyn's crusading United States attorney, resulted in the raid of a Brooklyn speakeasy today, the bar and furnishings being carried off by the agents. The raid was made under the internal revenue laws which provide that the furnishings and interior of an establishment may be confiscated for failure to pay a liquor tax. Mr. Ameli, who thinks he has a chance to put Brooklyn's 10,000 speakeasies out of business, led the raid.

Make Hauls at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Border patrol inspectors of the customs and the immigration services have made four seizures of liquor in the last 24 hours—two on Grosse Ile. Airplane pictures in a newspaper had showed the routes followed by rum runners bringing liquor over the ice from Amherstburg to Bob-Lo park and then to Grosse Ile. Yesterday afternoon inspectors found ninety-seven cases of assorted liquor stored in a vacant house on Grosse Ile.

Today A. H. Parker, who lives on the island, was arrested. In his car was found liquor, including forty-one cases of beer, four cases of whisky, a case of champagne, and a case of gin.

Twenty cases of whisky were also found today in a car at Stony Point.

Aviator Admits Rum Cargo.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 18.—(AP)—C. R. Heilegenstein, 22, Detroit aviator, has admitted that he brought a load of liquor here in his plane which was forced down last night, Sheriff W. A. McFarland said today. Officers are seeking a "blonde haired woman."

WETS MOBILIZE AS HOUSE INQUIRY REOPENS TODAY

Many Dry Foes in Capital Ready to Testify.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—With a score of outstanding anti-prohibitionists marshalled as witnesses the wet forces on Capitol hill today completed plans for a renewal of their onslaught upon the 18th amendment when the house judiciary committee resumes its prohibition hearings tomorrow. The drys will testify next week.

Those in favor of the repeal and modification resolutions which the committee is considering have been allotted two more days, tomorrow and Thursday, to complete their case before the drys appear, and the wets expect to make the most of their time. Representative J. Charles Linthicum [Dem., Md.], generalissimo of the liberals, tonight described the list of lawyers, physicians, publishers, and business executives ready to testify as in itself "eloquent evidence that prohibition is a failure."

Will Testify Tomorrow.

Ralph M. Shaw, member of the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, and a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, is the only Chicagoan definitely scheduled to appear. He will testify Thursday.

Mr. Linthicum announced, however, that he would ask the committee to extend the rebuttal time of the wets in which case several other Chicago officials and civic leaders, invited by Representative Adolph Sabath [Dem., Ill.] to appear, may be given an opportunity to do so. Among these are Police Commissioner William F. Russell, State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Pat Roche, chief investigator for Mr. Swanson.

Representative Sabath said today that he had received word from Mr. Swanson and Mr. Roche that urgent affairs would keep them in Chicago this week and that he has heard definitely from none of the other Chicagoans.

Stayton First Witness.

At tomorrow's session Representative Linthicum will make the opening statement and introduce Capt. W. H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Henry B. Joy, Detroit millionaire and former head of the Packard Motor company, is scheduled as the third witness. Among those expected to follow will be:

Dr. Samuel Harden Church, Pittsburgh, president of Carnegie institute; Dr. Charles Morris, New York health officer; Col. Grayson M. P. Murphy, New York director of Bethlehem Steel company; Benedict Crowell, Cleveland, former assistant secretary of war; Dr. L. W. Williams, New York, head of the New York Academy of Medicine.

While preparations were going forward for the hearing tomorrow, a subcommittee of the judiciary committee today failed to reach an agreement on the Christopherson bills to carry out proposals of the Wickersham commission and referred them to the full committee without a recommendation. One of the measures provides for trial of minor liquor cases by United States commissioners. Another tightens the prohibition padlock law.

Henry A. Born Ordered to Pay Alimony or Go to Jail

Henry A Born, wealthy refrigerator manufacturer, was ordered to pay $430 in alimony arrears to his estranged wife, Mrs. Edith Wilmans Born, by Monday or go to jail, when he appeared before Superior Judge Sabath yesterday. Mrs. Born, a former member of the Texas legislature and twice a candidate for the nomination for governorship of that state, is suing for separate maintenance on charges of cruelty.

WHEN A RECEIVERSHIP IS NOT A RECEIVERSHIP.

Intimations have gone out that the Strawn committee will make no effort to supervise the expenditure of money loaned to the local governments under its auspices. Discredited public officials, that is to say, will not be required to justify their expenditures.

If this represents the policy of the committee it is cause for regret to the citizens and taxpayers who must eventually repay the loans with interest. To an even greater extent it is cause for apprehension to the great majority of men and women on the pay rolls of the local governments. These employés do an honest day's work for wages which are not large. They have suffered hardships in consequence of a financial crisis for which they have been in no part responsible. If the Strawn committee does not supervise the expenditure of the money allotted to the local governments many of the employés performing essential services conscientiously will continue to suffer as they have in the past for the benefit of the political leeches who work only on pay day.

The cold fact is that in all probability the committee cannot raise enough money to meet all the expenditures approved in the appropriation ordinances of all the local governments. It follows that if the firemen, policemen, teachers, doctors, nurses, and other essential public servants are to be paid in full the superfluous pay rollers of the license bureau, the corporation counsel's offices and elsewhere can't be paid; and vice versa. The choice has to be made between essential and non-essential services and between essential and non-essential employés. The local governments, especially the city and the school board, have proved themselves unable or unwilling to separate the wheat from the chaff. Only incorrigible optimists could expect voluntary improvement now, on the eve of the primaries, when a discredited political machine is in most need of funds.

The elected officials, of course, wish to save face, and it is possible that the members of the committee have graciously permitted them to do so while the committee, in fact, retains control of the purse strings. If this is the fact, it indicates a serious and disquieting lack of foresight on the part of the committee. This is not the moment to sugar-coat the truth. The loans which the committee is to make must be advanced for the most part by banks and by individual taxpayers of means. We doubt if either the banks or the taxpayers will be disposed to make the necessary investments in anticipation warrants, excellent as the security may be, unless there is some assurance that the money will not be frittered away as so much of the public funds have been perverted in the past. Indeed, the chief hope of raising even enough money to pay the essential employés is the creation of confidence in the public mind that the money to be advanced will be kept out of the pockets of the ward heelers and grafters.

That end can be achieved only by a sort of receivership. We venture to say there is not an important industrial, commercial or financial house in Chicago which will not willingly lend trustworthy executives and technicians to the committee, men who can go into the public offices and determine promptly where expenditures have been excessive and point out savings which can be made. Upon a program of expenditures based upon the reports of these men the committee can go to the public for funds and expect to get the money needed without difficulty. Such a course is demanded as much in the interest of the honest and conscientious employés as of the taxpayers themselves.

JURIES AND FEDERAL PROSECUTION.

Reports from the federal building indicate that the grand jury is showing reluctance to vote indictments in liquor law cases in which government evidence has been presented. The coolness of the jury has caused comment in and about the prosecutor's office, and it is predicted that if the attitude is continued there will be fewer true bills.

This at least is the consistent history of prosecution under oppressive law. Government evidence presented in such cases loses credibility. The agents of enforcement become discredited as witnesses. Their acts as enforcers withdraw public confidence from them. Their own drift is toward irresponsibility and unlawful measures in getting evidence, toward entrapment, wire tapping, unlawful search and seizure, violence and disregard of rights. An oppressive law brings about a deterioration in the personnel of enforcement, and as it becomes discredited and discreditable its evidence is rejected as questionable or worthless by the citizens serving on grand and petit juries and asked to vote indictments and convictions.

That is the uniform history of such laws.

MR. HOOVER FACING HIS TEST.

President Hoover is filling out the first year of his administration with the senate largely unamenable to his ideas of legislation and administration. It is unusual for a President whose election, on the face of its returns, seemed to be one of popular confidence and even enthusiasm, which in this case broke old traditions and established new political conditions, to find himself virtually immobilized by such opposition. A new President generally is in a strong position in the early part of his administration and may be strong in beginning another term.

It is true that a good deal of what Mr. Hoover finds on his hands was what Mr. Coolidge had on his. It was not of much consequence to Mr. Coolidge. He was strong with the majority in his party, even if he so often needed the veto in dealing with congress and had small chance toward the end of having his policies accepted by the radicals in the senate. He was retiring from office and was not a candidate for reëlection. His opposition could not ruin him, wreck his administration, or spoil his reputation. He did not try much to placate it or to compromise with it, or at all to get a benefit from it.

To the elements which sought every opportunity to make trouble for Coolidge several have been added to make trouble for Hoover. They arose out of the conditions of his election. They deserted their natural political affiliations to support him against their own candidate because their own candidate was a wet and also because they were opposed to his religion.

If Mr. Hoover thought—and it would seem that he did—that he could hold all the various constituent parts of his election strength together and base an administration on that theory he was badly mistaken. In the election Mr. Borah was a forerunner with glad tidings. Every other day now Mr. Borah is out on the doorstep ripping his garments and crying out against the iniquities of the government. The drys, whom Mr. Hoover has tried hard to please, refuse to admit him to fellowship. In the senate men like Norris and Brookhart threaten to tear prohibition enforcement to pieces with investigations to prove that it is corrupt and worthless.

After a six month fight the drys, Capper and Allen, forced Mr. Hoover to make a judicial appointment to which he was opposed and to which he should have remained opposed, that of Hopkins, to the district bench in Kansas. When he made an appointment which he wanted to make, that of Hughes to be chief justice of the Supreme court, the radicals took four days filling the record with their comments upon the unfitness of the appointment.

Mr. Hoover tried to satisfy the pacifists by substituting the Kellogg treaty for the American navy, but all the fumbling the American delegation in London has done to bring this about has produced only pacifist uproar in Washington against what they call the irresolution of the administration in making for peace by the surrender of defense.

The President will never satisfy the people with whom he has tried to keep an alignment. In their excesses they will always be miles beyond him and denouncing him as a laggard. In following them he can find a great deal of grief and humiliation, but he cannot create an administration. He should take counsel of his own intelligence and moderation in forming his policies and in taking his measures, ignoring the clamor of political quacks, impractical theorists, bigots and extremists, and relying upon the intelligence and moderation of the majority of the American people.

A FAIR PROPOSAL FOR BRIDGE CLOSING.

Ald. Guernsey's suggestions for a revision of the regulations of bridge hours are admirable and we hope they will be urged upon the war department. If there is any disposition on the part of the local shipping interests to be fair to the community they will accept a plan so reasonable and just to all concerned. The interest of this great metropolis in well considered relief is really the interest of all the users of the river and sooner or later a proper adjustment will be made. It should be made now, not after long wrangling and costly delays. Ald. Guernsey's proposals will give urgently needed relief without serious inconvenience to river traffic. The present rules are injurious to the greater interests involved, and in the long run to the special interests which are resisting reform.

THE FOREST WAY.

The advisory committee for the forest preserve, headed by Gen. Abel Davis, coöperating with the forest commission of the county board, presents a plan for a highway lined with trees from Des Plaines to Palos which we hope will not fail of accomplishment. Any one who has traveled abroad with an eye to natural beauty has admired the many magnificent tree lined highways established by the taste and foresight of European governments. The county project looks to the future and we hope will fix the perspective of our policy of local improvements. A well kept tree lives a long time and is a thing of beauty to succeeding generations as well as our own. Trees last hundreds of years and the forest highway will reflect honor upon its founders and on our generation long after they have passed away. In our prairie land an avenue of great trees will have a special value and will inspire imitation throughout the west.

The Other Side

MEXICAN LABOR.

[Sioux City Journal.]

Chairman Legge of the federal farm board, in protesting against drastic restriction of immigrant Mexican labor, logically followed a line of economic reasoning that is both important and interesting. He showed how in particular farming areas of the southwest conditions were such as would bring a serious shortage of farm labor if Mexicans were held to a low quota.

In the areas described by Mr. Legge production is devoted to vegetables and small fruits. The work of cultivation requires much stooping, bending, and working on the knees. It is not attractive to American farm labor, and for years it has been done by Mexicans. In extensive areas in California the same kind of work has been performed by Japanese and Chinese almost exclusively.

Obviously such a condition as Mr. Legge has described ought to be considered as affecting proposals to limit immigration from Mexico. Yet if a quota arrangement were made it should not exceed the actual needs of the farmers of the southwest. Immigration restriction from the first has been for the double purpose of protecting the country from undesirables and of safeguarding American labor. It should not be employed at any time to work a hardship on American business.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the gnips fall where they may.

WE WERE READING YESTERDAY IN THE PAPERS—

that four bandits down in La Porte, Ind., had some difficulty in blowing open a safe weighing two hundred pounds, so they put the safe on a dray and hauled it over to the woods, where they wouldn't be hurried or bothered or anything, and there opened it at their leisure and helped themselves to the contents.

Which teaches us a lesson. These bandits are getting too darned gay. They back up a truck whenever they feel like it and take safes, ice boxes, and whole furnished flats. We talk about the necessity for law, but what are we going to do when they put the courthouse on rollers and carry it off with 'em? They won't stop at anything these days. It might be a good idea to put postoffices and courthouses and banks down in deep caves in the ground.

But what's to stop 'em from stealing the caves? Nothing! And this thing keeps on and gets worse and worse. We go home and find bandits in complete possession of the house and we're tied up and have court-plaster pasted over our mouths and are thrown into a closet or a cellar with the wife, the children, hired girl, the maid, the cook, and the butler, to say nothing of the hound. We put our money in a burglar proof safe and they steal the safe. We rely on the courthouse for law and they steal the courthouse.

What are we going to do about it? Nobody knows. We might say that some day they will go too far. And then we look around and find they've stolen the First Methodist church, the Sheep Drovers' Marine bank, the Doodad Bros. Square Clothing Store, and the Empire Grocery and Fresh Meats Emporium. We'd say more, but they will probably steal this speech before it gets down to the composing room—so, what's the use?

To Certain Lachrymose Bards.

Why need you shed upon your verse
So many tender tears?
You swathe your Muse in mourning
To her melancholy ears!

"The farther off from England
The nearer is to France;"
There's not a gloomy spot on earth
That's worth a second glance;

And if you die of straining still
To make your verses drearier,
'Tis well; you can't be much the worse,
And all the world's the cheerier.

ALL THE PATRIOTS who are running for senator, congressmen-at-large, congressmen-who-will-not-be-allowed-to-run-at-large, city treasurer, county treasurer, state senator, state representative, state misrepresentative, national representative, national misrepresentative, dog pelter, and so on, and so on, and so on have now stepped out into the open and the campaign is on. WAIT! We wish to correct the above list of candidates. In carefully going over the city telephone (a most engrossing book, but don't tell us how it ends, we want to find out for ourself) we note an error in our statement that every one is running for office. An exception must be made in the case of XTERM X, who manifestly is not a candidate because he is an Incorporated Insecticides, and naturally an Incorporated Insecticides is not itching for office.

Look Out! He's Gotta Knife!

Yes, and while we don't want to scoop Fanny Butcher, who hasn't had a chance at Cliff Raymond's new story, The Men on the Dead Man's Chest, but we finished it last night, and we can't wait to say we got a big kick out of it. It's as up to date as today's newspaper, and you'll know your Chicago better and this strange topsy turvy mess of things that surrounds today if you read it. And it's snappy and funny, although readers of detective stories are a sad, serious race. But all that worries us after we put the book down and that haunts us yet is about that knife, "the hunting knife which opened a blade at each end, four inch blades in a silver mounted teakwood handle with a silver shield inset and carved in exquisite and minute lettering with the words: 'España; á sangre, á carne, á fuego, á sacco,' the cry of the Spanish troops in the Fury of Antwerp." That knife is tickling our ribs right now. We can't figger out how it got there, but dinged if we could figger out how it got on old Asa Darling's table either, and we lay awake all night trying to. Clifford, help, help!

LAGNIAPPE.

THE JOLLY OLD KING is coming back to London, and that means a grand state banquet to the naval peace delegates. And the marquis and marchioness of Londonerry are giving a big eating party tonight, and the first lord of the admiralty and the second lord of the admiralty and the master of the buckhounds and the rest of the peerage are all doing their duty. It looks as though we ought to call our delegates home and send in a new bunch of shock troops who will have established reputation as good, A1, two-fisted, never say quit champion eaters.

THERE'S ALWAYS something to be thankful for. The people who work for the county of Cook or city of Chicago, and who are back one, two, or three months, or what have you on their pay, should be glad that the thirteen months a year plan has not yet been adopted.

BETTER BABY DEATH ROLL.

BABIES did not fare quite as well in 1928 as they did in the preceding year. Nevertheless, the baby death rate of the United States, taking the country and city together, is very close to fifty, the figure which New Zealand set for us in 1914 and which we have been trying since then to reach.

As in all previous years since the American Child Health association began these yearly reports the states of the Pacific slope have proved their class, the cities of that region outranking those of other parts of the country.

In this year's report the cities of Washington state rank first, followed by Idaho, Oregon, North Dakota, Utah, California, Minnesota, Nebraska, Connecticut, Montana, Vermont, New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Wisconsin, Florida, New Jersey, Indiana, Rhode Island, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, New Hampshire, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kentucky, West Virginia, Wyoming, Maryland, Maine, Louisiana, Colorado, Mississippi, Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina, and Arizona. Since Texas, New Mexico, and South Dakota do not keep books there is no way of knowing whether they are bankrupt. The three Pacific coast states are in the first six and of this group two of the remainder are nearby mountain states. Among the upper Mississippi valley ratings are: North Dakota, fourth; Minnesota, seventh. New England gets ninth with Connecticut, the south sixteenth with Florida.

Among the cities of 250,000 and over Seattle and Portland divided first honors, followed by San Francisco. Among the cities of 100,000 to 250,000 Oakland leads, followed by Spokane, Des Moines, and Cambridge.

Among those with 50,000 to 100,000, Berkeley leads, with Union City, N. J., and Long Beach, Cal., following. Among those with 25,000 to 50,000, Alameda, Cal., stood first, followed by Medford, Mass.; Oak Park, Ill., and Everett, Mass. In the group with populations of 10,000 to 25,000, Holland, Mich., was low, followed by Braintree, Mass., and Stonington, Conn.

Racial stocks entering into the population was a considerable factor in the health of babies. The Scandinavian stocks can be counted on to have healthy, vigorous babies. How much of this is due to foods and family customs and how much to some peculiarity of the stock no man can say. On the other hand, the Slavic peoples have trouble in rearing their babies. The Italians come in between, but nearer the Slav end of the line. Negroes and Mexicans have high sickness rates always and everywhere.

AN UNHEALTHFUL JOB.

P. H. T. writes: I am working in a cleaning factory with seven pressing machines in use. The temperature is 85 to 90 degrees. My fellow worker never raises his window when it is cold. He objects to mine being raised enough to keep from getting too hot. He says that the cold air makes the legs and shoulders stiff, as well as gives colds. Yet he wears B. V. D.'s in zero weather. Is it detrimental to the health to go right out into the cold, with an overcoat, of course?

REPLY:

Doubtless conditions where you work are not good. A temperature of 85 to 90 is harmful to health, particularly if the air is very moist, as it probably is in a cleaning factory. If cold air enters such a room it doubtless goes straight to the floor. The occupants suffer from hot heads and cold feet. It is also probable that there are gasoline fumes or other fumes in the room.

Going out suddenly is not entirely safe, even though well wrapped.

AN ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Mrs. A. M. writes: 1. Should a baby, 6 months old, be tied in an upright position in a chair if he has difficulty in holding his head erect? Is it proper to tease him to walk or stand?

2. What food besides breast milk should be given?

3. It is proper to use a cone made of newspaper as a means of overcoming constipation?

REPLY:

1. Babies should not be tempted to sit, stand, or walk prematurely. A healthy baby will try when he is ready.

2. Fruit juice, ergosterol or codliver oil in winter and spring, thin cereal, and strained vegetable soup.

3. Rather too severe. A soapstick or glycerin suppository is enough.

PROBABLY NOT SERIOUS.

Mrs. J. S. writes: Will you please advise whether 102 blood pressure in a woman of 51 years is serious. I have been a very active woman [the mother of six children], and lately seem to have lost all pep and the easiest task seems a hardship. I feel well enough otherwise with the exception of pains continually in all of my bones and joints.

REPLY:

Low blood pressure causes discomfort and inefficiency but otherwise is safe enough.

BOUGHT FUR COAT.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A, knowing nothing about furs, buys a fur coat. Is sold a coat which she later discovers must be a second hand one. 1. Can anything be done about it? 2. Is there a place in Chicago where one can get information regarding furs? 3. Furriers? J. L.

1. In general, where the goods are inspected at time of purchase visible defects are regarded as waived. We do not see how the fact that the coat was second hand is material unless it is visibly worn.

2. Any reputable furrier.

3. We know of no public office which compares dealers.

STUDENT IMMIGRANT NOT SUBJECT TO QUOTA.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—[Friend of the People.]—May a student in Poland come to this country to study in a dental school? If so, must he come under the quota and how long can he stay?

S. Z.

A student may enter the country as a nonquota immigrant if he comes to the United States to study in some school that is approved by the secretary of labor.

There is no time limit given, but he must depart when he has completed his course of study.

The boy should apply at the American consulate nearest his home in Poland for an appropriate visa.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 19, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Announcement of the occupation of Columbia, S. C., and the probable evacuation of Charleston is contained in a telegram from Gen. Grant to the war department. It says: "The Richmond Dispatch of this morning [18th] says that Gen. Sherman entered Columbia yesterday morning, and its fall necessitates, it presumes, the fall of Charleston, which it thinks is already being evacuated." The Dispatch article goes on to say that it is impossible to tell where Sherman will strike next, but "we are disposed to believe he will next strike at Charlotte, 100 miles north of Columbia." It continues: "There was a report yesterday that Sherman also had captured Augusta, but this we do not believe."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A dispatch from City Point says: "The rebel flag of truce boat, William Allison, while on her upward trip today from Coxe's landing, was blown up by a torpedo and sank almost immediately. Our pickets say there were no survivors. No prisoners were on board at the time. The torpedo probably was one of the rebels' own which had been in the water a long time."

NEW YORK.—President Lincoln has issued a respite in the case of the Lake Erie rebel pirate, Capt. Beall, and he will not be hanged on Governor's island today. A Washington special to the World says the respite was granted because of a petition to the President signed by the Republican members of congress.

NEW YORK.—The Richmond papers carry an official announcement of the appointment of Brig. Gen. Gideon Pillow as rebel commissary general of prisoners to succeed Gen. Winder.

CHICAGO.—N. T. Wright of Chicago and Miss Carrie F. Benedict were married in Troy, N. Y., on Feb. 16.

LONDON.—Late reports from Natal indicate that the Boers are shifting about Ladysmith and are preparing either to divide forces in order to meet the new movements of Gen. Roberts or to abandon the siege of Ladysmith altogether. Dispatches from Jacobsdal indicate that Gen. Cronje is taking his time in retreating from Kimberley before the forces of Gens. French and Kelly-Kenny. The Boer position at Magersfontein has been taken by Gen. Pole-Carew.

NEW YORK.—Roland B. Molineux, convicted of the murder of Kate J. Adams, spent his first Sunday in Sing Sing. For the first time since his arrest he passed a day without seeing any member of his family, his counsel, or any friends. Yet he was as cheerful as ever.

CHICAGO.—The congregation of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, at the first service held since the burning of the church on Feb. 14, decided to build a new edifice. It is not determined whether it will be built on the site of the destroyed structure.

NEW YORK.—Anna Gould, Countess de Castellane, comparing the society of France and the United States in an interview, declares that Americans are deficient in etiquette. She says American women wear too much jewelry.

CHICAGO.—State's Attorney Hoyne sent an opinion to Sheriff Charles W. Peters at the behest of several civic bodies advising him that he will violate the law if he permits prisoners in the county jail whose windows overlook the death chamber to witness the hanging of "Smiling Jack" O'Brien, set for tomorrow morning. Sheriff Peters replied that he believed Mr. Hoyne had misconstrued the law and that the prisoners would not be moved from their cells. Among those in such cells are "Big Tim" Murphy and Mike Carrozo, held in connection with the "Moss" Enright slaying.

PARIS.—Paul Deschanel, who took office as president today, sends to the American people a message asking that the United States and France remain in close bonds of friendship for the good of humanity and the peace of the world. The new French president sees in that union a hope for international tranquility.

CHICAGO. — Miss Barbara Dale, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. George L. A. Dale, 1500 Birchwood avenue, at a military wedding in the Rogers Park Presbyterian church, became the bride of Maj. Martin Anderson, in the uniform he wore as chaplain at Great Lakes, performed the ceremony.

CHICAGO. — Mayor Thompson's court fight to force a return to 5 cent street car fares received a crushing blow in the Supreme court, which held that the public utilities commission acted within its rights in fixing fares at 7 cents despite the city's contract with the surface lines which calls for a 5 cent fare.

THE WHEAT SITUATION.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—The wheat crop of 1929 was estimated in the government crop report at 808,000,000 bushels; amount carried over from the previous year, 245,000,000; total supplies, 1,053,000,000. Home needs, bread and seed, 630,000,000; surplus for export, 423,000,000 bushels. Exports to Jan. 1, 90,000,000 bushels; surplus for export for the ensuing six months, 333,000,000.

It is quite possible to export 50,000,000 bushels between Jan. 1 and July 1, 1930, although with a buyer's strike against North American wheat in Europe it looks unlikely, as clearances of wheat and flour so far this year are very light compared to last year. This would leave 283,000,000 bushels.

What are you going to do with this unsold surplus? Tax the city dwellers and increase cost of bread for the benefit of about one-sixth of the population who insist on producing more wheat than can be sold at a reasonable price? How long will the other five-sixths of the workers in the cities stand for this great experiment in socialism? I predict, when the farm board applies for another revolving fund of $500,000,000 of the people's money which they will need soon, there will be such a protest to congress by an outraged public that congress will hesitate to continue this wholly unsound scheme.

THE CANADIAN WHEAT POOL.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Several months past the magazine World's Work had a very flattering article on the Canadian wheat pool, in which it stated that the pool sales manager was probably the world's greatest salesman; and if he now succeeds in unloading 125 millions of bushels of wheat on the Canadian government as outlined in your Sunday edition, I will admit he is great. He is the victim of the Brookhart-Caraway school of emotional substitutes for economics, which holds that price control always lies in the hands of the owner of property.

The grain trade has always known that it lies there only so long as the holder does not try to sell.

Any bull also knows that it is folly to eliminate potential buyers; so does the pool now facing the organized enmity of all foreign millers after having eliminated the importers who might now be buying to forestall future needs of Europe.

GLENN IN THE LION'S DEN.

Monmouth, Ill., Feb. 15.—It is regrettable that many citizens have probably not followed in the Congressional Record the recent debate in the senate on the confirmation of Mr. Hughes as chief justice of the Supreme court. That debate revealed to me that the junior senator from Illinois quite outdebated the experienced and able group of radicals on the question whether Mr. Hughes was unfitted for the bench by reason of his professional attachment to "property rights" and his lack of sympathy for "human rights." By actual count of facts presented, the Illinois senator appeared to have an advantage over the fluency of the Dill-Borah-Norris combination from first to last.

As a humble college professor who has had a lifelong citizen's interest in the course of American politics, and who enjoys a good debate upon a critical public question, I have been gratified to find an Illinois senator, for the first time in many years, able to hold his own, and more, against seasoned and nationally known senators on a question of great public importance. To Illinois senator entered the debate with an array of facts his opponents either did not have or were not frank enough to offer in a matter in which the public would wish to know the truth. I am glad to note THE TRIBUNE'S editorial recognition of Senator Glenn's performance.

DOGS OR BABIES!

Chicago Feb. 17.—Of all the bromides that plaint in this morning's Tribune by A. G. Volkmann was about as much as any. Mrs. McLaughlin and her associates choose to spend $10,000 for the benefit of destitute animals. The rubber stamp wielder asks why she does not help the poor. If Mrs. McLaughlin or any one else chose to spend ten thousand dollars for a new car or a pleasure trip, would any one complain? It would be nobody's business, but the moment one tries to give a scrap of comfort to an anguished animal the old cracked phonograph record comes out and squeaks again and again, "Why don't you help the poor, or children?" Of course the children and the poor should be helped, and persons like Mrs. McLaughlin have to do more than their share just because they are. Interested in animals, but the poor will have always with us.

The writer has met many who refused to help animals on the plea that they were helping children. On calling their bluff, it was found to be untrue. In one instance a lady dramatically making such claims was approached with a request to help an unusually sad case where a baby was involved. The gesture approximated the Scotch as to them: "I can't give you anything but love, Baby."

Is our democracy only skin deep? Must we have pedigreed pets? Must our humble citizenry be surrounded only by the fine families of dogdom? Is the government going to require a genealogy for canines before we are allowed to own them? O tempora, O mores! Is the world no longer safe for dog democracy?

Chicago should do likewise, as there are over a hundred thousand married citizens out of work here, unable to provide the necessities of life and unable to pay landlords and merchants back bills for rent and food. We need a movement to foster "Chicago first" for Chicago people."

GIRL, 2 TELLERS HELD IN MAYWOOD BANK COLLAPSE

Prosecutor Jails Them to Get Information.

Miss Elsie Gordon, John Reed, and Edward R. Carleton, employés of the People's State bank of Maywood, which was closed ten days ago, were locked up in the Oak Park jail as witnesses last night on orders of Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller. They will be taken to the grand jury room today, where indictments are awaited against Elmer P. Langguth, president of the bank, and Miss Lavarne Lindgren, the cashier, who are accused of thefts aggregating $173,000.

Depositors and stockholders of the bank met last night and gave verbal approval to a plan to reopen the institution and operate it to insure themselves against loss in the wreck. Depositors will be asked to sign pledge cards restricting withdrawals in the event of the reopening. Through such a plan, leaders of the movement declare, the bank can be placed upon a sound financial basis.

Girl Admits Forged Note.

Mr. Mueller in his investigation during the day learned that Miss Gordon had forged a note for $5,000—at Langguth's orders, she said—which was needed to prevent discovery of a shortage by the bank examiners. She also signed many checks on the Suburban Publishing company, of which Langguth was part owner, when she knew the account was far overdrawn. She also honored checks she knew were fraudulent, she admitted.

Carleton was a teller at the bank and he admitted having taken $300 from the bank's funds, but said he had left an I. O. U. to show where it had gone. Carleton was formerly teller for the Proviso bank when Langguth was cashier there nine years ago.

Says Teller Accepted Bad Checks.

Reed was another teller and yesterday he admitted he had cashed many checks on the Suburban Publishing company which he knew were overdrafts, and he accepted signatures in the name of Walter P. Murphy, one of the bank's directors and Langguth's partner in the publishing company, when he knew Murphy had not signed them, according to Mueller.

The money from these transactions went to Langguth, according to Mueller, and Miss Gordon and Reed said they merely followed orders, she in signing the name of Murphy, or Alford, treasurer of the publishing company to checks and Reed in cashing them, knowing them to be forgeries.

The prosecutor said he experienced difficulty in getting information from the three employes, all of whom hesitated about implicating Langguth.

He ordered them locked up, he said, not because he believed they shared in the looting of the bank, but because they were withholding information. If they show any disposition today to aid in the investigation they will be given consideration, he explained. Miss Gordon appeared to be relying on the influence of a "powerful friend," Mr. Mueller declared.

Mrs. Walter Kartsen, of St. Charles, former high school classmate of Miss Lindgren, told yesterday how she had suggested to the latter that the bank might offer employment to her husband. The suggestion, Mrs. Kartsen stated, brought a response that the cashier would "speak to Elmer" about it. The woman's husband obtained a position with Langguth's newspaper and after that he was employed in the bank.

KOHLER WILL FIGHT OUSTER ACTION IN HIS HOME COUNTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Gov. Walter J. Kohler has accepted the ruling of the State Supreme court that the state corrupt practices act is constitutional and the ouster proceeding against him in Sheboygan County Circuit court will be permitted to get under way without an appeal, the governor announced today.

Gov. Kohler declared he had instructed his attorneys, Olin and Butler, to proceed with the trial of his case in Sheboygan. The announcement spikes reports that a petition for a rehearing would be filed or that an appeal would be taken to the United States Supreme court.

The governor said no court has passed on the validity of the charges made by political foes against his campaign.

CHARGES BRIDGE OPENING DELAYS DISTANT TRAFFIC

Street Car Report Shows Effects Outside Loop.

Facts collected by the Chicago Surface Lines to show that the open bridges are not merely a loop problem but cause delays in the outlying districts as well, were presented yesterday to Attorney Benjamin F. Goldstein, who was appointed by Corporation Counsel Ettelson as special assistant corporation counsel to advise the aldermanic bridge committee.

The survey was made under the supervision of Staff Engineer E. J. McIlraith of the surface lines and was presented to Mr. Goldstein for possible use in the campaign to extend the closed hours for bridges to conform with traffic demands.

Report of Engineer.

"We find that in the 12 hours from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., more than 17,250 street cars, carrying 580,000 passengers, enter and leave the loop, of which approximately 80 per cent cross the loop bridges," Mr. McIlraith's report said. "During the half hour periods between 9:30 to 10 a. m., and 4 to 4:30 p. m., periods when the bridges are allowed to open, more than 1,400 cars carrying 33,000 passengers cross these bridges, but many times this number of riders are discommoded by a single bridge opening during the periods.

"We are running cars as close as half a minute apart, which means that each car must be in its place to carry its proportionate load of passengers. When the flow of cars is interrupted by a bridge opening the result is that farther along the line prospective passengers will be forced to wait an unusually long time. That also results in overloading and in disturbing the whole schedule along the line.

"A three minute delay [bridge openings average between three and four minutes in the loop] at any bridge will often result in a disturbance that cannot be corrected for as long as an hour. To compensate for this it becomes necessary to stop cars traveling in the opposite direction to the line which has been disturbed and switch several back to fill the gap caused by the bridge opening. This operation not only involves the additional cost of switching, which is a total loss, but also seriously inconveniences the rush hour traffic.

Delays Outlying Traffic.

"Eighty-five per cent of the surface lines' business is done outside the loop proper and outside the area crossed by the loop bridges. But inasmuch as the surface line traffic is through traffic any disturbance in the loop due to a raising of the bridges causes a corresponding slowing of traffic in the outlying districts, as their schedules are correspondingly disturbed.

"Inasmuch as the river is a public highway comparable to the streets used for street car and auto traffic, it would seem that there should be a coördination between the river traffic and other classes of vehicles the same as exists on the streets of the city."

Elmer Applauds Paulist Choir in Brahms Concert

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

A decidedly impressive Brahms' concert was presented by the Paulist choir of New York and Nathaniel Shilkret's orchestra, through W-G-N, 8 to 8:30 last night. The choir contributed only two selections, the famous "Lullaby" and a lengthy work in a modified minor key. For some unaccountable reason the title for this latter work was not announced. The final fifteen minutes was devoted to orchestra playing the first movement of Brahms' Symphony in C minor—yes, and if radio cannot furnish us this mighty, magnificent symphony in its entirety we can, if we must, wind up the old phonograph and disk it through. "Brahms' music is the music of a master builder," was one striking remark by the announcer.

George Nelidoff, Russian operatic baritone, and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, Gaston du Moulin conducting, presented a concert of consequence, the 8:30 to 9 period. The prologue to "Pagliacci" was typical of the arias sung by the soloist. That this singer has a voice of splendid caliber can be confirmed by taking a comparatively thin toned instrument like a violin and following (or attempting to follow) him for a measure or two.

Alois Havrilla, baritone, and NBC chain announcer, was the soloist on the orchestral program through KYW, 7:30 to 8. It was an entire Czecho-Slovakian concert, and many of us, I am sure, were surprised to learn that Mr. Havrilla is of this nationality.

Then, again, I am as sure that those of us who were disappointed in Mr. Havrilla's previous radio recitals were surprised at his splendid showing in his group of songs in the Czecho-Slovakian tongue. Following this group he sang an aria from "Rose Marie" in English that to my mind was not so successful. His announcing during the program was, as usual, immense.

Violinist, arranger, conductor, Victor Young took the baton at the head of W-G-N's dance and symphony orchestra combination, 9:30 to 10, and no listener could have done any worrying over mundane affairs during that exhilarating program.

Rites for Louise Opizzi, 96, Will Be Held on Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise Opizzi, 96 years old, who died Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marie Aiani, 2921 North Spaulding avenue, will be held Friday morning from St. Veronica's church, on Whipple street near Belmont avenue. She is survived by one daughter, fifteen grandchildren, twenty-eight great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren. Six of Mrs. Opizzi's grandsons will be her pallbearers. They are Peter, Anthony, Frank, Louis, Joseph, and William Opizzi.

Dr. John Segsworth Rites Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Dr. John Segsworth, 63 years old, 1006 Forest avenue, Wilmette, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Wilmette Baptist church. Dr. Segsworth was born in Toronto and was a graduate of the Toronto Medical school. He is survived by his widow, Maude Segsworth and two daughters, Mrs. W. J. Kitchen of Sharon, Mass., and Mrs. Howard Duncan of Wilmette. He was a first lieutenant in the 11th regiment, Illinois National guard and was a member of the North Shore Golf club and Old Settlers' club of Wilmette.

EDWARD JEWETT, 68 years old, for years a well known real estate operator of Hammond, Ind., died yesterday in Hartford, Mich., as a result of injuries he sustained earlier in the day from a fall upon an icy sidewalk.

SCHIRESON ASKS NEW HEARING BY MEDICAL BOARD

Dr. Henry J. Schireson, through his attorney, Burrill J. Cramer, yesterday filed with Clyde I. Backus, assistant director of the state department of registration and education, a petition asking for a rehearing of evidence upon which the state medical committee of physicians unanimously recommended the revocation of Schireson's license to practice medicine in Illinois. The petition challenged the jurisdiction of the committee, and disputed its finding.

The petition will be argued before Michael Walsh, director of the state department. First Assistant Attorney General Harry A. Ash, who prosecuted the case against Schireson, said yesterday that he would request Mr. Walsh to hold the hearing at once.

A COLD

As soon as you realize you've taken cold—take some tablets of Bayer Aspirin. Almost before your head can stuff-up, you feel your cold is conquered. Those aches and pains you felt coming on will suddenly subside. The relief is almost instantaneous! Even if cold has gained headway, and your temples throb and your very bones ache, these tablets will bring prompt relief. It is better, of course, to take Bayer Aspirin at the very first sneeze or cough—it will head-off the cold and spare you much discomfort. Get the genuine, with proven directions for colds, headaches; neuralgia, neuritis, sore throat, and many important uses.

FLYER COMPLETES 3 OUTSIDE LOOPS WITH PASSENGER

First Time Feat Has Been Accomplished.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—To test the capabilities of a plane in inverted flight, Phil Love, noted St. Louis stunt flyer, today successfully completed three outside loops with a passenger—an aerial feat never before accomplished.

With Eugene Stevens of Tullulah, La., as a passenger, Love took off from Lambert-St. Louis field in mid-afternoon and performed the acrobatic maneuver before a small group of spectators here to attend the international aircraft exposition.

The feat was performed in a taper wing Waco biplane with a Wright J-5 motor. Stevens weighs 200 pounds.

No Ill Effects.

The passenger said he suffered little physical discomfort and experienced no ill effects from the flight. He complained of an unusual warmness about the temples and extreme air pressure against his head, factors which were occasioned by the tremendous centrifugal force.

Reports of sales from the floor indicate that the event thus far has not been unprofitable to exhibitors, figures compiled showing that airplanes and accessories totaling $254,000 in value have changed hands.

The largest sale was made in the opening day of the exposition, when Transcontinental Air Transport purchased the giant condor ship from the Curtiss-Wright flying service at a cost of $95,000.

Cow Travels by Air.

An interesting visitor at the parks airport today was a Guernsey cow, weighing more than 1,000 pounds, which journeyed here by way of trimotored airship from her pasture at Bismarck, Mo., a point seventy-two miles distant.

The cow was milked while in flight, its product was parachuted down in paper containers when the plane circled the arena buildings.

A plane flown by an "automatic pilot" arrived at Lambert-St. Louis flying field from Chicago, and C. P. Oleson, the occupant, declared he did not touch the controls once during the flight, except for landing and taking off.

FILLING STATION ROBBED OF $105.

Martin Sprague was held up yesterday afternoon in his filling station at 9229 South Park avenue by two armed Negroes who escaped with $105 after locking him in the washroom.

OHIO PILOT BREAKS WORLD'S SPEED MARK FOR TWO DISTANCES

Jacksonville Beach, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Lee Schoenhair, veteran pilot of Akron, O., today shattered the world's airplane speed record for distances of 100 and 500 kilometers with an added weight of 500 kilograms, equal to 1,102 pounds.

In establishing a new record for 100 kilometers, equivalent to approximately 62 miles, Schoenhair negotiated the course at an average speed of 185.452 miles an hour. This exceeded by 10.79 miles an hour the former record of 174.662, established by Fernand Lasne at Etampes, France, Oct. 7, 1925.

Schoenhair's average speed over the 500 kilometers course, with the same added weight, was 171.228 miles an hour, which surpassed by 12.572 miles an hour the former record of 158,656 set by Capt. H. S. Broad at Stag Island, Reading, England, April 27, 1928.

Shortly after Schoenhair took off from the municipal airport at Jacksonville a door on the plane blew open. High tide at the beach prevented him from landing here and he was forced to fly the entire route with the door open. He estimated that the air resistance reduced his speed approximately ten miles an hour.

A.E. COLEMAN WILL LEAVES $1,500,000 ESTATE IN TRUST

The will of Adelbert E. Coleman, ornamental iron manufacturer, was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. It leaves the bulk of his $1,500,000 estate in trust for his widow, Mrs. Margaret Coleman, and his son, Benjamin Coleman, after providing bequests of $50,000 to distant relatives. At the death of the son $100,000 of his share of the estate is to be given to the Presbyterian church for home and foreign missions.

Mr. Coleman died Feb. 13 in his home at 10628 Longwood drive. He was 71 years old. He had been a resident of Chicago for fifty years. For years he was president of the Chicago Iron league and also of the Chicago Builders' Building corporation.

Candidates of Same Name Appear on Same Ballot

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 18.—(AP)—It seems certain George L. Burnett is going to win. Two men of the same name qualified today as candidates for the Republican nomination to the county highway commission. Primary board officials said the names must go on the ballots with no titles or identification other than the identical names. Voters foresee all sorts of complications.

ROBBERS WOUND GROCER, PUT HIM IN REFRIGERATOR

Three Negroes held up a grocery at 235 North Ashland avenue last night, shot and seriously wounded the proprietor as he reached for his own gun, and fled with $15 and a ham after shoving the wounded man and his wife into the refrigerator.

The grocer, Isadore Turek, 45 years old, and his wife, Rose, 40 years old, living at 1937 Crystal street, were preparing to lock up when the Negroes entered. Suspicious of their appearance, Turek told his wife to wait on them, and went to the rear room to get his pistol.

One Negro drew a revolver and when a confederate forced Mrs. Turek to the rear room while the other took the cash and the ham. Crossing the threshold as Turek reached for his weapon in a desk, the armed Negro fired, the bullet entering Turek's abdomen and passing out his back after piercing two vital organs. The gunman then dragged Turek to the icebox while the other Negro shoved Mrs. Turek in beside her husband.

Des Plaines street police took the wounded man to the West Side hospital where his condition was declared critical. Extra police squads were ordered to the Des Plaines street district to hunt the robbers.

TAXI DRIVER SHOT BY ROBBER.

Elmer Petty, a Yellow cab driver, of 4038 North Ashland avenue, was shot in the right hand and robbed of $4 early yesterday by a passenger who held him up with an automatic pistol, fired when Petty grabbed for the weapon and escaped.

Way to Happiness Simple says California Physician

After 28 Years Practice Describes Natural Treatment which Keeps People Well

"AFTER over 28 years of the study and practice of medicine, during which time I have treated and supervised the treatment of almost every variety of human illness," writes Dr. Martin J. Dobson of Los Angeles, "I believe I have discovered the greatest blessing that has been bestowed upon the human family. It is the discovery and perfection of a natural remedy for the prevention of most daily ailments.

"Statistics show that of all classes of persons, physicians and nurses live to a riper old age than any other class of people. I believe this is no doubt due to the fact that they know more about the importance of daily elimination.

Dr. Dobson's Discovery

"The remedy I am speaking of is colorless, tasteless, harmless to the most delicate alimentary tract, from infancy to old age. It is non-habit-forming, and it is essential to the smooth-running efficiency of the human body, which needs lubrication just like any other machine.

"This remedy is Nujol.

"Most human ailments can be traced to the alimentary tract for either the main or the contributing cause, and most of these disorders can be prevented or cured through proper cleansing and regulating by the administration of Nujol as per instructions on the bottle and wrapper, or as ordered by the physician or nurse."

Nujol Laboratories considers it a privilege to publish Dr. Dobson's endorsement of Nujol, as contributed to us under the heading "What Every Doctor and Nurse Understands"—Dr. Dobson's signature being reproduced at the bottom of this statement.

Physicians and nurses themselves use and advise you to use Nujol regularly to clean the poisons out of your body (we all have them), because these poisons are what make us feel headachy, depressed, low in our minds.

It is always safe to use Nujol, because it is not a medicine; it contains absolutely no drugs; it cannot hurt even the littlest baby; it forms no habit; it is non-fattening. Nujol is simply harmless internal lubrication.

What This Should Mean to You

In the last few weeks we have had over 5,000 letters from people all over the world, telling us how Nujol has helped them to happiness and success by keeping their bodies internally clean. You can buy Nujol in sealed packages at any drug store. It costs but a few cents, and it will make you feel like a million dollars.

When you read such an endorsement as this from a physician, you see what a blessing Nujol can be.

Start Nujol tonight. Use it regularly for two weeks, and learn the joy and the happiness that comes from buoyant, zestful health!

I give Nujol Laboratories the right to publish my experience and testimonial of NUJOL as stated in "What Every Doctor and Nurse Understands" either complete or in part.

Here are

8 REASONS why you may need $300

IF you had an extra $300 today—what could you do with it? Pay up scattered bills, buy winter clothing, coal, or household supplies—perhaps pay for necessary medical attention. If you need money for these or any other good reasons, "Household" will advance $100 to $300 without delay.

No Fines—No Fees No Deductions

You get the entire amount. When you borrow $300 you get $300. All loans are made on basis of repayment in twenty months, but you may repay in full at any time—interest is charged only on unpaid principal balance.

Save Nearly ⅓ Interest Cost

By limiting our service to loans of $100 to $300, "Household" is able to reduce the interest rate to 2½% per month—a saving of nearly one-third. Thus the total cost of a $200 loan for 30 days is only $5.00. Other amounts for longer periods, at proportionate cost.

A Statement About Small Loans by Household Finance Corporation

We Make Loans of $100 to $300 at 2½% per Month

There are classes of loans which require the rate of 3½% per month

The Household Finance Corporation wishes to impress upon the public that any licensee who makes loans of less than $100, and a certain class of loans of larger amounts is, in our opinion, entitled to and is justified in charging the maximum rate of 3½% per month. We could not afford to make loans of less than $100 at less than 3½%. The 3½% rate is not the fixed rate that licensees must charge, but is simply the maximum rate permitted by the State Small Loan Law on loans up to $300.

If you need $100 to $300 you owe it to yourself to see us first.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

FLYERS HELD UP DESPITE AUGURY OF CLEAR SKIES

Fog Over the City Keeps Planes on Ground.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Despite the fact that the weather man had promised clear skies for Chicago yesterday, the Municipal field at dawn was blanketed in a thick ground fog which kept a number of aviators from taking off from the airport. The skies were clear above, but the metropolitan region was completely enshrouded and the gloom was not dispersed until a warm sun rose above it later in the day.

Yesterday's fog is what the weather prophets describe as local. Several hundred feet up the sky was clear, and outside the metropolitan area the ceiling was high enough to permit safe flying. But for those ground bound by local conditions the small patches of bad weather are just as much an obstacle to flying as a nation-wide condition of nonflying weather, for it is usually unwise to attempt to fly through to the regions of clear sailing outside.

In Danger of Ice.

This was particularly true yesterday. Once above the veil, pilots would not have been able to find their way back to home base in an emergency. The temperature provided an added danger. With the mercury going up and down between 30 and 34 degrees, there was danger of ice forming on the wings while flying through the fog.

At present the weather bureau gathers data on flying weather for its primary system twice daily. In addition to this service local bureaus are maintained for short range broadcasts designed especially for the air mail. These reports, which give existing conditions over the mail routes just before the departure of the plane, are accurate and invaluable to transport service.

The general forecasts at times are inaccurate, especially as regards local conditions. For the private flyer planning a flight it is as essential to know some time in advance that fog is expected locally as it is to know that a large area of low visibility is to be met en route.

Weather Forecasts Vital.

In commercial aviation schedules must be maintained in so far as it is possible. The operator wants to know today the possibilities of making flights tomorrow. So does the private flyer and the business man who uses the air mail. If conditions for flying are not favorable on the following day these persons want to be informed of it so that some other means of transportation may be used.

Standing idly on the ground watching for a bright patch in an overcast sky has dampened the enthusiasm of many an air fan.

New Member of I. C. C. Passes Through Chicago

William E. Lee of Moscow, Idaho, recently appointed to the interstate commerce commission by President Hoover, passed through Chicago yesterday en route to Washington, D. C. Mr. Lee, former chief justice of the Idaho Supreme court, was accompanied by his wife and five children, William Jr., 15; Richard, 13; Mary Madeline, 11; Flavia, 7, and Charles, 4 years old. They left for the capital aboard the Capitol limited of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

RECEIVERSHIP IS ASKED FOR BOND BROKERAGE FIRM

A petition for receivership was filed in United States District court yesterday against Leight & Co., real estate bond brokers, by counsel for G. J. Caraher, B. T. Caraher, and W. J. Madden, former employes of the company. The petition entered a claim of $17,000 and asserted that the concern's liabilities are $500,000 and its assets $200,000. George W. Struckman, of counsel for Leight & Co., declared the company is solvent and that the petition will be contested. He admitted some of the assets are frozen, but said the company's holdings total $1,300,000. He said that reorganization plans under way will protect all creditors and bondholders. An independent bondholders' protective committee has been formed, with George S. Ballard as chairman and Fred W. Heide as secretary.

ARMY, NAVY PAY RISE BILL WOULD COST $85,684,706

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Passage of legislation raising the rate of pay for the army, navy, coast guard, and two other government services to the standard recommended to congress by the interdepartmental pay board would cost the government $85,684,706 during the 1930 fiscal year, the budget bureau informed President Hoover today.

The pay increase would affect 58,723 officers and 418,147 enlisted men and employes of the army, navy, coast guard, coast and geodetic survey, and public health service. The total pay roll for these services under the present law is 320 million dollars. The recommended pay boost, which amounts to an average increase of 26.75 per cent, would raise the pay roll for these services to 406 millions in round numbers.

BURGLARS LOOT HABERDASHERY.

Fourteen men's shirts and $45 in cash were stolen by burglars who entered the Sidney Sweetow haberdashery, 6206 Rhodes avenue, last night.

N. Y. AMERICANS WHIP BLACKHAWKS, 6 TO 4

SOUTH SIDE ACCLAIMS ITS GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM

CHICAGO SQUAD COMPLETE FOR FINAL BATTLES

Meet Out of Town Boys Next Week.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The south side picked its champions for THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournament, at the White City arena last night. After two nights of furious battling—a regular carnival of knockouts—thirty-two boys qualified.

It was the last of 19 sectional tournaments—three in Chicago and 16 in all parts of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan—held to pick the best fighting boys in the middle west and to afford them a chance to fight for THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves.

Knockouts End 16 Fights.

The south side tournament was a fitting climax to the big carnival. For as the 29 fights of the closing session, 16 terminated in knockouts.

Most of the seat were occupied as the last of the qualifying chin sharpshooters went into action. The attendance was close to 3,000 and the hard fighting had the crowd cheering just as often as two boys came together.

Several of the lads who won places on the south side team had to hang up two victories last night. Among them was Fred Caserio, 160 pounder, from the Seneca A. C. His first victim was Jimmy Mollitor of St. Rita. Caserio won on a decision at the end of three rounds. His next foe was Pat Adducci, from Kopp's boxing school. Caserio won the three rounds by a wide margin.

Bud Borelli, son of Judge Francis Borelli, was among the qualifiers. He is one of the south side's 160 pounders. Bud thought he was slipping one over on the judge, but shortly before his bout started his dad had him on the phone.

"Son don't get mixed up with those rough fellows," the judge was reported to have said.

Bruck Takes Count.

But Bud stepped into the ring with Sylvester Bruck, unattached, a hard hitting kid. Bud turned out to be the tough guy of the party. In less than a round he had Bruck down for the count.

Bud seems to have reversed the opinion of the judge with an old fashioned haymaker.

Two of the gamest kids that ever crawled through the ropes clashed in the 118 pound division. They were Walter Gray of the O'Berta Boosters and Louis Levine of the Lake Shore club. Levine knocked Gray down four times. And Gray knocked Levine down four times. Four of the knockdowns came in the last round. Levine won.

When the last bout ended, 600 Chicago boys had fought for places on the Chicago team. Nearly 100 of them arrived this morning and they are ready to mobilize at the Coliseum next Tuesday night to begin trading punches with 100 boys coming in from the four corners of Chicagoland who also have their eyes on the Golden Gloves.

JACK BERG STOPS CALLAHAN IN 10TH AT LONDON

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Jackie Kid Berg, Great Britain's sensational lightweight, scored a technical knockout tonight over Mushy Callahan of Chicago in the tenth round of a 15 round engagement billed as a junior welterweight title contest. Callahan's seconds threw in the towel to save the American further punishment.

Virginia Van Wie's 80 Gets Medal in Florida Golf

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, took medal honors with an even 80 here today in the qualifying round of the 12th annual Florida Women's Golf championship tournament over the Palm Beach Country club course.

Keep Boojum and Whichone Out of Derby

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Several surprises are in store for members of the Hot Stove league of the American turf when the names of 150 [or thereabouts] thoroughbreds are released Saturday as the official entry list for the fifty-sixth Kentucky Derby, to be run May 17 over Churchill Downs.

Whichone Won $135,000.

Missing from the imposing array of three-year-olds will be the names of Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone and Boojum, leading juveniles of 1929, despite the fact that the flashy pair has come through the winter training period perfectly sound. Whitney, through his trainer, Tom Healy, today said he had decided to withhold his aces for the more profitable stakes to be run later in the season.

The master of Brookdale farm never has favored conditioning the best of his large stable for the early season stakes, preferring to bring them along slowly in time for the Belmont stakes at Belmont Park in June. Whichone, which won in excess of $135,000 last year, and Boojum, however, have been nominated for the Preakness at Pimlico. But since both have been withheld from the Derby's nominations, it is doubtful if Whitney and Healy will choose to start either of the stars in the early season Maryland feature.

List to Be Smaller.

The blue and brown silks, however, will not be without a standard bearer in the historic run over Churchill Downs. Whitney has named five for the $50,000 stake. Crazy Coot, Niato, Hat Broom, Chimney Sweep, and Gigalo, a nonstarter as a two year old.

The grapevine telegraph has it that the official entry list, when released Saturday, will be smaller than last year, when 159 were nominated for the race won by Clyde Van Dusen.

Football Nets $411,079 at California; Pays 14 Sports

Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Football carried fourteen other major and minor sports at the University of California to a successful financial season for the fall of 1929, a report released by Graduate Manager W. W. Monahan revealed today. The gridiron sport netted the university $411,079.25 for the season, and when the losses of the other fourteen sports were deducted left a remainder of $318,087.02.

SOX STAGE SET FOR ENTRANCE OF THE GREAT SHIRES

Art Assembles Costume; May Appear Sunday.

Blackburne to Browns

PALMYRA, N. J., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Russell [Lena] Blackburne, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, has signed a contract to coach the St. Louis Browns. He replaces Bill Killefer, who was elevated to the managership.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 18.—Now that the White Sox inaugural practice is over, the new focus of attention is on the prospective arrival of the Great Shires. This afternoon three hundred persons assembled at the San Antonio Texas league park for the second workout and all seemed to be there with the idea that Mr. Shires might have slipped into town unannounced.

News about the arrival of the spectacular young man is a bit vague, he having not signed his contract as yet, but the best information is to the effect that C. Arthur will burst upon the town Sunday evening.

Assembles New Costume.

It is known that he is assembling a brand new costume at his home in Italy, Tex., and his orders have been that everything must be delivered by Saturday. On this devious clew is based the supposition that Sunday is the day of Shire's arrival.

Word has also come down from Italy, 250 miles north of here, that Shires is preparing an epic poem about his experiences of the winter and expects to release it upon his arrival here. Art wrote only one poem during his fistic carryings on, feeling that prize fight followers aren't verse lovers and didn't deserve any pearls from his pen. Now that he's about to step back in his own profession he feels the event should be commemorated with something heroic in the way of poetry. If the epic isn't too long, we'll ask THE TRIBUNE to print it for you.

Boys Take Their Time.

Aside from the unrest about the arrival of Shires, the day brought only routine maneuvers. The second and third days of spring practice are the most trying of the year and for that reason the athletes take their time about everything they do.

Tomorrow, however, curfew will be rung for the battery men. Sarge George Connally, Dutch Henry and the new feller, Johnny Riddle, are the boys who will have to step to beat the gong. None is a holdout, according to Manager Bush, who expects all three to be on hand sometime tomorrow forenoon.

The Sox will move to their new training quarters next Monday.

DETROIT WHIPS LOYOLA, 23 TO 20

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 18.—[Special.]—Detroit university defeated Loyola of Chicago, 23 to 20, in a basketball game tonight.

Detroit led throughout, but only by a margin of a couple of points. Scoring honors fell to Cy Aaron, Titan guard, who annexed five baskets and a free throw before he was tossed out of the game on fouls late in the second half. Capt. Charley Murphy and Bob Schuhman were high scorers for Loyola with five points apiece.

How Inefficient Fixer Plunged Miami Business Into Chaos

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Feb. 18.—Although there is still great indignation among the business men who came down here from Saratoga, Chicago, Atlantic City and similar business centers with the understanding that they would be permitted to shake, shuffle and roll under certain conditions, only to be interrupted by the authorities, I believe a pleasant solution of the difficulty has been hit upon and that the business season will continue on to its natural conclusion without further untoward incident.

It is explained to me that most of the dispossessed business men have moved up the coast a small budge to a place in another county and have been made welcome there on account of the trade which they are expected to draw away from Miami with them. In the meantime, it seems that the forces of moderation have exerted some influence here, to the end that the boys should be permitted to shake, shuffle and roll again in this jurisdiction, but it is my information that the business men will positively refuse to come back here any more this season, believing themselves to have been dishonestly dealt with.

Business Men Feel Tricked.

Business men of the type to which I have reference are very sensitive about matters of honesty and I doubt that they will trust the officials of the Miami district again until the Miami district gets a new set of officials. Anyway, the place up the coast has never enjoyed the prosperity of Miami and, being a very small community with a large, unfinished steel skeleton of a building striding a weed grown lot as a morbid reminder of the boom, the town seems likely to extend to the business men from up north a hospitality such as Miami with its police and sheriff and publishers and reform preachers never has been able to guarantee.

One of the indignant business men was in my room at the hotel this morning to give a full explanation of the difficulty in Miami, and it was his belief that this place needs an adjuster of the type of the late Charles F. Muruhy of Tammany Hall to keep business matters harmonious at all times.

"Way last summer," he said, "all these business men received word at their places of business up north that everything would be regular down here this winter. They were told how much the fix would be for each place and instructed to send the fix down to a certain party who always handled the fix before with very satisfactory results.

How the System Works.

"So the boys all sent in the fix and when they came down here they called on this party and received their assignments. Each business man paid his pro rata part, according to the location and size of his place and the amount of pressure which he intended to apply to his clients and they were all perfectly frank and honest with the fix.

"They all said they intended to use only normal pressure, refraining from any high pressure devices whatever and to their honor it must be said that there have never been any complaints of undue bearing down on any patrons in the Miami district this season, by any reputable dealer from up north.

"But there was one local party who wished to run a sawdust and slot machine establishment catering to a low clientele and the fix very sensibly decided that this type of place should be located somewhere up an alley where it would not give the town a bad name. The local party first agreed to this and he should have been satisfied for his place did a big business. He got very fat in the first few weeks of the season.

"But he became greedy and decided that he ought to be right out in the middle of the sidewalk on the best street in town, so one night he passed out little cards to his patrons stating that after Thursday night or some night he would be at a certain other address.

Forgets Ethics of Trade.

"When the fix heard about this he told this party to go on back up his alley and stay there as this was all he had paid for, but the party is very small town, with no ethics whatever, so he started to yell and that was what caused all the trouble. The first thing anybody knew there was a crusade and the officers began breaking into places in the roughest manner you could imagine and breaking up all the expensive tools which the men had brought down from up north.

"Fortunately, though, some of the stores had been apprised of the state of affairs and the dealers were able to get their best machinery out the back door, leaving only some old equipment with burned-out bearings to be destroyed, and it is this good apparatus which has been moved up the line.

"But I must say that the conduct of the fix has been very reprehensible all the way through. The time when a business man needs a fix is when conditions are unsettled and this party

OFF TO FLORIDA.

FRIEND ARCHIE: Well, Archie, I always did think you had great judgment and I was more than ever convinced when I received your note saying you thought I ought to take my 1929 vacation now because you thought it would do me a world of good and that I would come back all pepped up and do better work for the paper. So I am leaving tonight.

I'll keep you or Don informed of my whereabouts. Possibly I will go to the Sharkey-Scott battle, if any, but surely I will visit the Miami track, for I think seeing the ponies go round might improve my present nervous condition. Most of the time, however, I'll be at Melbourne beach, where that nine hole golf course of 2,100 yards ought to enable me to break 100.

Another thing, I'm anxious to see our pet blacksnake. Last year when he came to drink in the fountain in front of our cottage he was only a little fellow, about four feet long and an inch thick. Mrs. Wake writes me he has grown considerably and still comes to the fountain daily. He lives under our cottage.

Naturally, Archie, I'm opposed to snakes and I would not like to see one in my bedroom after an evening of that which they say you still can get in Florida, but these blacksnakes are quite a prize possession. In the first place, they are harmless, and they also keep away mice, rats, and rattlers. First time I was in Florida I nearly stepped on a rattler and I can still hear his angry rattling.

Well, I don't know why I keep talking about snakes when I'm going down where you can get it, but anyway, it's mighty nice of you to realize that I needed a vacation and that it would do me good and that I probably will do better work when I get back. If anything happens, I'll drop you a note. Regards.

CUBS' ADVANCE GUARD MARCHES ON SPRING CAMP

McCarthy Tells Plans for Early Drill.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 18.—For the first week, at least, training isn't going to be hard for the Cub battery men. They'll be called on only once a day to show their wares in a limited workout and the rest of the time they can golf, fish or loaf as they see fit.

This was the program Manager McCarthy outlined this afternoon shortly after he had led eight members of his early squad out of Chicago in quest of the soothing breezes and balmy sunshine of Catalina island.

Fans See Cubs Off.

The life of ease and luxury won't be a permanent matter, however. In this go as you please fashion the hurlers will be permitted to get themselves into working order but after the main squad arrives March 1 the program for everybody will be one of those ten in the morning to four in the afternoon affairs with only an hour out for lunch.

The getaway from Chicago was accomplished without difficulty but it at least served to prove that the loss of the World series didn't cost the Cubs any of their popularity. An hour before the train pulled out of Chicago there were a thousand bugs and bugettes in the station, all anxious to get one more closeup of men they have seen innumerable times before. Trainer Andy Lotshaw, the sphinx-like trainer, insisted most of the visitors were down to see him on his way, but the statement was regarded as nothing more than one of his pet exaggerations.

Receive White Elephants.

Just before the train departed a few informal presentations were made and the gifts were accepted with due grace, even though they caused complications. Secretary Bob Lewis was given a basket of vegetables, the presentation speech being made by Undersecretary Dan Cahill.

The popular Cliff Heathcote was handed a large box by an unnamed admirer and subsequent examination revealed the package to hold ten pounds of uncooked hot dogs. Both recipients now are busy trying to figure out some way in which to make use of the articles. Lewis' problem is a bit complicated. The vegetables already have attained a ripe age.

Despite a winter of activity, made necessary by his desire to restore the skill of his once invaluable throwing arm, Gabby Hartnett appears to be carrying more meat than an old fashioned alderman. Gabby, however, has an explanation. He really is down to fighting weight, and shakes a loose vest to prove it, but one is deceived by his jowls. They are too heavy by about three pounds, but Gabby expects to exercise these down to condition by diligent chewing of Mr. Wrigley's product, which is presented free with every meal at Catalina island.

As for the throwing arm, Gabby says it is better than ever. But he isn't going to try to prove it the first day of practice.

Referee—Corbeau and Ritchie.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

These star goalies seem to be poison to the Blackhawks, for another of them beat the Chicagoans in overtime for the second time in three days at the Stadium last night. Even with the aid of an awarded goal the Hawks could do no better than tie the New York Americans in regular time, and they lost, 6 to 4, in the extra ten minutes.

The small crowd of 6,000 fans watched a slam-bang, wide open game, in which the defense of both teams often looked foolish. It was a series of rushes by the forward lines, like two boxers tossing aside defense nad trying for a knockout, which brought plenty of action and scoring. Yet the play was clean, only five penalties being called, a season's record for overtime games.

The nemesis of the Hawks was the midget Roy Worters, goalie of the Americans and usually admitted to be the best in the league. Worters stopped every kind of a shot, making 47 saves to 31 for Gardiner, who didn't appear to advantage.

Official Overlooks Offside.

At that the Hawks probably would have at least ended in a tie except for an oversight of the referee on the winning goal. With two minutes of the overtime to play, Hiines scored when Sheppard was at least 40 feet offside and McVeigh a couple of feet. Then, with the Hawks striving desperately to offset that goal by sending five men down the ice, it was a simple matter for Himes to pass to Sheppard in front of the net for another tally a second before the final horn.

Though the Hawks three times came from behind to tie the score, they never led. The Americans scored first and raced into a two goal lead in the first period. Bullet Joe Simpson scored in six minutes. Holmes had carried the puck to the Hawks' defense area and passed to Simpson just as a Hawk defense man hit the latter. Taking the pass and shooting with one motion as he fell, Simpson rammed the rubber into the corner of the net.

Four minutes later Tommy Cook tied the score with a brilliant sally, taking the puck from Himes after a faceoff on the Hawks' blue line. Scrambling away from the back checking Himes, Sook stick handled through the entire star spangled team and beat Worters with a short shot.

Tie Is Broken.

That tie lasted less than two minutes when McVeigh intercepted a Hawk pass in center ice and passed to Himes, who shot from just inside the blue line.

For seven minutes the scoring stopped and then came a burst of it. Gottselig whipped the rubber into the lower far corner of the net. This time the tie lasted only 49 seconds before the Americans scored again. Sheppard took a pass from Himes and scored.

Twenty-five seconds more and the

LAMONT QUITS LOYOLA FOR JOB AT WASHINGTON

Named Head Line Coach Under Phelan.

Daniel Lamont yesterday resigned as athletic director and head coach at Loyola university to become line coach at the University of Washington. He was recommended for the coast position by Jimmy Phelan, who last fall left Purdue to take charge of football at the Seattle school.

DAN LAMONT.

Lamont's resignation came as a surprise to Loyola officials. Under his direction athletics at the north side school have made rapid strides. The present basketball schedule is the most representative in the university's history. Loyola's 1930 football card includes home games with Georgetown and Boston college.

Makes Good as Coach.

Succeeding Roger Kiley as head football coach in the middle of the 1928 season, Lamont made good immediately. His team last fall defeated St. Louis university, Coe, South Dakota, Loyola of New Orleans and De Paul. Loyola lost to Duquesne and North Dakota and was tied by Loyola of New Orleans in a return game.

The athletic board will meet a week from today to consider applications for the vacancy created by Lamont's resignation. The national Catholic basketball tournament, of which he was a director, will be in charge of the faculty director of athletics.

Former Loyola Player.

Lamont entered Loyola as a student in 1923. He played football four years, serving as captain in 1926. He was retained as assistant to Kiley after graduation.

The Rev. Robert M. Kelly, president of Loyola, last night commented on Lamont's resignation as follows:

"Loyola regrets the loss of Mr. Lamont. He has had several offers from other schools at advanced salaries and his resignation has been accepted so he can take advantage of the opportunity. He has had conspicuous success the last two years at Loyola and has our wishes for success in his new position."

HAWAIIANS PLAY TROJANS.

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Coach Otto Klum of the University of Hawaii announced today that he had accepted an offer for a football game with the University of Southern California Trojans in Los Angeles on Nov. 15.

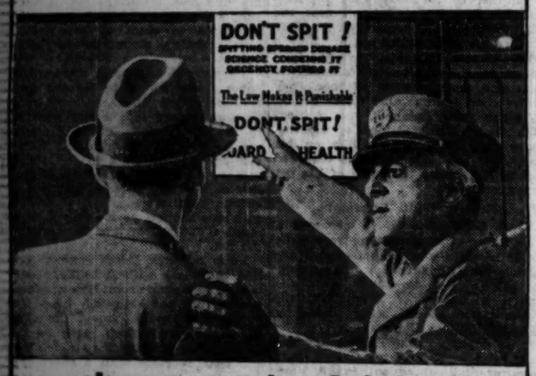
Truly SPIT is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar



...the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency... join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!
Do you remember the old, filthy cigar shop where the man in the window rolled the leaves with dirty fingers... and spit on the ends? More than half of all cigars made in this country are still made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit! The modern CREMO METHOD of manufacture protects you against this abomination—gives you the finest cigar quality plus the cleanliness of Certified food!

Americans Whip Blackhawks in Overtime Game, 6 to 4

Hawks were two behind. Himes sailed down left ice. He was checked off balance and the puck slid free, but he recovered and poke checked it into the net.

Half the second period had passed before the rare occurrence of an awarded goal. Cook started the rush and sailed around Burch on defense. He was close in and Lionel Connacher, the other defense man and manager of the Americans, faked a fall and threw his stick to stop Cook. It didn't make any difference in the shot, as Worter stopped it anyway, but a stick thrown to stop a shot awards a goal.

Four minutes before the end of the period the Hawks earned the tying score when Gottselig's short shot was good.

No Score in Third Period.

Through the third period they continued to rush each other's goal, the Hawks having the advantage of the attack, but their efforts went for nothing due to poor shooting and Worters. And for the second time in three nights the Hawks went into overtime. With barely more than two minutes of the overtime to go, Johnny Sheppard and Rabbit McVeigh of the Americans carried the puck to the Hawks' goal in a rush. A Chicagoan stole the puck and passed it back to center ice over the Hawks' blue line. Himes tooks it, automatically putting both Sheppard and McVeigh offside. Himes raced straight in to score.

With that goal allowed the Hawks strove desperately to even the match again, leaving only one defense man to guard their goal in the rushes. Himes got away ahead of the attacking Hawks and, with an open shot, drew Gardiner to his side of the net and passed to Sheppard, who scored easily. Gardiner hadn't time to pick the puck out of the goal before the game ended.

Perlick Says He'll Quit Ring if White Wins

"I'll hang up my gloves forever if an oldtimer like Charlie White licks me."

That's the way Henry Perlick put it yesterday when he was discussing his chances of whipping the left hook artist Friday night at the Coliseum.

The Kalamazoo youngster pointed out that he too possesses quite a kick in his left hook and that he plans to trade wallops with White from the outset of the battle.

White stepped through five rounds of milling yesterday with Johnny Rosen and Rufus Frazier, breaking the former's nose in the second round of their workout. The Perlicks, as well as White and Emery Cabana, who clashes with Herman Perlick Friday, will wind up their boxing program today, indulging in only light work Thursday.

Another bout on Friday's card that is attracting interest is the eight rounder between Ernie Peters and Harry Fierro, local bantamweight rivals.

How Inefficient Fixer Plunged Miami Business Into Chaos

treated these out of town parties, who were down here to provide necessary diversion for the winter visitors, in a most deplorable way, acting as if he had never seen them before."

The proposition that Miami needs a Charles F. Murphy to regulate matters is one that I have heard from every bell boy, taxi man, bus station attendant and local journalist with whom I have discussed the unfortunate turn of affairs. It appears that Miami grew too big too suddenly for the old governing forces and that with this abrupt growth and the attendant excitement, control became decentralized so that, actually, nowadays, no man can be called the real fix in town.

Miami is competing with Havana where it is not only legal but an international courtesy to the republic of Cuba to spin, shuffle, or roll and absorb stimulants, the republic receiving part of the proceeds.

The American customs inspectors in Miami coöperate to the full extent of their talents in the local efforts to deter Americans from going to Cuba. All voyagers on their return from Havana are subjected to an inspection of such an insulting nature that people who have made the trip once would not be likely to make it again from this port. Yet, the American winter tourist seems determined to spin, shuffle, or roll and also to drink stimulants.

There is never any dearth of fine beverages on the Florida east coast, which enjoys a special immunity from the coast guard and the enforcement department in Washington, such as New York, Chicago, and other large cities of the north cannot even visualize, but the obvious irresponsibility of the local fix interferes with the spinning, shuffling, and rolling.

Hotel Men Greedy.

And in addition to all this the hotel men always have been a little greedy even for the winter resort trade, and have never offered any bettr than the most commonplace comforts and the most commonplace lunch counter food for the most audacious prices.

Palm Beach county would be a perfect model of centralized control for Miami to copy, the sheriff being the absolute arbiter up there and Bradley's big store being the only resort in which it is permitted to spin, shuffle, or roll.

I should estimate that Miami and Miami Beach together require not more than a dozen such stores of various grades and sizes, under proper regulation by a responsible fix, but I understood that there were about forty last year and more than that this season until the local party with the sawdust and slot machine joint attempted to move out of his alley on to a main street, causing all the unrest.

Troxell Named Secretary of Boxing Board

Captain William H. Troxell of Chicago is to be the new secretary of the Illinois Athletic commission. He will succeed Walter N. George, who yesterday announced his resignation effective on Feb. 28.

The appointment of Capt. Troxell to the post was announced last night by Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the state athletic commission. Capt. Troxell has served as assistant secretary of the commission since Oct. 1 of last year when the commission composed of Brig. Gen. Clinnin, George Getz, and Fred. Gardner was named by Gov. Emmerson.

George became secretary of the commission at the time it was organized, having been appointed by Paul Prehn and it has been understood for some time he would not be retained by the new commission.

WHEAT HIGHER; BULGE FOLLOWS EARLY BREAK

Corn Rises ½@1 Cent on Short Covering.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation in the world's wheat markets ran its course at the opening yesterday, temporarily at least, with prices at all points dropping to a new low on the crop, but the decline brought in aggressive short covering, and a rally followed which lifted values in Chicago 2¼@3¼c from the early low. The finish was ½@¾c higher, March closing at $1.13¾@1.13¾ and May at $1.18½@1.18¾ to $1.18¾.

Removal of hedges against export sales, with around 1,500,000 bu sold in all positions, largely Manitobas, had some effect on the Winnipeg wheat market, which gained 1⅜@1⅞c for the day. Liverpool lost 2¼@3d. Buenos Aires was ⅝c higher at the last and Rosario ⅛@⅜c higher.

The break in futures at Liverpool carried wheat prices there to within 1⅛@1⅜c of the figures prevailing in Chicago, the smallest difference so far this season, and Buenos Aires March was about 10c under Chicago, compared with a fractional premium a short while ago.

Natural Rally in Wheat.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the rally in wheat, which a majority of traders regarded as only a natural upturn in a bear market. At the inside prices showed 8@8⅛c under the high of last and the constant threat of federal farm board action continues to make operators act with a great deal of caution on the breaks.

In addition to the export sales of wheat ocean room was taken for 800,000 bu at the seaboard to the continent. There has apparently been more export business put through of late than has been reported. Moderate liquidation was on at Winnipeg early, with country holders going out of their futures, having taken the latter in exchange for the cash grain which was sold earlier in the season.

Unfavorable crop comments have started to come from part of the winter wheat belt, but are not sufficiently serious to be a market factor. In the main they embrace the soft wheat area, with more or less damage officially confirmed in southeastern Kansas, but the outlook in other parts of that state is favorable.

New Low on Corn Futures.

Scattered liquidation was on in corn at the start, with all deliveries selling at a new low on the crop, but the market quickly reversed its action and advanced around 2c from the inside figures and closed about the top, with net gains of ⅛@1c, with March leading. The latter finished at 85⅝c and May at 89⅝c. Action of wheat was the main influence, although the basis in the sample market was ½@1½c higher. Purchases to arrive aggregated 34,000 bu. Buenos Aires futures finished ⅝@⅞c higher.

Oats broke sharply at the opening on liquidation by longs and all deliveries sold at a new low for the season. A rally followed on short covering and on buying on resting orders, and the close was ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, with March 42⅝c and May 44⅛@44¼c.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Finished cotton goods are in steady demand for quick shipment, particularly in printed and woven dress goods lines. Lower cotton has again unsettled gray goods markets a little. Burlaps for spot delivery are firmer in local markets. Raw silk was quiet and unchanged. Silk goods for cutting are more active. Rayon yarn output is being curtailed in some quarters.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 7,500 cattle, 22,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep.

The buying side gained more advantage in the hog market soon after a steady opening yesterday, resulting in a break of 10@15c, with some late sales as much as 25c under the high point of Monday. Another substantial reduction in receipts encouraged some early buyers to pay steady for a scattering of top kinds, which was no criterion of the later trade.

A few loads of 190@200 lb, hogs held the top price in line with the preceding session at $11.50, while the general average price slumped 15c at $10.80. About 7,000 hogs were estimated left at the close, the low point of the day. Five leading western markets expect 69,000 today against 69,400 last Wednesday. The eleven points during the first two days of the week show a decrease of 30,000 hogs compared with a week ago.

Shippers Taking More Cattle.

Although the shipping demand is taking more cattle at Chicago than at this time in 1929, the market continued dull, with prices barely steady except on a few "specialties." Cows and heifers of medium quality were hardest to sell, but well finished animals cleared quickly at strong prices.

Fancy baby beef heifers averaging 647 lbs sold at $14.00, highest of the month in this branch. Prime 1316 lb steers topped the price list at $15.00 and good 1,237 lb averages sold at $14.35. Some common 1,170 lb averages brought $10.25 while bulk of steers of beef merit, sold within a range of $11.00@14.00. Calves were steady to 50c lower. Stockers and feeders were scarce and unchanged. While cattle receipts at Chicago so far this month show a decrease of 7,200, compared with a year ago, shipments from Chicago show an increase of 3,500.

Lambs Recover Loss.

Sheep receipts were about normal yesterday and prices held firm at the recent advance. Medium weights, which were pounded as hard as heavy lambs on the break, are selling 75c to $1.00 above the low point of last week. Two shipments to packers reached the $12.00 line, equaling the highest since Monday of last week, while $11.25@11.75 took most good light and handy weights. Prime 92 lb averages sold at $11.00 and extreme weights rejected from load lots at $9.50. Aged sheep and yearlings were firm. Country demand for feeding lambs is better at $10.25@10.50.

Tulsa Union Depot Company

First Mortgage Thirty Year 4½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Dated July 1, 1929 — Due July 1, 1959

Authorized issue limited to $2,000,000

Interest payable January 1 and July 1 at Interstate Trust Company, New York, Trustee

St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company,
The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, and Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Company

are jointly and severally liable, under the terms of a Lease, dated June 19, 1929, to pay to the Trustee sums sufficient to pay the interest from time to time accruing on these Bonds and to meet the requirements of the Sinking Fund calculated to retire all of these Bonds by maturity at the prevailing redemption prices.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized these railway companies to incur the above described obligation and liability.

ORGANIZATION—The Tulsa Union Depot Company will construct and operate a modern union passenger station at Tulsa, Oklahoma, for the joint use of the above railroads, which together own all the capital stock of the Company.

SECURITY—This issue will be secured by a direct first mortgage on land owned in fee, leasehold interest in other property and air rights and the station and facilities to be constructed. The Lease of the station and facilities is assigned to the Trustee as additional security.

SINKING FUND—The Company will pay annually to the Trustee, beginning April 15, 1930, an amount equal to 3⅛% of the greatest amount of Bonds at any time issued and outstanding, taken at the prevailing redemption price. Bonds will be called by lot and cancelled.

REDEEMABLE—The Bonds are redeemable on any interest date on 60 days' published notice at 102½% and accrued interest if redeemed on or before July 1, 1954, and thereafter at 100% and accrued interest plus a premium of ¼ of 1% for each six months between the redemption date and the date of maturity.

The above information summarized by Mr. J. E. Hutchison, President of Tulsa Union Depot Company, from his letter dated February 14, 1930, is subject to the more complete information contained therein. Copies of this letter may be had from the undersigned on request.

STEEL OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTEST ON TRADE HORIZON

Rail, Farm Demands Boost Activity.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Although the American steel industry had a banner year in 1929, partly as the result of an abnormally active summer, it is cheering to note that steel production now is not greatly below a year ago. In fact, the present status of the steel industry is the brightest spot on the business horizon, particularly in view of relatively slow expansion in the automobile industry.

Steel operations have continued their recent steady climb in the last week. Current output of the United States Steel corporation is around 86 per cent of capacity, which is not a great deal below its 90 per cent operation a year ago. Furthermore, the present rate marks a sharp increase from the 81 per cent of a week ago and the 80 per cent of two weeks ago.

Independent steel companies have not done as well but still their current rate is about 77 per cent of capacity, compared with 76 per cent a week ago, 71 per cent a fortnight ago and 86 per cent a year ago. The demands of the railroads and farm implement manufacturers are responsible for much of present mill activity. Therefore, any decided pick-up in automobile production might easily produce another active summer for the steel mills.

Not So Cheerful.

Pictures of the petroleum and building construction industries are not so cheerful. Overproduction of oil continues to be a vexatious problem and construction, while showing improvement, is still running far below a year ago.

The daily average gross crude oil production last week was 2,652,950 barrels, an increase of 39,150 barrels a day over the preceding week, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum institute. Inability of California producers to agree on curtailment resulted in an upturn in output of 43,100 barrels a day, whereas the eastern fields effected a decrease of 3,950 barrels a day, although there were no pronounced changes in the individual fields.

General trade had a lull during the first week of this month and was moderately less active than a year ago, judged by the railroad movement of commodities. Loading of revenue freight for the week ended Feb. 8 totaled 886,581 cars, a decline of 12,313 from the preceding week and also a recession of 69,400 cars, or about 7 per cent, from the corresponding week in 1929.

Baldwin Company Report.

Further evidence of last year's improvement in the railway equipment field is contained in the annual report of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, made public last night.

"The results of operations were satisfactory in all lines except locomotives, in which they were substantially more favorable than for the previous year," President George H. Houston says. "The volume of business on hand at the beginning of 1930 is greater than for some years past."

Sales for last year totaled $42,796,-[illegible], compared with $22,531,349 in 1928. Net profit was $2,300,462, equivalent after preferred dividends to $2.25 a share on 842,000 no par common shares. Net profit for 1928 was $332,-[illegible], or only $1.66 a share on the 120,000,000 preferred stock.

BUSINESS PERSONALS

Hunter S. Marston, vice president of the Bancamerica-Blair corporation, has been elected president, succeeding Hiden Walker, recently elevated to the chairmanship. Mr. Marston has been connected with Bancamerica-Blair corporation and its predecessor, Blair & Co., since his graduation from Brown university in 1908. He is 44 years old. Bancamerica-Blair is the securities affiliate of the Bank of America, N. A.

J. R. Stanley Crowder, formerly vice president and a director of the Meridian Trust and Savings bank and of the investment house of Frank P. Corbett & Co., will formally open an investment banking firm of his own today at 10 South La Salle street. The new firm will be known as J. R. S. Crowder & Co., and will deal in general securities.

H. C. Orton has been elected a director of the Laclede Gas Light company in place of Gordon Wilson.

Commerce Chiefs Tell Hoover of Trade Recovery

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—Encouraging reports on the general business situation were made to the President today by Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont and Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the national business conference survey called by Mr. Hoover last winter following the securities crash in Wall street.

Mr. Barnes advised the President that business is on the upgrade, the business recession checked and the danger of a long depression apparently over. Further revival of industry at an accelerated pace may be expected, Mr. Barnes predicted, with the approach of the season for outdoor work. He reported that 44,000,000 persons are now gainfully employed in the United States, 10,000,000 more than were employed during the depression of 1921.

Secretary Lamont's report on the progress of the public buildings campaign was the most encouraging yet submitted. He advised the President that contracts awarded by thirty-seven states for public works and public utilities during the month of January amounted to $112,065,200, a 116 per cent increase over such contract awards for December. The January figures, according to Mr. Lamont, broke all records for the last six years

Credits "Common Sense."

In a formal statement issued late today Mr. Barnes credited the "collective common sense" and courage of all kinds of Americans, both in and out of business, for the improvement that has been registered in the business world during the first weeks of the new year.

"Detailed reports on the business situation reaching the headquarters of the national business survey conference continue encouraging," he said. "Business is on the upgrade. The shock of the deflation in security prices has largely been absorbed in three months. The danger of a long depression appears fairly over, with every evidence of early renewal of the normal onward march of living standards and business progress.

"This improvement became possible because of the collective common sense, the courage, and enterprise of all kinds of Americans, in business and out. We do, however, need to continue to apply these qualities, especially for the next few weeks. Careful planning and coöperation can improve buying power still further and can help to relieve individual hardship. Three months is a short period in the evolution of business, but a long time to the worker out of a job, even if he has accumulated savings.

"Large business units are doing their part daily to help. The railroads, the public utilities, the steel industry and others have increased and speeded up their construction plans.

Carries Out Pledge.

"American business is carrying out its pledge to make every effort to create and maintain employment until business momentum is fully regained and the emergency is over. Wage scales, too, are being maintained to sustain buying power. One of the most encouraging factors at the present time is found in the fact that at least fourty-four million persons are gainfully employed, which is ten million more than were at work in 1921.

"This in itself helps to explain the checking of this business recession in so short a time, because these ten million additional workers, earning higher income than was possible in earlier years, themselves furnish a buying power which keeps fellow workers employed and factories running to serve their needs."

Secretary Lamont said that complete figures reaching his office from the governors of the various states have confirmed the commerce department's previous estimate that seven billion dollars would be expended on the building and maintenance of public works and public utilities in 1930.

Contracts awarded in January for all classes of construction, Mr. Lamont reported, totaled $323,975,200, comparing with $409,967,900 for January 1929, and $316,368,100 for December. The figures were based upon reports by the F. W. Dodge corporation, New York, which also showed that private construction of commercial buildings had registered sharp increase in January.

REPORT TWO OIL FIRMS PLANNING $200,000,000 MERGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 18.—Phillips Petroleum company, Independent Oil and Gas company and the National Refining company are reported to be negotiating a consolidation which will result in a $200,000,000 corporation, if consummated. Phillips Petroleum and Independent Oil and Gas are two of the largest independent producers of oil in the midcontinent field.

Frank Phillips, president of Phillips Petroleum company, today refused to confirm or deny the reports. Negotiations were said to be only in the preliminary stage.

The merger would create a fully integrated company with refineries and a chain of bulk and service gasoline stations. Phillips, in addition to its crude production, is an important factor in the natural gas industry and, with Texas corporation, Skelley Oil, and Columbian Carbon, recently formed the Central States Natural Gas company to pipe gas from Texas to Chicago. Phillips also is a large maker of carbon black.

Independent Oil and Gas recently acquired the Manhattan Oil company, adding refineries, pipe lines, and service stations. National Refining has three refineries in Kansas and Ohio and several hundred service stations in the central west and south.

Reveal Alternative Fox Film Refinancing Plans

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Two alternative plans designed to rescue the Fox Film corporation from its financial difficulties, both advanced by factions opposing the continuance of William Fox as the directing head of the concern, came to light today.

Stockholders will meet March 5 to act upon the plan proposed by a group of bankers and favored by Mr. Fox to issue $65,000,000 worth of securities. The meeting was called at the suggestion of Federal Judge Coleman, before whom the receivership hearings have been held. The notice to the stockholders revealed that Halsey, Stuart & Co., former bankers of the corporation, who oppose the plan favored by Mr. Fox, have also submitted a plan of refinancing.

Contemplates Exchange.

According to the notice to stockholders, the Halsey-Stuart plan contemplates the exchange of both class A stock and class B stock of the corporation for new common stock, all of one class. The plan, the notice stated, would eliminate the present voting power of class B stock, of which Mr. Fox personally holds 51 per cent, and also would require deposit of all new common stock under a voting trust. The notice stated that Mr. Fox would not consent to the plan.

The other alternative plan came from Winfield Sheehan and Saul Rogers, vice presidents and directors of the Fox corporation. They propose to raise $40,000,000 through the sale of debenture issues and the remaining necessary funds through sale of $25,000,000 of new common stocks.

The plan of the two Fox officers, it was reported in Wall street, would be submitted to the stockholders, its proponents claiming it is less costly than the plan favored by Mr. Fox. Its chief difference is that through the issuance of common instead of 7 per cent preferred stock, as proposed in the Fox plan, interest would be saved on $25,000,000.

Seek Proxies.

In preparation for the stockholders' meeting supporters of the so-called bankers' plan, which Mr. Fox favors, today announced the organization of a class A stockholders' committee and asked for proxies for the March 5 meeting.

In a statement it was announced the committee would seek the proxies of stockholders to vote in favor of the bankers' plan, believing that "the threatened receivership would be disastrous to the enterprise and its stockholders."

Action by Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman on the receivership petition of Mrs. Susie D. Kiser, second largest class B stock holder, has been withheld pending the stockholders' decision.

LEGGE FAVORS LICENSING FARM PRODUCT DEALERS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—A statement from Chairman Legge of the farm board, approving the Summers bill to place commission merchants, brokers and dealers in perishable agricultural products under federal control, today was placed before the house agriculture committee which is considering the measure.

Expressing the opinion that the proposed law would suppress unfair practices among such dealers in the terminal markets, Mr. Legge wrote that this would "enable coöperative associations handling perishable products to obtain greater returns for their members."

"The proposed legislation, therefore, should supplement the work of the farm board," he added.

The bill would authorize the secretary of agriculture to license dealers, commission merchants and brokers, and would provide penalties for unfair conduct.

STRESS PART RESEARCH HAS IN BUSINESS

The growing complexity of modern industry has compelled business to devote as much attention to scientific development a sto any other section of its work declared Dr. C. E. K. Mees, research director of the Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, N. Y., in addressing last night the conference on business and industrial research held by the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association at the Hotel La Salle.

Industries must do fundamental research said another speaker, Dr. W. A. Gibbons, who is director of research for the U. S. Rubber company. "To get the most out of research it must be applied to the entire field of raw materials, processes and products —in fact, the whole industry," he said.

OFFER $2,500,000 IN BONDS OF VALSPAR CORPORATION TODAY

Financing for the newly formed Valspar corporation, whose principal constituent is Valentine & Co., is to be carried out today with the public offering of $2,500,000 6 per cent ten year debentures.

Valentine & Co. had been a closely held corporation since 1882, when it succeded a partnership founded fifty years before. It was a pioneer in the paint and varnish business. L. Valentine Pulsifer, president of the company, will head the new Valspar corporation. The new corporation has been formed to facilitate the expansion of the Valentine interests.

The debentures are being marketed by Brown Bros. & Co. and the Detroit company. After the completion of the present financing the capitalization of the corporation will consist of an authorized issue of $6,000,000 ten year convertible debentures, of which the present issue will be outstanding and 750,000 shares of common stock without par value, of which 202,480 shares will be outstanding.

Reports Wilson & Co. Is in Sound Financial Condition

At the annual meeting of Wilson & Co. yesterday President Thomas E. Wilson told stockholders that the firm is in a sound financial condition. "Since the reorganization of the company in 1924 capital fixed assets have been reduced by $1,500,000," he stated. The company has spent $16,000,000 in the last five years in improvements and replacements. The earnings of the company for last year were made public some time ago.

Warner Bros. Pictures Earnings Show Big Gain

Net profit of Warner Pictures, Inc., and subsidiary companies for the quarter ended Nov. 30 was $5,629,108. Earnings of the company ir. the corresponding period of the previous year amounted to $2,917,724 and included only profits of the firms which were then Warner subsidiaries.

A. T. & T. 4½s UP SEVEN POINTS IN N. Y. BOND MART

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—An extreme gain or more than 7 points in American Telephone convertible 4½s or an enormous turnover enlivened today's slightly firmer bond market. Prices in the general list were still scrambled, but investment issues of high rating showed better resistance than in recent sessions.

The trading in the telephone company bond was the largest since last summer, reaching a total of more than $54,000,000, principal amount. The debenture soared to 159@ and closed at 158¼, following the stock into new high ground for the year. The net advance was 6⅛ points.

International Telephone's 4½ per cent convertible displayed considerable activity, climbing to 123 and finishing at 122⅛ for a gain of 1¾. American International 5½s and Texas corporation 5s, among the other share feature bonds, found a moderately busy market. The attention paid to issues of this type, especially the telephones, was reminiscent of the rating six months ago, when convertibles constituted large percentages of the daily volume.

The first of several pending municipal loans was awarded today. Toronto sold to a syndicate a $5,590,000 loan bearing 4½ and 5 per cent coupons, maturing 1930 to 1959, on a bid of 97.597. The bonds are being offered tomorrow on a 5 per cent basis for all maturities.

New York, Feb. 18.—Old time leaders of the stock market strutted their stuff in the grand manner today and with such an inspiring example the list could not help but surge forward anew.

United States Steel, New York Central, American Telephone, National Biscuit, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Johns Manville, Bethlehem Steel—all were to be found among the pacemakers of the day. Some of them encountered difficulties in the way of profit taking before the end, but all made their marks in the meantime, several of them registering new tops for the recovery, or the year.

While minus signs were to be found in virtually every section, closing figures reflected gains of from 2 to 5 points over a wide range. Specialties, such as American Chain preferred, International Business Machine, Otis Elevator, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Atlas Powder made the best showings of all.

The amusement group had a particularly good day, Fox, Loew's and Radio rallying briskly on a rumor that R. K. O. is about to buy Loew's from Fox and Warner Bros. trailing in sympathy. Airplane stocks rose sharp-

GRIGSBY, FIELD ISSUES VIE FOR MOST ATTENTION

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Grigsby-Grunow and Marshall Field vied with each other for attention in the trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Both stocks made creditable showings.

Grigsby started out with apparent support and soon attracted a following, reaching a top of 18 for the day. The shares finished a fraction under that figure with a net gain of three points.

Approximately 58,000 shares of Marshall Field changed hands in its premier appearance on the local board. Opening at 53 the new issue sold up to 53½ and closed at 53⅝. Application will be made to list the Field stock on the New York Stock exchange.

Outlook for Grigsby for the year is said to be better than previously supposed. February sales are reported to be running ahead of a year ago, while the prospect for the next few months is described as favorable.

Lends Strength.

The activity in Grigsby, in which sales amounted to about 35,000 shares, lent some strength to other radio issues. Atlas Stores was able to advance 2¼, while U. S. Radio and Zenith managed to gather modest gains.

Utility issues which had held the center of the stage for several days received less attention yesterday. Price fluctuations in the group were narrow with the exception of Commonwealth Edison, which climbed nearly 7 points on light sales.

There were weak spots as well as strong ones among the specialities, while the group as a whole displayed a firm tone. Unofficial estimates giving earnings for last year substantially in excess of 1928 failed to create any particular interest in Electric Household Utilities, which finished down a fraction. General Theater Equipment advanced 1½, while Art Metal was about a point higher at the close.

Auburn Off 4 Points.

The motor stocks showed little inclination to move one way or the other. Bendix and Borg were fairly active but were almost unchanged from the previous day. Auburn on light trade dropped 4 and Great Lakes Aircraft gleaned a fraction on sales of about 5,000 shares.

C. S. Davis, president of Borg-Warner, stated yesterday that Galesburg Coulter Disc company, a subsidiary, has increased production 20 per cent since the middle of January to meet new orders.

Approval has been given by the stockholders of the Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator company for an increase in the common stock from 250,000 to 500,000 shares.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

A firmer tone was apparent in Chicago Curb exchange trading yesterday, though the volume leaders like International Rustless Iron and Union Copper eased slightly. Hambleton, with a 3 point gain, led the advance, followed by the National Investors group, comprising the second, third, and fourth, which showed a rise ranging from 1 to over 2 points.

CONSUMER NOW FOUND AT ODDS WITH PRODUCER

Raw Materials Struggle Is Disappearing.

BY SCRUTATOR.

So far as raw materials are concerned, we no longer have a struggle of man against nature. The battle is between the consumer and the producer: whether the former can dictate the price he is willing to pay or whether the latter can force the world to come to what he believes is a fair profit above his actual costs.

Conditions may change in the future. It is entirely possible that a time may come when the western world will again become convinced of impending shortages of food, of fuel, or of plant or animal products used for purposes other than nutritive. There is no immediate prospect of this. We are, in fact, just beginning to realize that there is a possibility of having too much, economically, of such things. European countries that import wheat probably did not realize a year ago that they were taking on stocks that were too large. In the season before the present one shipments by exporting countries amounted to 913 million bushels, an increase over the one before of 130 million bushels. At the same time Europe outside of Russia raised its production by 126 million bushels.

Report Large Carry-Over.

Thus the world's principal importing territory took in a quarter of a million bushels more in 1928-1929 than it took a year earlier. The season ended with a large carry-over. Also the European production itself was large, perhaps as large as that of 1928.

Short crops in Canada, the United States, Australia, and Argentina still left an exportable surplus figured at 131 million bushels at the beginning of 1930. This is a considerable fall from the 827 million bushels exportable in January, 1929. The trouble with the world wheat market is, then, in the carry-over. A total of 650 million bushels at most, of which 328 million bushels were taken in the first six months of the present season, is figured as plenty to cover consumption in importing countries until new crops are available.

Figures have a way of deceiving. It is quite apparent that some one is deceived about the present situation in wheat. It may be the foreign buyers or it may be the Canadian wheat pool and our own federal farm board, which have expressed the opinion that the conditions justify higher prices.

The answer lies in the next crop. If it is notably short the sellers will be correct. If it is notably large the buyers will be justified for holding off while prices seem favorable to them. It is a fairly close guessing contest. The next carry-over will be less than the preceding one, but an increase in 1929 yield would overcome this; another short world crop doubtless would mean higher prices.

Cites Different Views.

Some able men in the grain trade see this as an era of chronic overproduction in what they handle. They point to the areas in the newer parts of the world that have been turned to grain growing and to the fact that the appetite for bread is not so distensible as the capacity to produce it. They can foresee no prospects for governmental speculations being successful.

This is a view from one side. To support it we can say that of standard crops, not too perishable, history does the war tends to demonstrate that, we are no longer compelled to grow all that we eat per year in a like period of twelve months. It is apparent that the world does not have to eat in a year all that it grows in the same period. A balanced theory is that the capacity to overproduce is greater than the capacity to eat more, giving a tendency to larger annual surplus.

"Bulwarks of American Banking"

You are cordially invited to listen to an address on the above subject by

Dr. Harold Stonier
National Educational Director
AMERICAN INSTITUTE of BANKING

The American Institute of Banking is the educational section of the American Bankers Association. It has a membership of over sixty-eight thousand—one out of every six officers and employees in banks throughout the country is a member. Thirty-five thousand are enrolled in the courses given under the auspices of the Institute, conducted in 270 cities and towns. Dr. Stonier's position as head of this great educational movement has given him an insight into some interesting phases of banking which he will discuss as guest speaker on the

PACEMAKERS OF STOCK MARKET DO THEIR STUFF

Lead General Price List to Higher Ground.

ly and the chemicals as a class were fairly lively. Food issues looked up.

Fail to Share Enthusiasm.

The oils and coppers alone failed to share the buying enthusiasm. The oils were under influence of continued price cutting and the weekly production figures showing another increase, while the red metal shares continued to suffer from the unfavorable statistics on demand and accumulated stocks made public some days ago.

Money was in liberal supply despite further calling of some $25,000,000 loans, with funds reported offered on the outside at concessions from the 4½ per cent rate that held officially through the day. Volume was around 3,795,320 shares.

Today's bullish demonstration started with a buying drive in the motor and aircraft shares. Profit taking developed on a pronounced scale after the first hour, however, and professional traders shifted their operations to other groups. Steel and communications shares were taken up in group formation and United States Steel and American Telephone and Telegraph stepped out in what gradually developed into a general advance of the main body of stocks. The telephone stock at one time was up some 6 points, but realizing reduced this lead by about a third before the close. Similarly, United States Steel rose some 2 points to a new peak for the year, but it fell back for the same reason.

Covering by Shorts.

With the exception of General Electric and American Can, neither of which was able to do much, most of the so called "blue chips" favorites of the list came in for profitable attention during the late morning or early afternoon. The urge of over-extended short interests to cover as the market rolled ahead, resisting recent attempts to force liquidation, was apparent in further strength of such recent bear targets as Simmons, Gillette, International Telephone, and Radio. Simmons eventually found the pace too swift, but the others continued strong right through to the close.

Stock split-up and mergers rumors continued to circulate and benefit issues. It was said that Pacific Lighting is preparing to make an early stock offer and the price of the shares of this company advanced some three points before the profit takers caught them at it. Some of the oils received a little attention on the reports of Sinclair expansion plans.

Whether the continued advance of the market is due to a genuine and growing feeling of bullishness among investors and stock traders based on the acknowledged improvement in trade from week to week, or whether with plenty of money available for market operations, stocks are being bought because they go up more easily than they go down is a question that is meeting with a wide difference of opinion in Wall street.

HARRY H. BLUM WILL MOVE SHOP TO OWN BUILDING

BY AL CHASE.

Harry H. Blum, women's wear, who has been in the Congress hotel for many years with one of the largest stores of its kind on Michigan boulevard, will move next fall to the Blum building, a fourteen story structure at No. 624, just north of the Blackstone hotel. Mr. Blum owns the Blum building. A building permit calling for $40,000 store alterations was taken out yesterday at the city hall with Alfred S. Alschuler as architect.

John H. McGill has sold the three story store and apartment building at 4231-33 West Madison street to Ward T. Huston. The lot is 50x121 feet. It is stated the structure will be remodeled and its present uses continued.

North Avenue Lease.

The F. W. Woolworth company has leased the store at 3215-19 North avenue, 46¼x94 feet, from Meyer Krom for fifteen years from May 1, 1930. The lessee will pay $4,500 annually for the first five years, $5,100 for the second five and $5,700 for the balance of the term. This will be the firm's 30th store in the Chicago territory and the 1,800th in the country.

The Agni Motor Fuel company has purchased the property at the northwest corner of Elston and Kimball avenue on which it proposes to erect a service station. The lot is irregular in shape, measuring 130x127x109 feet. This will be the concern's fifth station in the Chicago district.

Buys Winthrop Avenue House.

Title to the property 100x140 feet on the west side of Winthrop avenue, 250 feet north of Glenlake avenue, has been transferred by Mary E. Wetzel to Esther M. Anderson. There is an old residence on the land. Theodore Johnson was attorney.

PUBLIC INTEREST IN REALTY GAINS, NORCOTT SAYS

The buying public is evincing a keener interest in real estate as a result of the collapse last fall of the stock market, Henry F. Norcott, president of H. O. Stone & Co., told stockholders of the concern at its annual meeting yesterday.

"Our subdivision department finds the public, due to the crash in the stock market, taking a more receptive attitude toward real estate," said Mr. Norcott, "and there is evidence that an era of new interest has arrived."

In presenting the annual report Mr. Norcott said:

"The net assets of the business at the end of 1929 were $9,771,624, representing an increase of $1,258,679 over those of 1928. The increase in net assets was effected largely by paying off the obligations of the company and reducing bank loans. The number of stockholders of H. O. Stone & Co. was increased by nearly 25 per cent in 1929.

"It is also especially noteworthy that in spite of conditions in the real estate and investment markets, which admittedly were among the worst ever encountered, our net earnings for the year amounted to $1,062,459."

Celotex.

W. C. D.: Increases in its foreign trade and in business with various industries apart from the building field enabled Celotex company to report greater sales and larger net income in the year ended Oct. 31, 1929, despite the falling off in residential building.

The company's president early in February stated that about 54 per cent of current output relied upon the domestic building market and that the remaining 46 per cent was going into railroad, radio, furniture, airplane, refrigerator, and other industries, and into the export market.

Property extensions during 1929 costing more than $1,000,000 have increased the company's capacity. Contracts for 1930 already secured have led the management to anticipate an increased business during the current year.

For the year ended Oct. 31, 1929, net sales were $10,317,641, against $8,979,858 the year before, and net income was $1,478,590, against $1,380,622.

After provision for preferred and common dividends there was a surplus for the latest fiscal year of $569,112, against $553,944 the year before.

Earnings in the year ended Oct. 31, 1929, were equal to $5.43 per share on the 205,194 no par shares outstanding at the close of the year. Such earnings were equal to $6.14 per share on the average number of common shares outstanding during the year. The year before earnings were $6.57 per share on 154,635 common shares.

The preferred stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco.

R. E. T.: Liggett & Myers Tobacco company's net income in 1929 was $22,017,127, equal to $7.82 per share on the combined common and common "B" shares, compared with $19,403,644, or $6.82 per share [the same number of shares outstanding] in 1928.

During the year the item for good will, trade marks, etc., was written down from $40,709,711 to $1 and charged out of surplus.

Profit and loss surplus at the close of 1929 was $20,424,883, against $53,764,643 at the end of 1928. Current assets were $137,512,980, and current liabilities were $12,884,304. This left a net working capital of $124,628,676, which compares with $117,240,226 as of Dec. 31, 1928.

Dividends on the common and common B stocks are $4 per year. An extra $1 dividend is payable March 1, 1930, to stock of record Feb. 10, 1930.

The common and common B stocks are high grade.

Associated Simmons Hardware.

P. J. N.: Associated Simmons Hardware companies 6½ per cent secured notes due July 1, 1933, are secured by deposit with the trustees of the entire capital stocks of Simmons Hardware company, St. Louis, and other affiliated companies including distributing corporations. For the four years ended Dec. 31, 1928, the average annual income was $494,604, or less than the interest requirement at the close of the period.

These notes are somewhat speculative.

OPPOSE RESTRICTION.

HAVANA.—(AP)—A total of 86 votes was cast against restriction of Cuba's sugar output for the year 1930 and limitation of cane plantings, by delegates of mills and members of the Association of Sugar Mill Owners and Cane Planters of Santa Clara at a meeting here.

Committee of Class "A" Stockholders

To the Class "A" Stockholders of Fox Film Corporation:

The undersigned Committee, some of whose members own and others represent large amounts of Class "A" common stock of Fox Film Corporation has been organized at the request of Class A stockholders. The Committee believes that the threatened receivership of the Corporation would be disastrous to the enterprise and its stockholders. In order that these stockholders may act in a body for the protection of their interests at the special meeting of the stockholders that has been called for March 5, 1930, the Committee hereby invites the Class "A" stockholders to entrust to the Committee their proxies to vote their stock at that meeting.

Bankers of the highest standing—Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, Lehman Brothers and Dillon, Read & Co., upon the invitation of the Corporation and Fox Theatres Corporation, have, after much study and effort, submitted a Plan of Financing which, if accepted by the stockholders, will avert a receivership.

This Plan will come before the meeting for action. It is summarized and discussed in a letter by the Board of Directors which is being mailed to you with the notice of the special meeting.

This Plan, which has been approved and recommended by the Board of Directors of the Corporation and is about to be submitted to the stockholders for their action, provides funds to meet the present crisis. It affords to all stockholders the opportunity to subscribe for new securities and to obtain whatever special benefits may accrue to the new securities to be created.

While the Committee, as above stated, believes that under existing conditions the Plan presented by the Bankers is the only method available to avert a receivership, the Committee reserves full liberty to act in such manner as may from time to time seem best calculated to protect the stockholders, and the proxies which it will request will be broad enough to permit the Committee to vote for this Plan or for any other plan that may be submitted to the stockholders' meeting.

RESORTS AND TRAVEL — TEXAS.

An Old World Charm Lingers in SAN ANTONIO

Turn your back on dull care and travel the Road to Romance now, south to sunny San Antonio, a city whose foundation was laid before the Revolution, a city 200 years young!

Once the capital of a Spanish province, San Antonio today is the "mother city" of the vast empire of South and West Texas—America's last frontier—whose great cattle ranches, home of the famous Longhorn, now supply markets of the world with delicious citrus fruits and choice vegetables, grown while less favored regions are locked in ice and snow.

Here is a glamorous blending of the Old and the New. Modern skyscrapers tower over sunny plazas, bright with flowers. Tall palms rustle in the soft spring breeze. Picturesque views delight the eye in the downtown district, where a lazy little river wanders wilfully, its placid waters caressing the foundations of tall office buildings.

An Old World charm lingers in San Antonio, scene of bloody conflicts and peaceful growth under six flags. The very "differentness" stirs your imagination as you step into the cloistered dimness of Spanish missions, two centuries old . . . . then out into brilliant sunlight to speed over matchless highways north to the nearby hills, south to the Rio Grande and a foreign country, southeast to the Gulf Coast with its deep-sea fishing and surf bathing. In every direction from San Antonio you are exploring the last of the great frontiers, where energetic people are transforming the territory the Spaniards found into a self-supporting empire in which countless opportunities abound.

San Antonio is a glorious place in which to live and play, especially at this season . . . swimming pools, tennis courts, golf links, archery and polo fields, baseball diamonds, two-score fully equipped playgrounds for children, bridle paths, a new Little Theater, museum and art galleries . . . all have a place in the city's 2,000 acres of public parks.

Come meet the spring in San Antonio now!—yield to the spell of this enchanting city. Play outdoors in the dry, energizing air—you'll find happiness at the end of the trail, if you head south for San Antonio—and Spring!

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has murdered her brother. Jim rides on into the town after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the shooting, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, who he claimed had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes into the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother Steve. Jim guides her to where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Roe and others. As they reach the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead with Jim's knife in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She and Jim become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are confined by the sheriff, Manders, and Jim is arrested.

INSTALLMENT XXI.

ONE POINT CLEARED.

The cold eyes of the sheriff rested on the cattle buyer.

"What took place?" he asked.

"The two brothers, Peter and Sam Moss, were with the marshal when he came in to arrest Rutledge. They were primed for trouble, I thought. Revolvers were drawn and Mr. Shear jumped between them and this young man here. It all took place so quickly I could hardly tell what happened. But Shear struck down Rutledge and whirled on the brothers. He said they had come in to kill our friend Rutledge and he drove them out of the place. I never saw a man look as—as venomous as Shear when he talked to them."

"What else did Shear say?"

"He shot an odd expression to the older brother, the one they call Sam. Said he would send him to hell on a shutter if he monkeyed in his business. And he added, the marshal did, that this was applicable to old Dave as."

"Hmp! Fighting talk, that. How did the Moss boys take it?" asked Rutledge.

"They backed toward the door, and one of them said he thought Shear was their friend."

"Anything more said, Mr. Sackville?"

"Something about some property of Shear's at an adobe house—cattle, I presume, because the marshal mentioned the J S brand. He told Sam how to stay away and let it alone."

The sheriff smiled. "I've a notion that property wasn't cows," he said. "What you have told me is important, Mr. Sackville. It may have a bearing on this case. I've about made up my mind, Rutledge, to turn you loose for the present. Me, I don't think you killed Shear. But that knife is certainly against you. A good many responsible cattlemen have offered to go bail for your appearance when wanted. I'll be criticized if I let you go, but nothing I can stand it. I'm going to sleep on it another night before I decide. Now I'll leave Mr. Sackville alone with you."

"Dropped in to report progress," Jerry told the prisoner.

Sackville had come to tell the young trail driver that he and Sim Hart had made a tally of the two herds and found a full count.

"You brought them through in good condition and I am ready to take them over today if that suits you," the buyer said.

"It suits me bully. Glad to get them off my hands. I'm going to be right busy trying to clear up my name for a few days, looks like. I never saw so many trails tangled up as there are in this Shear killing. He seems to have been a man who made enemies about as easy as most of us do."

"You didn't feel anybody slipping your knife from its sheath?"

"A dozen people jostled me in the dark. I didn't even guess my knife was out till I saw it in the body of Shear."

"Hope you succeed in finding the man. I suppose you want the check made out to your father?"

"Yes. I'll mail it to him today."

"I've been thinking, Rutledge, that you ought to send for him. You're pretty young, you know, to be here without him, accused of murder."

Jim grinned, his jaw set. "He's the last man in the world I want to be just now. I aim to rough through alone, with the help of such friends as I've got here. He gave me this job to do because he figured I was a growed man. I reckon we're gonna find out whether I am or not."

Sackville offered aid shyly. "You haven't known me long, Rutledge, but it'll be very glad to have you count me in among those friends for any assistance I can give."

Jim's heart warmed to the friendliness of the man. "I don't know any I'd turn to quicker," he said, with an eager boyish smile. "And there's one thing you can do for me, if you don't mind. Miss Lawson wants to see me or one of my friends about something. Would you mind looking her up and finding what for? You might tell her that I'll probably be out to-morrow."

"I'll be delighted," Sackville said.

He was pleased at the commission given him. Not for a long time had he met a man he liked as well as this slim brown Texan. Jim Rutledge was to him a force that permitted nobody to consider him negligible. It made friends, and it made him enemies. There were few who did not look at him twice.

Passing down the corridor, Sackville found another visitor waiting in the sheriff's room to see Rutledge. The man was a bowlegged puncher.

"That's hella!" protested Hank. "This boy's in jail, Jerry. He ain't got no business in congress. You'd think by the way you fellows act that he was elected to one of these here gold medals for stickin' a knife in Joe Shear. It's a dogone good mind not to let you see him."

Jerry Denver grinned. "What's eatin' you, oldtimer? It don't do any harm for us to see him, does it? You'd ought to be much obliged to him for letting yore old calaboose so popular."

"You can have ten minutes with him. No more."

The cowboy removed his dusty boots from the table. "'S enough," he said. "Lead me to him."

He stepped in to report progress," Jerry told the prisoner as soon as they were alone. "First off, about that ace of spades. The old man told me to look at it. The sheriff has got it in his office. It came from a blue deck."

Jim nodded, his eyes gleaming. "Good. That clears up one point."

"And from my hide if I can see what it clears up," Jerry said, looking to him for information. He always liked to know the inside details. As Sackville had once suggested, he had missed his vocation. He should have been a reporter.

"You mull it over in yore mind," Jim suggested. "Any other news?"

"There's no doubt Shear an' old man Moss had a row after Joe had his set-to in the restaurant with Sam an' Pete. Tucumcari Bill was present when Shear an' started the shindig. Seems Buck Roe kinda got drawn in, which you consid'rable. Joe stood up for you. I dunno why. You know old Devil Dave Moss—or maybe you don't. He sat hunched up there like a spider an' let Buck do the talkin' for him. Devil Dave is the slickest critter on this reservation, if you're askin' Jerry Denver for info. It seems Shear an', Shear gave Buck the choice of drawing steel or eatin' crow. Buck ate his humble pie, Tucumcari Bill says. He hated like Sam Hill to do it, but with that killin' machine's eyes blazin' at him Buck allowed he didn't call for a showdown. Do you blame him?"

"What was the row about?"

"Kinda mixed up. You know Shear. He had to be majordomo of any game he was in, or else he wouldn't play. Far as I can make out he got sore because he thought old Devil Dave was using him to draw chestnuts outa the fire for him. An' he had a personal an' special grudge against Sam Moss. For those that like his kind, Sam is a good lookin' man. The story is that he'd been shinin' up to Mamie Dugan—an' Mamie is a very particular friend of Joe Shear's."

"Any evidence of that?"

"Only what folks are saying. It's being whispered, as you might say." Jerry allowed that old man Moss tried to shush-shush Joe an' the sheriff didn't get down to brass tacks about the details of his complaint against the old devil. Seemed he thought Moss was double-crossin' him somehow. Likely he was, too. That's the best thing Dave Moss does. Far as I'm concerned, an' I reckon you'll go fifty-fifty with me in that, I wouldn't of been surprised if Shear had bumped off old Dave an' Buck Roe before he cashed in. That's one pious wish don't go if either of 'em hears of it."

"Shear saved my life from a pair of Moss killers. Maybe that was square between him and the old man," Jim said.

"Hasn't been part of it. You have to do a lot of moling to find out the bottom of that old Satan's actions. Referrin' to Moss, not Shear. Reckon a good a fellow's hindsight is. I can see now that Joe wouldn't have had a snowball's chance against Moss if he ever let the old man get to cussin'. Only one real good bet would of been to empty his sixshooter into the air after Moss guys around an' walk out of the powwow."

Rotary Enjoys 25th Birthday; Founding Told

Group of Four Started Rotating Meeting.

Six hundred Rotary club members met yesterday at the Hotel Sherman to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Rotary organization and pay tribute to its founders, charter members, and past presidents. Founded in Chicago in 1905, the club has expanded to an international organization of 3,300 clubs in 62 countries with a total membership of 150,000.

Back in February, 1905, Paul Harris, a young lawyer recently arrived in Chicago, met one of his closest friends, Sylvester Schiele, at Mme. Galli's restaurant. After dinner they went to the office of another friend, Gus Loehr, where they met Hiram Shorey, a merchant tailor.

These four discussed Harris' idea of the formation of a club to bring together men in different lines of business for mutual acquaintance and friendship. Two weeks later they organized the club and elected Schiele president.

They agreed to hold meetings at each member's place of business in rotation and also to rotate the membership by electing members for one year only. These two original plans suggested to Harris the name of Rotary.

Twelve of the club's seventeen 25 year veterans were present yesterday. They are: B. E. Arntzen, Rufus F. Chapin, Robert C. Fletcher, Max Goldenberg, Clark W. Hawley, William Jenson, Charles A. Newton, Harry L. Ruggles, Charles Schneider, Fred H. Tweed, A. L. White, and Mr. Schiele. Founder Harris sent a telegram of congratulations from Colorado.

The honor guests' table was in the form of a huge three layer cake adorned by 25 tall candles. On the top layer were the speakers: H. C. Cheney, past president and chairman of the dinner; Charles A. Newton, past president, and Chesley R. Perry, secretary of Rotary International.

Seated on the other two layers of the cake were the 25 year veterans and past presidents.

Educator Ridicules Students Who Change "Rattles to Rah Rahs"

The purpose of colleges has changed from that of training a small number of persons for professions to that of training large numbers for "effective living," Dr. A. D. Beittel of Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., told 200 members of the Inland Daily Press association in convention in the Morrison hotel yesterday.

As a result, he said, there has been a pronounced swing from the classical subjects to sociology and psychology. The whole movement is toward the humanization of education, he said.

College students may be divided into three classes—those who go to school to learn a vocation, those who go to seek culture, and those who go for no particular purpose—he said. The latter class he described as the "super-kindergarten students who have progressed from rattles to rah rahs."

Election of officers will be held today.

Meeting in Havana.

HAVANA, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Delegates from 37 representative colleges and universities of Europe and the Americas are here for their first international congress. They seek educational standards to train students for everyday business and professional life. Dr. Alberto del Junco, University of Havana, said that all colleges should adopt a system of university advisers who would work with students in preparing them for post-college life.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Why did you choose the career of a police officer?

The Answers.

Severn Nelson, 4018 Bernard street—Partly for adventure, and I found that. I believed it would be interesting; sometimes I have found it that and more, exciting. I knew when I was older I would have a chance to fall back on a substantial pension.

Martin Doyle, 124 North Kostner avenue—It appeared to hold a better future for me than any other line. Remember, there is no long apprenticeship in the police department. A man practically starts right to work earning a fair salary. Promotions always are in prospect; an income for life is no longer a matter for worry.

Edward A. Anderson, sergeant, 125 West Illinois street—My chief motive was to find healthful outdoor work. I found that and interest, too. Later on came realization that with the pension on retirement my family would be provided for. I have been with the mounted police twenty-one years.

J. B. McDonald, 52 North Laramie avenue—It's in the family; I inherited the instinct. My father was a railroad chief detective for years at the Polk Street station. I saw no reason for not becoming a policeman and saw many advantages in doing so.

Otto Neumann, 2210 South Irving avenue—When I was 24 years old that seemed a good way of supporting my father. I saw also that I would have a good means of supporting a family of my own. I was wounded during the race riots, but that doesn't interfere with the enjoyment of my work.

Pay for Hospital Radium by Lottery, S. Africa Urged

'Men Like War,' Speaker Tells Business Girls

British Woman Talks at Y. W. C. A. Luncheon.

Unless women give something to racial progress that men are incapable of contributing, women's rights largely will be a failure. That was the opinion expressed last night by Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, English authoress and actress. She addressed the third annual nationwide banquet of the Chicago Y. W. C. A. at the Illinois Woman's Athletic club.

More than 400 Chicago business women representing almost as many occupations attended the banquet. Similar feasts were held yesterday all over the world. Telegrams and radiograms were received from branches in cities and from business girls in Toronto, Rio de Janiero, Beirut, Shanghai, and other foreign cities. The speaker in Chicago was introduced by Miss Ruth Stone, personnel director of the Western Electric company. She was toastmistress.

Mrs. Hale told that prior to 1848 when the women's rights campaign began, a woman owned nothing, not even her own child. Now, she said, women are taking their place on an equal basis with men. Nowhere will their influence be felt more than the newer national attitudes toward war. She intimated that attitude might prove woman's great contribution to civilization.

"Men always waged war," Mrs. Hale declared, "and I think they like it. Their instinct goes back to the cave age when they hit other men on the head with stones. Why should we expect men to organize world peace when their instincts have taught them to fight?

"Women are not a battling sex. We have never been stone throwers. Why? Because we were valuable to the race as mothers, and as mothers we alone know the true value of human life. Women are nearer to each other as sisters the world over than men are brothers."

The world war taught the world one thing, the speaker concluded, that "the text in the Bible about all being chilren of one father and servants one of another was not a spiritual abstraction or pious observation, but an economic fact. A country cannot live isolated from the rest of the world these days nor maintain standards of living without the aid of other countries."

Women Seeking Equal Rights in Countries of Latin America

HAVANA, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Delegates from 21 countries of the western world today attended the sessions of the inter-American commission of women here.

Led by Miss Doris Stevens of New York, the conference today turned to work for equal rights for women in Latin America. This proposal was adopted and will be presented later to the permanent court of international justice at The Hague: "The contracting parties agree that from the going into effect of this treaty there shall be no distinction based on sex in their law practice relating to nationality."

Miss Laura Berrien read a report on the nationality laws of 84 nations. She argued for retention of citizenship originally acquired by a woman under any and all circumstances. Some present laws leave a woman without a country when marriage involved loss of citizenship.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The autographed manuscript of Lord Bulwer Lytton's "Eugene Aram," bound in three volumes, realized $4,950 at an important sale of letters, manuscripts, and first editions today.

For a portion of the musical manuscript of the "Aria Per Cembalo," the work of Handel, $1,100 was paid.

A first edition of Jane Austen's novel, "Pride and Prejudice," uncut, brought $800, and $650 was paid for a pen and brush drawing, a unique work of black on black, by Aubrey Beardsley.

THE STAGE

"DEAR OLD ENGLAND."

A comedy by H. F. Maltby, given at the Princess theater, Feb. 18, 1930, under the direction of the Dramatic League of Chicago.

THE CAST.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE subscribers to the Dramatic League's season at the Princess are laughing heartily at the new play which has been staged as the stirrup-cup of the series. It is apparently the intention of the league's directorate to say good-by gayly, and "Dear Old England," which is here for the final month, serves that purpose in a jovial manner. To speak its own language, this comedy is A Little Bit of Orl Right.

A slight acquaintance with the social and economic history of England during the post-war period is required of "Dear Old England's" audiences, before the broad satire of the piece registers in full strength. But nearly everybody who reads the cablegrams from London knows that it has been an era when the Ups were, for the most part, Down, and the Downs were Up. If further information on the subject is needed, see Phillip Kinsley's articles in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

Well, then, in this frolic with Britain's woe, Lady Shoreham, who was born and bred in the Towers, is now keeping house in an abandoned railway car. She does her own washing, in a stately manner, and depends for food upon the efforts of a feeble flock of chickens and a vigorous goat. Other fallen aristocrats dwell near her in make-shift habitations. The fantastic community seems to be a Hogan's Patch of broken blue bloods, bravely trying to keep up their caste traditions by days-at-home, visiting cards and afternoon tea.

After one glance at My Lady's bizarre tenement, comic with poverty, and at Lord and Lady Tottenham, who drop in for a call, you can guess that "Dear Old England" is not strictly in the vein of realism. It is a josh, a hoax, a spoof, or any of the other things with which satirical comedy crashes its way into the mass intelligence. If you wish a more resounding definition, you may call it a sociological fantasy. It drifts merrily into excellent burlesque. Chairs collapse and tables topple whenever Lord Tottenham lounges upon them in the weighty, lazy way he learned when he was in funds and a member of the Carlton club; and the story turns into a parody upon the old, old tale of the way of the squire's son with a pretty scullery maid.

For the manor to which My Lady was born is now owned and inhabited by that scourge of the British social system, a Dreadful Bounder. He has come up from the depths of Cockaigne with the twang of Whitechapel on his tongue and a savage desire to trample upon the faded patricians who used to snub him when he lived in Poverty Row. When you see him in his checkerboard riding breeches, harrying his refined tenants for the unpaid rent, you discover the British ideal of the Super Bounder.

But this fellow has a son who speaks Cambridge English, like any gentleman, and Lady Shoreham has a pretty daughter, taught in a board school, whose accent is utter Cockney and who says, "Ow, give ovah!" when teased. So you can guess what course the play takes, with My Lady burlesquing the melodramatic plots as she accuses the Bounder's son of dishonorable intentions toward her humble chee-ild.

Moneyless manners conquer rich vulgarity in the end. The squire weakens when My Lady reveals that she knew him when he was a ragamuffin without a pocket handkerchief, and beseeches her to take him on as a pupil in the etiquette and accent of the ruling classes. It is even hinted that there may be a double wedding between the men of the manor and the ladies of Hogan's Patch after the curtain falls.

The play is well cast. Gladys Hanson finds the rôle of My Lady exactly suited to her vein, and Edward Rigby is a rich caricature as the bounding squire. All the others are right—even the goat is a fine representative of its species—and they play "Dear Old England" as if they loved it.

Hughes Sees Hoover First Time Since Confirmation

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Charles Evans Hughes, the new chief justice of the United States, called at the White House today. It was the first time that Mr. Hughes had seen the chief executive since the senate confirmed his nomination after a heated contest lasting several days. After his call Mr. Hughes said the visit was purely for the purpose of paying his formal respects.

'Tell Patients Cost of Illness,' Physician Says

Regrets Lack of, Frankness in the Past.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Medical fees, a topic from discussion of which the profession has shuddered away for decades, appeared yesterday on the program of the annual congress on medical education, licensure and hospitals of the American Medical association at the Palmer house. It was handled fairly in a symposium that presented the viewpoints of the layman, the practitioner, the hospital and the hospital staff, being concerned mainly with the cost of being ill when hospital care is required.

Dr. Arthur T. Holbrook of Milwaukee delivered a couple of blows at the general attitude of the medical profession, intimating plainly that far too much false delicacy, developed by a traditional spirit among physicians, largely caused the disputes now in progress as to the high cost of hospital care.

"The factors to be considered in discussing this topic," he said, "are traditional opposition to discussion of the so-called 'commercialized' aspects of medicine; traditional customs of charging fixed fees; lack of available economical nursing service; inconsiderate hospitalization of patients; unnecessary consultation of specialists."

"One need not go back many years to recall a time when the business side of medicine practically was under taboo. In my opinion, if there had been frank discussion of the dollars and cents side of practice during the development of our profession, nothing would have been lost to our dignity. There would have been a far more satisfactory understanding in the economic relations of physicians with one another, and between physicians and the public.

"Today members of our profession are expressing alarm at the widely spread consideration of the cost of medicine. They point to certain economic dangers likely to be caused by such discussion. They believe the arousing of public feeling will stimulate the opening of more free clinics of the municipal and endowed types, a higher development of medical care on the part of industrial concerns, etc.

"In an era in which there is no subject too sacred or too delicate for the most searching scrutiny and the most sensational methods of publicity and broadcasting, it is difficult to see how a subject of as much general interest as the cost of the care of the sick will be hushed up, camouflaged, or diverted from a very frank and open discussion. If the medical profession has something to lose from such discussion, there is certainly something definitely wrong with this side, and the sooner it is determined where the error lies, the better for both doctor and layman.

"Tradition has taught the layman that he is not expected to question a doctor as to the cost of his services. Our patients go under medical and surgical care with nothing approaching a definite understanding of the obligation being incurred. The patient is likely to imply that he is mercenary even to mention such a matter—yet he may silently permit himself to be led into the most embarrasing financial situation, unfair both to him and the doctor.

"The only rational solution of this difficulty is to break away from our illogical traditions and to establish franker relations with our patients. This may be accomplished as a perfectly acceptable and dignified business procedure.

"If the profession and the public can be made to realize that the general practitioner, who should be able to handle about eighty per cent of cases, deserves their commendation and support, more and more desirable men will enter this field, will be found adequate to the home care of many cases now hospitalized, and will leave the hospitals much freer for the service they are peculiarly adapted to give."

Further aspects of the topic were dealt with before the National Methodist Hospital association yesterday by J. A. Diekmann, superintendent of Bethesda hospital in Cincinnati.

"Modern hospitalization has become exceedingly costly," he said. "The hospital superintendent should oppose all wastefulness in his hospital. I fear that the charge of wastefulness is only too true.

"The cash expenditure of the leading eight private hospitals in Cincinnati last year was $6.22 per patient per day. In other cities the cost was found to be $6.32 per patient, and the average stay of a patient is twelve days."

Club Delegates Ask Women's Appointment as School Trustees

A letter urging the appointment of women to the present and impending vacancies on the school board was addressed to Mayor Thompson yesterday by the joint committee on public school affairs of Chicago.

The committee comprises men and women representing about thirty organizations. The letter, after giving the committee's ideas of qualifications for future board members, said:

"Women naturally are in closer touch with the schools through their children than are men, and are fully as likely to be informed on progressive ideas and methods in education. As they presumably have more leisure than men in business, we believe women can be very useful upon the board in making detailed studies of the actual operation and needs of the schools, such as are greatly needed, but for which men do not usually find time.

"We therefore suggest further that two of the vacancies upon the board of education be filled by women having the qualifications indicated above."

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Mrs. Hoover today attended the luncheon of the Senate Ladies' club, always given in the room of the senate office building set aside for their use by the late former Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, the club having been organized by Mrs. Marshall during his régime.

The retiring British ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard were given a farewell dinner tonight by the Canadian minister and Mrs. Vincent Massey at the legation. They have been guests there for several days. They will leave tomorrow for New York to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gade until they sail on the Majestic on Friday for England. Lady Isabella, who heads the board of governors of the National Woman's Country club, will retain that place for some time.

The speaker of the house and Mrs. Longworth were the guests for whom Representative and Mrs. John Q. Tilson gave a dinner tonight at the Mayflower. Among the other guests were Senator and Mrs. James Couzens of Michigan, Senator and Mrs. Walcott of Connecticut.

IF YOU WANT TO BE HAPPY

TODAY — See Her— Hear Her— at 9 a. m. — ALL TALKING

Nanette, the girl who turned the stage world upside down. Now she upsets the All-Talking picture world, with her brand new way of making love

Nanette makes young men mad and old men glad; she drives wives wild; but her love story's as sweet as "Sunny Side Up."

"No, No Nanette"

First National's ALL-TALKING production in stupendous scenes; love moments in color

In splendor, laughter and glory it outstrips the stage production that ran a year in Chicago, AND ITS STORY Is much, MUCH MORE ROMANTIC—In Every Way.

Ravishing Love Songs "I Want To Be Happy," "Tea for Two," "Where You Pretending?"

Navy Will Go Roller Skating at Great Lakes

BY THALIA ——.

The roller skating parties started last year at the Great Lakes Naval training station by Commandant and Mrs. Thomas T. Craven are to be resumed this year under the régime of the Cravens' successors, Commandant and Mrs. Walter S. Crosley.

The officers of the station and their wives are arranging a series of parties to take place in the armory for the benefit of the navy relief. The parties last year, instituted with the dual idea of reviving the wartime gayety and raising funds for the navy relief, were a great success and were attended by groups of Lake Foresters. Skates were provided at the door and the Great Lakes band provided music.

The navy relief, of which Mrs. Crosley is president, needs funds for urgent cases of distress in which enlisted men and their families are in need of financial aid. The other officers are Mrs. C. P. Kindleberger, first vice president; Mrs. D. W. Baggs, second vice president; Lieut. J. R. Higgins, U. S. N., secretary; and Robert P. Getty, treasurer. The relief committee includes Commander C. F. Ellis, chaplain corps, U. S. N.; Mrs. A. L. Nielson, Mrs. E. R. Henning, and Lieut. W. C. Gray, U. S. N.

Commander Joseph Baer, executive officer of the station, is in charge of the details of the program.

The schedule arranged includes skating parties on this Friday evening, and on the first, second, and fourth Saturday nights in March. A ladies' smoker with boxing bouts is planned for Saturday, March 22. The hours of the affairs are to be from 8 o'clock until 10:30.

The South Shore Country club has a new lounge for men, "where men can gather in strictly masculine comfort, in golfing or other informal dress, and lounge around while enjoying a good cigar or luncheon and the dinner and chatting with friends."

The old billiard room has been remodeled for this purpose, with one billiard table retained for those who like the game and the rest of the room filled with tables, leather chairs and davenports. There will be a la carte service for men to dine informally and quickly.

The Chicago Harvard men who were graduated in 1905 and who will celebrate their 25th reunion this June are to meet for luncheon and an afternoon of bridge and discussion of reunion plans on Friday afternoon at the University club before the annual Harvard dinner to take place at 7 o'clock, also at the University club. There are about a dozen Chicago men who will attend the luncheon and who plan to go to Cambridge for the alumni program of entertainment planned for the celebration. They include Edward Eagle Brown, Cecil Barnes, Theodore Sheldon, Neil C. Kraft, and Ray Daniels.

The last of the series of Indian programs is to take place next Wednesday afternoon at the Petit Gourmet. The subject is to be "Blanket Weavers of the Southwest" and Mrs. Thomas Wood Stevens is to be the speaker. She will be dressed in Navajo costume. Jan Read, a Pueblo Indian, will give songs and dances. Mrs. Frank D. Chase and Mrs. William O. Goodman are to pour at the tea following the talk.

The Hallett W. Thornes of Winnetka have arrived by plane at Nassau in the Bahamas, having flown from Miami, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr. of 2430 Lakeview avenue are recent Chicago arrivals at the New Colonial, as also are Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Gross.

The Volney Fosters, who have been passing the season in Florida, are in Nassau for a spell, and Joseph C. Belden Jr. has joined his parents. Gerald Cloakey of New York City gave a birthday party for Mrs. Cloakey and Mrs. Thomas R. Gowenlock of Chicago on Valentine night. There was a cake and assuming gifts.

Miss Emily Otis, daughter of the Joseph E. Otises, has gone east to visit Mrs. Albert Keep (Isabel Scott) at the Berkshire school at Sheffield, Mass.

Mrs. George A. Ranney of 1421 North State parkway and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Ranney, left yesterday for a week's holiday at Biloxi, Miss.

Mrs. Frank Barbour, who is at the Huntington hotel in Pasadena, Cal., for the winter, gave a Valentine dinner dance that was attended by several of her fellow Chicagoans. Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Eckhart, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hixon, the Frederick H. Bartletts, the Henry Faurots, Mrs. Darius Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Llewellyn were among the guests.

Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor at the Savoy-Plaza in New York, has gone to Southern Pines, N. C., for a brief sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. H. Vail will leave today to attend the air show in St. Louis, and later will go by plane to New Orleans for a fortnight's stay. On their return they will move into their new apartment at 73 East Elm street. Mrs. Vail was Miss Mabel Holland before her marriage in December.

Red Cross Declares It Has Cash Enough for Flood Sufferers

Word was received from the national headquarters of the American Red Cross in Washington yesterday advising the Chicago chapter not to accept more contributions for the flood relief of southern Illinois and Indiana, according to James B. Forgan, chairman. This is in accordance, he said, with the Red Cross policy of collecting only the amount of money needed to take care of disasters and then to close the fund.

The Red Cross will continue work in that area, however, until every family is helped, Mr. Forgan said. As fast as possible 900 families are being rehabilitated.

"The latest estimate of the damage," he said, "is that 300,000 acres in the southern part of Indiana and Illinois were inundated with frozen waters running from six inches to six feet deep. Two thousand families were affected. Never before has the organization rendered aid in a situation so complicated by the presence of ice and the necessity of feeding a large number of refugees by airplane for so many days."

SHAW COLLIDES WITH BRITISH CENSORSHIP IN FILM TO AID GIRLS

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

LONDON, Feb. 18.—George Bernard Shaw has revealed that the British film censor had refused to pass "The Night Patrol," a picture made by Miss Baxter, London charity worker, in an effort to show the dangers to English girls in the white slave traffic and to direct them to proper organizations for help.

The censor's refusal, Mr. Shaw declares in a protest to the London Times, was based on the ground that it is a rule of his department to allow no reference to the white slave or the drug traffic on the screen.

DOORMAN VIEWS THE CHICAGO DAYS OF FINE CARRIAGES

There was as much style in the days of carriages and fine pairs of horses as today, in the opinion of Charles Pritzlaff, 65 years old, of 4538 North Ashland avenue. Today he celebrates his fortieth anniversary as doorman at Marshall Field & Co. at the Washington street entrance near Wabash avenue.

"I was a coachman before I came here. That's one way I got my job—I was acquainted with people," explained the veteran doorman, known as Charlie by the store's oldest and wealthiest customers. "There was lots of dignity in those days."

"I opened the door for Prince Henry of Prussia," he said. "He was a little man, an ordinary looking man. Then there was the Spanish Infanta during the fair of 1893.

"I'll tell you who was a real nice man though. That's the late President McKinley. Mrs. McKinley had all her dresses made here for the inauguration. While she was up trying them on I'd talk with Mr. McKinley. I knew Theodore Roosevelt, too. He was here during the time he was President."

Flat Waistline Is Important to a Smart Figure

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

In the further interest of the new figure to fit the new type of frock that we have been discussing the last few mornings, a pretty smart little woman who is coining money in an institution devoted to the improvement of feminine face and outline puts her group through a preliminary posture training course. And she confidentially relates the psychological value this has on her clientele, with a comforting money reaction to the lady herself.

"You take most of these middle-agedy looking figures with their protruding abdomens and rolls on the back of their necks, or between shoulder blades, and their thickened diaphragms—take them and make them stand up right and you have them feeding right out of your hand.

"They think there is magic in the exercise they get. There is none. The magic lies entirely in their better standing posture. And in the better breathing apparatus created."

Now, you honestly don't need to pay out a large sum to discover that. All you need to do is to stand where you can get a good profile view of your figure. Go slump first; then straighten up. You don't even have to believe your eyes. Take a tape measure in your hand. Now slump and measure in inches. Then straighten up and measure again. If your tape measure does not show anywhere from an inch to two or three in refinement of measure, yours will be like no other tape measure on record.

Mine shows on the slump a full inch and a quarter more. Naturally enough, too, for when we straighten up we pull back the abdomen while we raise the chest, and between the pulling back and the stretching up there is lost a full round inch or two or three.

There is a difference between a protruding stomach and a fat stomach, though fat stomachs do protrude. But often stomachs would not be fat but for the faulty habit of not holding them back. So when in training for the smart 1930 figure you simply cannot get away with any more slumping. The eye is going to be focused full force on that waistline area to the relief of ankles for a while, any way.

HEALTH PROBLEM IS SOLVED FOR MANY

They Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Daily

Constipation is the most common menace to health today. It is extremely dangerous in itself and is the source of many other complicating ailments. There is no permanent relief in pills and drugs. Many of them are dangerous.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve and to prevent both temporary and recurring constipation. If it does not, money will be refunded.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. And roughage in food helps eliminate the possibility of constipation. Most modern foods do not contain roughage. Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily is the proper amount. In recurring cases, ALL-BRAN should be eaten with each meal. It is an essential in any reducing diet. In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains iron, the blood builder. It is the original ALL-BRAN, proved effective by millions and recommended by physicians.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has an appetizing flavor. Eat it with milk or cream, in cereals and fruit juices, in soups and in cooked foods. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"What is Girl's Greatest Beauty?"

Famous Screen Stars say "Lovely Skin"

"No girl is alluringly beautiful unless she has the very softest, smoothest skin," say 45 Hollywood directors—and the fascinating screen stars agree.

Moreover, Hollywood has found, no girl ever rises to stardom unless her skin shows flawless in a close-up.

These are the reasons why 9 out of 10 Hollywood stars care for their skin with Lux Toilet Soap. It keeps the skin so velvety-smooth!

ALICE DAY

Vivacious Alice Day, whose skin shows so lovely in the innumerable close-ups of the talkies, says: "I find that Lux Toilet Soap is wonderful for my skin—it keeps it so softly smooth."

MARCELINE DAY

And Marceline Day, her charming sister, says: "I'm frankin saying that this delicately fragrant white soap leaves my skin as satin-smooth as the finest French toilet soaps do!"

Sally Blane, too, delightful little Radio Pictures' player, says: "Beautiful smooth skin that isn't afraid of the camera's close-up is very important to a star, and Lux Toilet Soap is certainly a wonderful soap for the skin!"

SALLY BLANE

Are you using Lux Toilet Soap? Luxurious as fine French soaps at 50¢ and $1.00 the cake—yet only 10¢.

You'll know why millions prefer Kotex

once you've learned its lasting comfort

Kotex stays soft, stays comfortable, though worn for hours . . . one important reason for its amazing popularity

ONLY a remarkably comfortable pad could win and keep so many million users!

Most any pad is fairly comfortable when first adjusted. But how quickly mere surface softness packs into chafing hardness! How quickly ill-designed pads will lump and twist and bulge.

Kotex can't pack, because it's made of a remarkable absorbent that absorbs away from the surface . . . leaving the surface always soft and delicate.

Kotex can't chafe, because it's made of many tissue-thin layers that permit circulation of air.

Kotex can't bulge and twist, because it's scientifically designed. The width is right. The length is right. The corners are rounded and tapered so the pad won't slip out of place, or show awkward lines.

Preferred by hospitals

Most women consider they need no further proof of Kotex superiority than this:

The Kotex absorbent (Cellucotton absorbent wadding) is used by 85% of the best hospitals in America. Cellucotton is not cotton—but a cellulose product which performs the same sanitary function with 5 times the absorbency of the finest cotton.

Try Kotex—and you'll be satisfied with nothing else. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

SAFE . . . SEC...

2—Kotex is soft . . . not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
3—Disposable, instantly, completely.
4—In hospitals . . . Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

Karl Ouren Exhibits Stirring Paintings of Norwegian Scenery

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Karl Ouren has just opened a one man show of his recent paintings at the Palette and Chisel club. It is an exhilarating and invigorating exhibit. All is not lost in the game of painting yet, if there are men still who can do work like this!

The paintings are, many of them, the result of a trip to Norway and the sunshine and shadows, the deeply colored flowers, the white fields of snow and the snow mantled mountains, the blue water of the sea and the rush of the glinting waterfall are retold again and again with greater or less emphasis, in canvas after canvas. This is a saga of the Land of the Midnight Sun told in picturesque and intelligible language.

Karl Ouren is possessed of many manners. The differences in his painting are too pronounced to pass by the weaker definition of "mannerisms"; these are manners, methods of handling paint and brush for certain anticipated ends. He will paint an ice floe as smooth as cream and as soft as velvet; he will paint a raging sea with color thick on the canvas and a glorious rush of the knife that means power, violence and drama. Between these wide extremes he paints in a leisurely and delightful calm, the paint now lying smooth, now a bit raised, but all blending into the character of the scene before him.

A Russian not long ago gave us one view of the frozen north. Karl Ouren gives us a second. He, too, handles sunshine in a peculiarly brilliant way. Perhaps there is something inherent to north sunlight that forces its vivid glow upon the artistic consciousness and a painter cannot escape it, if he would. It is found upon the peaks, the snow fields and the sea in these paintings by Ouren.

Among the most powerful and most vivid of the pictures are "Fishing Boats Coming In," "Farm Houses in Norway," "Ureberget and Lofoten," "Sheltered Beauty," "A Mountain Scene in Norway," and "Stormy Sea." No titles were listed in a catalog or on the wall so the matter of hunting names was a difficulty. If you will turn the frames you will be in luck most of the time; yet a type written list would help.

The exhibit will continue to March 10.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Inexpensive Pork.

If one tries to understand all the cuts of pork without constant handling of them she may feel that her ideas on the subject are just a blooming, buzzing confusion. She will get more confused if she studies American cook books on pork cuts, also English and German.

It is easy enough to know the primary cuts like roasts and chops, but when we come to the secondary parts and the scrappy parts or trimmings, it requires a more expert knowledge. The packers put up pigs' feet, pigs' ears, pork pluck, pigs' tails, the head, tongue, lips, heart, and brain, and label them "fancy meats," and it is certainly astonishing how beautifully uniform they can appear and be fancy in that respect at least.

Of the inexpensive cuts or trimmings the neck bone, which has both fat and lean, is sometimes the least expensive of all, but it is never quite safe to say anything like this, knowing what has happened to the price of liver, but once one could buy a whole barrel of neck bones for a dollar.

The scrappy meat on the neck bone is perfectly good for chop suey or for pork cakes, or even for an elegant soufflé, and was formerly the housewives' requisite for sausage making.

Bits of lean pork from this inexpensive source, or partly fat and partly lean, may be chopped up in the same way that beef is to make Hamburg cakes. The pork may be seasoned in many different ways and made into little cakes which, with careful cooking, are a variety of sausage and so essentially a masculine favorite.

For one sort of cake, chop the pork, use with it a little chopped onion and a little green pepper chopped fine for each half pound of meat. Cook this like any meat cake and for the most spicy effect serve with it some fried parsley, which may be cooked in the fat in the pan in which the cakes were just finished. The parsley should be thoroughly dry, or the fat will spatter and no more fat is required than what will collect if we cant the pan.

With the fat just right the cooking can be done in the twinkling of an eye.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

When the air begins to lose its chill and the garden enthusiast feels he wants to start operations but scarcely dares to begin work in the soil, he might build a cold frame and thus be sure of a supply of early, hardy plants. Here's one way to do it, as described by the gardeners at the state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

Take a storm window off the house or get an old one, making a sloping frame for it. Pick a rich place in the garden, set the cold frame there, and bank manure around it.

Cold frames should be located where the sun can have a full sweep into them and should slope toward the south. It is the sun that furnishes the necessary heat for cold frames, in contrast to a hotbed where the main source of heat comes from the manure placed under it.

On cold, dark days and at night the glass should be covered with an old quilt or something similar. But be sure to uncover it to let in every possible hour of sunlight. The covering of the glass at night and the heat furnished by the warm manure will give the plants a good start. Plants can be grown in cold frames almost as early [and they will be hardier and considerably cheaper] as if grown in a hotbed.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

If you are anxious to look slender, you won't make any mistake in choosing this for one of your dresses. The surplice closing bodice ending at the left side waistline combines with the drapery of the skirt to detract from the width. The two piece skirt is attached to a hip yoke, while the drapery is stitched to the skirt along perforated lines down the left side. A shaw collar finishes the neck smartly and a vestee fills in becomingly. Any of the lovely crêpes will be suitable.

The pattern, 2876, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 40 inch material with ⅝ yard of 12 inch contrasting and 1½ yards of 3¾ inch wide lace.

Let Your Child Have His Way, in Reason, Whenever Possible

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday one suggestion for preventing or curing stubbornness was gone into rather fully—that of treating a child as an intelligent human being.

The other suggestion—that he be given his way ,whenever possible—needs even more explaining, especially for those who have not thought about children's needs. And for those who have thought about them but are still harboring the old hidebound ideas, the statement needs even more elucidating. Because if you hold the general belief that it spoils children to given them their way, if you believe in repression, in discipline for discipline's sake, in unquestioning obedience, in a home run chiefly for adults —then the suggestion about giving a child his way whenever possible must seem like rankest anarchy. But, when understood, instead of being anarchy it is really a recommendation to work with law—the laws of nature, of childhood.

To give a child his way doesn't mean indulging him in every caprice, to his own detriment and the discomfort of other people. It means letting him do everything he wants to do, letting him have everything he wants to have, within reason. And be sure that many things come within reason.

Say "yes" to him whenever possible, and "no" as seldom as you can.

Avoid "don't" in both words and action; instead divert the energy and substitute something to fill the need of the moment.

When once you get into the attitude of mind which impels you to accede rather than deny, to grant rather than prohibit—you've no idea how much easier and more interesting a child is to manage. To supply his own little bowl and biscuit dough to a tiny child, instead of saying "no" with a blanketing of activity when he wants to help you bake, to have pencils for him to use when he wants to take yours, to let him feel and examine objects about the house instead of calling him meddlesome, to even let him experiment once or twice with lapping his milk like kitty on the tubs in the kitchen instead of just scolding for bad manners—that is to allow every possible activity that is the outgrowth of a child's interest and constant need for expression is giving him his way—but it is a wholesome, natural way.

If he knows you are working with him, if he feels your sympathy with his interests—it doesn't make him feel that he is always butting his head against a stone wall and that in order to "be" somebody through "doing" he must hang on and hold out.

That is, if he is free and active and his needs understood he will not be what is called a stubborn child.

Loretta, Puzzled About Her Friend, Asks Doris Blake

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Trying to maintain a status of friendship when two people of opposite sex are seeing a great deal of each other and one, at least, is admittedly in love, is just one of those things that human beings do not seem equal to.

As per Loretta, who is deeply in love with a man. He has said he cares, too, but explained to the girl's temporary satisfaction the reason why he could not consider marriage at present. So they have gone about as excellent friends.

Being only excellent friends, when another girl loomed on the horizon Loretta had to maintain a friendly smile—and silence. When the man told Loretta about taking this girl out, the friendship status called for more stoicism. But with the heart of her consumed with longings and a steadily growing jealousy, Loretta, like any other human being, is finding it more than can be borne quietly.

She still sees the man frequently—but there is a change in his behavior, she thinks. Possibly due to her imagination, she suggests, which could quite possibly be true, too. And not so much to her imagination as to the new Loretta created out of heartburnings and jealousy—and the aforesaid "good sportsman" silence.

What, now, is Loretta's course? To step out of the picture gracefully while she may, or make it clear to the man that she does care terribly for him? At no time before was there a reason for her telling him so, although he must have known all along.

At this particular stage of the game neither course would seem the perfect one. But if it came to a showdown, it would be better to blurt out the truth for no other reason than to learn the truth. Stepping out of the picture right now would leave the road clear for the rival, and as has been said many times before, if what you want terribly is not worth fighting for it is not worth wanting.

But the question that arises out of Loretta's predicament is simply a revival of the old one about whether the beautiful platonic understandings ever get a lady anywhere—much!

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Unreasonable and Selfish.

"Dear Miss Blake: My friend insists I should give up my best girl friend for him. Should I? BUBBLES."

I think that for him to make such a request is both unreasonable and selfish.

Rather Temperamental.

"Dear Miss Blake: Is it right to go out with a fellow who talks to you one day and not the other?

"BLUE EYES."

I shouldn't go out with him unless he found it possible to be friendly at all times, Blue Eyes.

Zip Goes the Zipper! My Lady Is Sealed In

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—I can't think how we women got along in the dark ages before Hermes, or whoever it was, invented the zipper fastening, with our purses and our pockets at the mercy of the light fingered gentry. And the hours I've spent buttoning up sports gloves and gaiters form a rosary that evokes anything else but sentimental memories. But the progress has invaded the sartorial as well as other realms of modern life and, thanks to the little labor saving zipper, even the most sporting feminine finger tips and finger nails remain rosily intact.

Paris creators were quick to seize the possibilities of the zipper fastening. After using it on bags, pockets and children's leggings, they tried it on traveling bags, foot muffs and Pullman pillows, and they found it worked for snug chic everywhere. So nowadays, the smart French sportswoman is impermeably sealed into almost everything by a simple zip of the zipper. Two beats and one movement render possible the rapid life of a fireman, without his responsibilities.

Jane Regny makes novel use of the adaptable zipper in this double sports costume. The outside layer is a one piece frock all of gray tweed. A little turn down collar split into four parts finishes its round neck. Two buttoned pockets are placed on the blouse in front, just above the natural waistline. The comfortably circular skirt is pressed into two slightly flaring box plaits in front. A zipper fastening pulls its double yoke snug about the hips. Zipper fastenings running down the back of both sleeves, from shoulder to wrist, allow you to peel off this outer dress and there you are, all ready for tennis in an inner dress of white wash silk!

This two in one costume is a boon to the tennis enthusiast, who has a reputation for smartness to maintain. In the country it saves her the bother of going home to change after the game. She just zips the zipper, puts on her hat and she is quite properly dressed for tea. And if she keeps fit during the Paris season by playing on one of the covered courts in town, she is grateful to be able to drive there, clad, apparently, in the demurest of gray tailored frocks.

Student Rewarded for His Boy Scout Work; College Career Aided

Gordon Thompson, 20 years old, of 736 North Menard avenue, an Eagle Scout, was awarded the first Harmon Foundation scholarship to be given to a Chicago boy yesterday. The presentation was made by Samuel E. Gorsline, scout commissioner of Chicago, at a meeting of the executive board of the Chicago council of Boy Scouts in the Palmer house.

Scout Thompson is assistant scoutmaster of troop No. 342 and a junior at Northwestern university. He is one of fifty-two scouts in the United States to receive the award which carried with it a cash gift of $100 and the privilege of loans for college study. These awards were founded three years ago by the late William E. Harmon.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Jimmy, 5, was afraid to pass the dog which was near the steps of our apartment, but he was more afraid of confessing his fear. He made several false starts, then finally thought of a way out.

His would-be careless tone floated back to us as he addressed the dog. "I don't look like it, but I'm a bad, bad man when anybody makes me mad."

Feeling that this had had its effect, he walked warily past the inoffensive dog.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Offers Pastime for Child.

"I have about 200 picture cards ready to be colored with paints or crayons. Do you know of some little shut in who would like to have them? I will send the paints with them.

"MRS. H. C."

This is such an interesting and quaint collection of pictures—each one different—that they are sure to delight and provide many pleasant hours for any child whether or not he's a shut in. Write me if you'd like some of these cards and the paints for them; please do not telephone.

Costume for Minstrel Show.

"In a minstrel show we are to present for the plant where I am working I need a Prince Albert coat and a discarded plug hat, such as an old time darky parson might wear. I shall need the coat in size 44 and the hat 7¼. Do you think you can get them for me? I couldn't afford to buy them. A. S."

Can you provide the costume which will help make this performance a successful one?

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

EXCERPTS from EXPERTS
"'Dear Old England,' second real twelvestrike of Dramatic League of Chicago . . . It is as delightful as 'The First Mrs. Fraser' . . . I'd walk eleven miles to see it."
—Ashton Stevens, Herald-Examiner.
"Charming, incomparably charming—humor is subtle enough to please discriminating, yet obvious enough to oblige the less critical."
—Margaret Mann Crolius, Daily News.
"'Dear Old England' unleashes laughter as newest of Dramatic League's unusual offerings."
—Frederick W. McQuigg, American.

A SPECIALTY

We have a DOLLAR DOWN sales setup on a popular priced household necessity that means sales; being a seasonal item YOU are naturally looking for something of MERIT that will SELL.

Answer this question to yourself. If you had two articles that ARE IN GREAT DEMAND and were in a position to SELL THEM for HALF of what any other merchant would care to offer them, how many ORDERS a week do you feel YOU could write at a DOLLAR DOWN and a dollar per week.

JUST ONE MEASLY ORDER A DAY WITH A DOLLAR DEPOSIT PAYS YOU $50 A WEEK — NOTHING DEFERRED, and WE GET YOU THE TRADE HOME at our own expense and pay you on all other purchases that your customer makes.

IF YOU ARE SEEKING A GOOD LEGITIMATE STEADY INCOME AND WANT SOMETHING THAT SELLS—WE HAVE IT! 223 W. JACKSON-BLVD., 11TH FLOOR.

MAN WITH CAR.

With specialty exper., to assist sales mgr. in Chicago and state. Oppor. to become dist. mgr. Call in week 10 to 1 Wednesday, Room 533, 11 S. La Salle-st.

MEN—FOUR PRESENTATIONS PER DAY of the patented specialty we are selling will make you a minimum of $200 per week; $10,000 per year in earnings.

There are twelve basic patents on this specialty. This will show you that the article is revolutionary. Three to four sales per day on which one basic patent can be secured. One patented feature alone has one of the strongest sales appeals that is actually ever sold. A man who will learn the demonstration covering each of the twelve patents can sell this article almost anywhere. Four demonstrations a day with a reasonably good day's work will make $10,000 per year for the salesman.

No investment is required in this business for samples or merchandise of any kind. We give competent men exclusive territories. Our sales are made direct to the consumer, the field where the big money in selling is made today. This is a permanent growing business. We have the highest rating obtainable and will rapidly expand into the coast to coast business offering good men an unlimited opportunity for advancement and big earnings up to $25,000 per year or more. If you want to sell an article of wonderful merit, if you are willing to learn the demonstration of twelve patents, if you are ready to make $10,000 per year, do not fail to call. This is real. 1250 Fullerton, 1st flr. Near Elevated station.

Men Who Will Work and Who Want to Make Money.

We manufacture and sell our own products. We do not care whether you have sold or not. Our business and selling can be mastered by the average man.

YOU MEN WHO WANT MONEY!

You who have been clamoring that "times are tough" and "it's darn hard these days to find something that pays"—those of you who have been asking for PROSPERITY—Well—

HERE IT IS!

When prominent newspapers display on their front pages—

YOUNGSTOWN SHEET AND TUBE IN $900,000,000 COMBINE

Bethlehem to Invade Calumet District—

You're getting something hot off the press that means

MONEY TO SMART, ALERT PEOPLE and when another newspaper starts up and proclaims in big black type

Jones-Laughlin SITE RUSHED

a $75,000,000 steel plant rushed—Which will employ about 25,000 people—and when you KNOW that there are already 417 of the largest factories in the world located in the immediate vicinity of YOUR proposition, with a weekly pay roll of 6¼ MILLION DOLLAR

That MEANS MORE MONEY

CADILLAC

Perfection of Craftmanship in Reconditioned Models

One reason why business men buy our reconditioned cars is because they secure Cadillac craftsmanship at a substantial reduction. The original owner has already assumed the first and largest depreciation.

Their selection is strengthened by the knowledge that skilled Cadillac workmen have so reconditioned the car that its compelling appearance rivals the newer car, and its condition assures many thousands of miles of satisfactory service.

The prices are unusually attractive and you may buy from income—the economical G. M. A. C. plan. Your car in trade.

The following all carry our warranty.

LA SALLE

Used Car Clearance Sale.

Every one in Chicago and vicinity who intends to buy a good used car

OWES IT TO HIMSELF TO INVESTIGATE

STUDEBAKER'S PRE-SPRING CLEARANCE

ELCAR 8 SEDAN. For distinguished appearance and good mechanical condition this car is hard to beat. Has very low mileage and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, shutter front, shock absorbers, driving light, spare tire, bumpers, etc. Reduced from $800 to $485.

ERSKINE SEDAN. 1929 with new tires, 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, and other extras. This Erskine never left the Chicago limits, and an inspection and demonstration will convince you it's in the original new condition. Reduced from $625 to $585.

ESSEX COACH. If you are figuring on paying about $500 for a used car you cannot beat this exceptional value. The motor is fine and the car is exceptionally clean throughout. Has seat covers, shutter front, snubbers, 5 good tires, etc. Reduced from $495 to $295.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. Late model 4 pass. Victoria that looks as though it were direct from the factory. The tires have little mileage, motor has been carefully checked over and adjusted wherever necessary. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $550.

DE SOTO COUPE. 1929. Finished a beautiful navy blue. This car was actually driven only a very short time, so it's in wonderful all around condition today. The upholstery appears brand new, the tires are in new condition, and the motor runs smoothly and quietly. Equipped with many valuable extras. Reduced from $795 to $550.

PONTIAC COACH. 1929 that was taken in on consignment. The owner is going to take out a new Studebaker President in spring and he told us to sell this car at a reasonable figure and apply the sales price on the new Studebaker purchase. For immediate sale we have marked this Pontiac at a very low figure therefore. You'll find the upholstery, finish, tires, and motor are in marvelous shape. Many valuable extras. Special for $650.

CHANDLER VICTORIA. The very latest model that was issued.
